New York Holsteins take champion banners

Sale brings record-high $348,900

HARRISBURG — Bidding was fast and furious at Thursday night's record-breaking All-American Holstein sale, which grossed $348,900 in front of an estimated 700 bidders, buyers and spectators.

The following morning, Holstein breeders watched as Shadow Cliff R A Gina was tagged grand champion of the All-American Holstein show by Judge Bertram Stewart of Ontario, Canada. See story page A21.

The exciting atmosphere for the climaxing Holstein show was created Thursday with the showing of junior cattle and bulls, starting early in the morning and wrapping up by about 2 p.m.

The sale crowd began trickling into the Farm Show complex by late afternoon. Shortly before sale time, it was standing room only as catalog-toters lined shoulder to shoulder in front of the 47 consignments which represented many of the top Holstein farms in the East.

Co-managed by R. Austin Backus, Inc. and the PA. Holstein Association, the highest All-American sale to date averaged $7,423 per head. Prices ranged from $1700 to the sale topper, $65,000.

Just moments after Elksen Glendell Pioneer, the top-seller, stepped into the sale ring, the gavel sounded for the last time and D.W. Spoonaugle, Lancaster bought the 6-year-old for $65,000.

In fact, Spoonaugle's bid included the Excellent Holstein's 2-week-old heifer, sired by Tamlane Rockman Senator.

Consigned by Cochranon (Turn to Page A21)

D.W. Spoonaugle, Lancaster, center with child, purchased the top-selling Holstein, Elksen Glendell Pioneer, for $65,000 at the PA All-American Holstein sale, Thursday. The Glendell daughter also sold with her two-week-old heifer, a C Tamlane Rockman Senator daughter.

Ephrata livestock shows feature

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

EPHRATA — It was a trio of nights at the Ephrata Fair that three young Lancaster County agriculturists will never forget.

Tuesday night was Strauss night. Steve, R1, Ephrata, swept the market hog show.

Wednesday night was Witmer night. Carolyn, R2, East Earl, just about swept the lamb show.

Thursday night was Herr night. Barb, R1, Narvon, took the baby beef grand championship and she wasn't even there. Older brother, Chris, showed the "partnership" Angus; while Barb was stuck by the telephone at Penn State after sweating out a biology final earlier in the day.

And here's a little bit more about each of the nights.

Strauss, the last of three brothers who have maintained an Ephrata hog dynasty since the mid-70's, was a shoo-in for the grand championship after sweeping the three weight champions.

It was his last year of showing and he went out in style with the grand, reserve and three weight champions.

The four-way mostly black crosses glistened to perfection in the setting sun as judge Gene Sweigard, of Halifax, kept coming back to them.

"I took them off the self-feeders

The Bottom Line

As everybody knows the bottom line represents your profit or loss, and at WALTER M. DUNLAP AND SONS we do all we can to enhance your profit or minimize your loss.

How do we do it?

The answer is in the way all livestock consignments are expertly sorted and handled whether those consignments are fat cattle, veal calves, feeder pigs or fat hogs.

The result is LESS SHRINK.

First of all, every consignment of feeder pigs, veal calves and fat hogs is weighed upon arrival. So, with LESS SHRINK, and at present prices, this means MORE DOLLARS for you the con-signor.

Secondly, all fat cattle are assigned large pens and each consignment is kept separate. With large airy pens and water available the result is LESS SHRINK.

And just one more matter of importance. — There is no waiting at the docks to unload.

What does all this add up to?

The bottom line is LESS SHRINK and more dollars to you the consignor.

What Time Is It?

If you were planning to house your next pullets "sometime after Christmas," now's the time to firm up that order. Chicks hatching 3 weeks from now will be 28 week old layers by Eastertime. Even if time slipped by faster than you noticed and your preferred hatch date is already passed, give us a call. It's quite possible we can match you up with some pullets already started.

Anyway, isn't it time we heard from you?

"I've more than doubled my hog production with the help of Pennfield."

Dave Landis Lititz

"Pennfield's new feeding programs and high energy feeds are proving themselves and I like the uniformity of the pellets that I'm using. But my number one reason for choosing Pennfield as a feed company was the field service they've given me. I found the salesman to be more than capable.

A farmer sees his hogs everyday, and he isn't likely to pick up on something as readily as a salesman will. I like when a salesman calls on me once a week, and can point out something I've overlooked. I'm no different than anyone else. I have problems now and then. When I run into a problem, and I call Pennfield, I always get a response within 24 hours."

Livestock market and auction news

SEPT. 28-OCT. 4, 1981
Halcyon days, autumnal haze.

Hunting season many places now so be careful in woods... Berlin airlift ended Sept. 30, 1949, after 277,264 flights... Average length of days for the week, 11 hours, 39 minutes... Rosh Hashanna Sept. 29 (Jewish New Year 5742)... Scallops are in season now... Derby hats introduced Oct. 2, 1840... Affections of knowledge are more odious than the lack can be.

Ask the Old Farmer: What was or is the outfit called "The Royal Canadian Dragoons"? I have a brass helmet with this insignia on the front of it, which has been in the family for years. L.K., Chicago.

The territorial police force of Canada was organized in 1873, but it was not known as the Royal Northwest Mounted Police until it was reorganized in 1920.

Home Hints: A good way to remove rust from outside metal fixtures is with steel wool dipped in kerosene. Follow by polishing with liquid wax.

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECASTS

New England: Partly sunny and warm with few showers from midweek on.

Greater New York-New Jersey: Week is clear and pleasant; showers near end.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Clear and warm throughout; weekend is wet, turning cold.

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Sunny and pleasant; possible tropical storm at midweek with rain through weekend.

This pig reached 221 lbs. in just 150 days on the Agway swine feeding program. And that's not unusual.

It's no secret that feed is the single biggest cost in producing pork. That's why it pays to make sure your feeding program gets your pigs to market weight in the shortest possible time.

From Agway Squealer Pellets to Agway Pork Finisher, there's a farm-tested Agway feed nutritionally formulated for each stage of a pig's growth. Agway complete swine feeds provide all known nutritional needs, including energy, protein (amino acids), minerals and vitamins.

COMPLETE AGWAY SWINE FEEDS
	lb	Protein	Energy
Squealer Pellets (MX)	18	4.0	3.0
Pig Starter Pellets (PT-MX)	18	3.5	4.5
Hog Feed (T-20)	14	3.5	5.0
Pork Finisher (T-20) 4	12	3.5	5.0

4 of 8 Agway swine feeds available. The farm-tested Agway swine feed program can help make each of your pigs an "ideal pig."

And Agway also supplies a complete line of medicated feeds and supplements.

BACKED BY FEED TRIALS ON 1800 PIGS ANNUALLY.

Agway, in conjunction with other cooperatives, runs feed trials on 1800 pigs annually at the Agway Swine Research Farm in Lexington, Ill.

New feed ideas are constantly tested and proven, and the results incorporated into the Agway swine feeding program.

In the past, Agway Squealer Pellets and Agway Starter Pellets were developed as the direct result of this program.

YOUR AGWAY SWINE EXPERT CAN TELL YOU MORE.

The latest research results and the details on the Agway swine feed program are available from your Agway-Enterprise Serviceperson. Contact him through your local Agway.

The ideal hog, as defined by the American Pork Congress, attains a weight of 220 lbs. in 150 to 165 days. It requires no more than 3 lbs. of feed per each pound of gain, and delivers a loin 30 inches long with a loin eye of 5 square inches.

All that glitters isn't gold

What are the chances of flipping a coin and having it come up heads, tails, and land on its edge all at once? Pretty slim, you say?

Well, believe it or not, that's what happened on Tuesday during the Agri-Business Outlook Conference held at Cockeysville, Md. No matter what you came into the conference hoping to hear — whether it was an optimistic forecast, a pessimistic one, or one that was a happy medium — you left the conference satisfied that at least someone agreed with your thinking about agriculture's future.

For the pessimist, there was Sheldon Stahl, president of Economic Consulting Service, Kansas City, Mo. He painted a picture that showed our national economy in very poor light. "Anyway the federal reserve turns, it will be the wrong way," he said, decisively.

The slightest encouragement he allowed himself to reveal he quickly squelched. Although he predicted a modest decline in interest rates, he emphasized that he saw this decline to be short-lived and that by the year's end interest rates will be on the rise again.

Just to make his point unquestionably clear, this economics forecaster noted that "if the economy does manage to lurch on, the slightest pressure could cause it to fall over the edge into a recession."

Stahl was slightly more hopeful about agriculture's future, seeing it as a more stable field, less inflationary. He stated the demands are there for agricultural products if people can afford to buy the "fruits of ag labor."

He even added foreign countries should be given or lent the money so they have funds to buy food, and pointed out "a hungry world is one of conflict."

Agriculture is less inflationary? Keep food cheap so peace can be maintained in foreign nations? Unfortunately for farmers, when this economist looks at agriculture's future, he doesn't seem to be watching out for the well-being of the people who do all the work.

Donald Bowman, president of Bowman Financial Management Company, Baltimore, Md. presented a more optimistic outlook for agribusiness.

He expressed his belief that the next 25 years will be "golden for farms" with trade expanding into the Orient and Far East.

"We've passed the major turning point. If we can get through the next few years, our future looks bright."

Bowman predicted that until the end of December of this year, prime interest rates would drop from their current 19½ percent to about 14-17 percent, and by the end of next year he said interest rates would drop to the 10-14 percent level.

Great news for everyone, but especially to farmers who have to fight the inflationary trends in the machinery and supply markets.

Bowman signed off by saying 1984-86 would be a period of prosperity for American agriculture, and that he's moderately optimistic on the short term and very optimistic on the long term.

And then there was Bruce Gardner, a professor of Ag Economics at the University of Maryland, who offered a little optimism and pessimism to keep everybody happy.

He stated the rising trend of commodity prices is true, however in the past there was a lowering trend. He noted the "scarcity scenario is not as likely as other experts predict" and that he doesn't expect commodity price rise as a long term trend, at least not at a rapid rate of increase or decrease.

Gardner encouraged agribusiness people to look past the "valleys and hills" and year to year swings of the ag economy in order to get a truer picture of conditions.

The question is: "How many farms can survive those trips up the hills and down into the valleys?" With the dairy price support being nipped and tucked to fit into the Reagan Administration's regime and with other ag legislation aimed at what seems to be knocking out the decreasing number of farmers in 1981, those golden years may be a dream for many.

Listening to economists say a $60-70 billion tax cut will add to the federal deficit and that the U.S. can't afford it, and President Reagan's pleas to the nation to support his tax cut package and take up the volunteer attitudes of our forefathers, leaves us straddling the fence with both sides pulling.

If agriculture can flounder through the next several lean years, and if politicians and economists learn the value of food and don't cripple farmers with price ceiling and quotas, things could look golden. But, all that glitters isn't gold, so promises of across the board sacrifices will have to be seen to be believed.

GETTING YOUR WINGS

September 27, 1981

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 40.

Devotional Reading:
Psalm 89:11-18.

Scientific studies in recent years have indicated that certain experiences are more likely than others to push us beyond our stress limits. Dr. Thomas Holmes of the University of Washington Medical School, conducted a study of the most stressful experiences and found that the top of the list is the death of a spouse. Divorce is second, marital separation third, imprisonment fourth and death of a close family member fifth.

Interestingly enough, Dr. Holmes found that an experience doesn't have to be unpleasant in order to be stressful. For example, marriage was number seven on his stress scale, retirement was tenth and marital reconciliation number nine. This means that pleasant experiences can also trigger stress. Another physician, Dr. Gary Vicker of St. Louis, has found that "Executive stress is often not triggered by failure, but by the pressures of success."

Even Youths Become Weary

One of the important conclusions that Dr. Holmes and others have drawn from their study of stress is that stress—destructive stress, that is—is not caused by any of these factors. There is nothing that says that the death of a spouse has to destroy our vitality. What causes destructive stress is the way you and I feel about the experience. The destructive power of the experience is not inherent in it, but in the way that you and I react to it.

Furthermore, this means that we can control the destructiveness of stressful experiences because we can choose how we will react to them. That means we can go to pieces if we are fired from our job and regard it as an insurmountable tragedy and injustice. Or, we can decide to learn from our experience, to pick ourselves up and go on from there. In choosing our response, we will be managing our stress as well.

Other experts in stress management tell us the reason we become exhausted emotionally and physically at work is not so much a factor of the work itself, but of the way we look at it. Thus, "Even youths shall faint and be weary, and young men shall fall exhausted" (40:30). By the same token, an old man may continue in relative vitality if his outlook is right.

Wait for The Lord

And what is the "right outlook"? The prophet Isaiah points us in the right direction when he says, "they who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings like eagles (40:31). If we think that we alone face the challenges and disappointments of daily life, we will be exhausted. But if we wait patiently for God to work his plan and purpose, we will find renewal in the midst of life, the power to go on. Then it will be possible to "run and not be weary", to "walk and not faint." When we draw from his strength to live our daily lives, we will learn the patience to allow God to be God. It is then that we will receive our eagle's wings.

To Check Water Supplies

Good quality drinking water is a real asset on the farm. Some farmers may be having trouble with a high bacteria count or high nitrates in their water supplies. These are hard problems to correct. However, in many cases the trouble comes from surface water getting into the well.

We urge all rural residents to check their wells and be sure that surface water is diverted around the well area. This is especially true if the well is located down grade from farm buildings or from where livestock wastes have been scattered.

Commercial laboratories are available to test the water; however, it is very difficult to correct these problems once they are identified. Keep surface water away from the well area at all times.

To Use Good Livestock Equipment

The moving and handling of livestock is a very important practice in this part of the state. We have thousands of livestock farms and there is a lot of traffic between farms and other public places. Producers who have the proper equipment to handle their livestock with minimum stress, will do better in the market place with less losses. I'm referring to loading ramps, cutting gates, and head gates. All of these can be made on the farm or purchased from commercial businesses.

To handle and treat livestock without this equipment usually means more excitement, bruises, and loss of weight. Become equipped to do the job properly.

To Check Fan Louvers

Fan louvers on poultry and swine operations should shut tightly when a fan is not operating. If they don't, air will enter through the open louver and be discharged by the nearest running fan, giving you no ventilation value.

When the fan is on, louvers must be fully open; otherwise they will restrict the flow of air from the building. Tests have shown that a little dust on fan louvers can restrict air flow by more than 1,000 c.f.m. per fan. A restricted fan operates longer and bears a heavier load using more electricity, which costs money.

In many cases, you can repair louvers that are sticking open or shut just by cleaning them and applying oil or a rust solvent to the hinges.

PROVEN UNLOADING- DRIVE LINKAGE

Smooth-running roller-chain and belt-drive combination provides 6 conveyor speeds plus individual on-and-off control of upper and lower sets of augers.

CONTROLLED UNLOADING

Apron conveyor and two pairs of augers can be controlled individually. Upper augers prevent bridging. Lower augers and conveyor control discharge flow.

CONVENIENT POWER PACK

Weaverline 4-unit battery pack provides plenty of transport and unloading power. Batteries roll out either side of quick servicing. To charge, just plug into charging receptacle from any 115 volt AC power source.

FOR MECHANIZED DAIRY FEEDING!

Cut your labor costs with this modern Weaverline material-handling system. Built to stand up to years of heavy loads, Weaverline Series 300 feed-transport carts are designed with larger discharge augers, more auger clearance, extra-heavy steel bottoms, stronger conveyor shafts and heavy-duty bumper guard shields. For a dairy feeding system that demands minimum maintenance and service, specify Weaverline. See these new Series 300 transport carts at your dealer. Or write Weaverline Corporation, Churchtown, Pennsylvania 17510. Telephone (215) 445-6724.

TWO MODELS

For maximum capacity, the larger Model 330 measures 81 inches long, 33 inches wide and holds 30 bushels. For tight corners, the compact Model 323 69 inches long and 33 inches wide. Holds 24 bushels. Tricycle running gear makes both units easy to turn—easy to guide.

To Reduce Egg Breakage

Many egg producers are not aware of their breakage losses. You could be very surprised how much. Some poultrymen do not realize how many eggs they are losing because they do not keep track of them. In studies where this has been checked carefully, we find the percentage of eggs broken ranging from 2% to 5% up to 20%.

With a flock of 30,000 layers averaging 70% production a loss of 4% is 84,000 eggs or 7,000 dozen a year. This loss comes to $3,500 when eggs sell for 50 cents per dozen.

Check nests or cages for needed repair. Often we find eggs broken right in the cages. Check the egg trays. If they are bent, they can break many eggs. Many times plastic bumpers placed on the egg tray will reduce breakage. Careful handling will reduce breakage if eggs are gathered by hand.

Take time to check these factors and others to reduce breakage. It very well could be the difference between profit and loss.

Broken hand can't keep Crawford Dairy Princess from All-American

BY SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG — It was a busy week for Cinda Oakes, a pretty eighteen-year-old from Cochranon in Crawford County. She not only had animals to show at the Junior Dairy Show and the Eastern National Holstein Show, but she also had to look her loveliest to participate in the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess contest. And through all her activities she was nursing a broken finger which required a cast up to her forearm.

But neither the hectic pace nor the handicap kept her from thoroughly enjoying each activity. And the only evidence that there has been a strain was that she was found napping on a bale of straw in the middle of the day.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Oakes, Cinda showed her junior calf to the Junior Championship on Monday, something which made her "pretty happy." The calf, Vel-rus Marvex Penstate Maria, had done well in earlier shows.

Cinda said the only difficulty in showing with a cast is trying to smooth the topline with the affected arm. She also had to turn over the washing chores to someone else when her cast began to get soggy.

But while she was showing on Monday, she also had her mind on her interview with the Dairy Princess contest judges. She had been given the last slot of the day to allow her to show her animals. She had made arrangements for someone else to show Maria in the championship class but at the last minute changed her mind and showed her herself. Now she says she's glad she took the time to do it so she could savor the moment.

As soon as her part in the show was over, she rushed to the Penn Harris Motor Inn, had ten minutes to change and become more princess-like and go into the interview. She recalls, "I worried more about showing than the contest. I was just myself. I saw no reason to be anything other than natural."

Tuesday was a more relaxed day for her at the contest, when she gave her presentation to the judges. She called the contest "fun," saying she enjoyed being with the other contestants.

A 1981 graduate of Cochranon High School, Cinda has been in 4-H for nine years, and says, "I love 4-H. It helps you relate to people and gives you a lot of self-confidence, even if you don't win. You can see what you've accomplished. I've stood at the other end of the line."

"I'm grateful to 4-H because I've seen myself progress. I would suggest it to anybody, even to city kids. It helped keep our interest in the farm and added a little special fun. It lets you show off what you're proud of."

It was 4-H that got her into showing, and Cinda says, "I love showing. I wouldn't miss it for anything. I've got one more year and if I have a job next summer I may just take off so I can show." Cinda is going to Southeastern Academy in Florida for six weeks this Winter to train for a travel career.

Her real plan after a few years away from home is to return home and farm. Right now she works on the farm with her parents and younger brother Ernie Ray, 9, who is following in his sister's footsteps with his 4-H animals. An older sister, Beth, lives away from home. The Oakes family farms about 450 acres of land and milks about 76 registered and grade Holsteins.

The Oakes children got their first calf and began in 4-H when their father drove bus for a friend who gave the girls one calf. This caused a problem and soon another calf appeared so they each had one.

The family likes to show, and Cinda says, "It's a good promotion for the dairy industry."

Her father states, "It's good publicity for the herd and you get to meet and see a lot of people." He added that they have really appreciated their children's 4-H work because it provides an outside activity which is an extension of what they're doing at home on the farm.

"You look at what is winning and try to breed to achieve that. You learn a lot if you observe." She chooses bulls for the animals she owns, but selects on the basis of what is best for the individual cows.

Taking time off from school to attend cow shows was never a problem for Cinda over the years because her country school was very understanding. She added, "Some girls couldn't understand how I could like showing, but they enjoy my coming home and telling my experiences."

An integral part of the farm, Cinda says she enjoys milking but is basically an "all-around person." She keeps the herd records and remarked that she'd have to get home and get caught up. The herd average is 17,000 pounds of milk and over 625 pounds of butterfat.

Her finger was broken when a heifer bolted and the halter strap wrapped around her ring finger, causing the break.

The Oakes family was able to attend the All-American show this week as a family because of the good help of Ernest's sister and a neighbor who did the milking chores for the week.

In preparing their cattle for shows, Cinda says they bring the show animals in from pasture at the end of June and break them to lead. "You have to start working ahead, and then it's easier." She usually helps with the clipping, but her cast prevented her from doing as much as she often does.

She said they get into a routine by showing at the community fair and the county fair. When showing, they add beet pulp to their normal ration of grain, hay and water.

This year Cinda said she intended to show her 4-H animals at the championship show. But as she was driving the animals there late at night, she got two flat tires. Because of the lateness, and after a second tire was brought, she returned home and did not show. At the 4-H district show she and her brother showed six animals and five were eligible to go to the Junior Dairy Show. They had three firsts as well as junior champion.

When promoting milk as a Dairy Princess, Cinda says she has "no real set thing." I like to use my skit on younger children. I dress up like a cow and talk about milk." She says she'd like to talk to a lot of school children during her reign. "They are the ones who need to be worked on. They are our future."

Cinda said she had a feeling she might do well with her animals this year. "They looked good to me and they were the quality I like to have.

It turned out to be a pretty good year even with all the accidents. I wasn't sure at the beginning."

For Cinda, the showing season has brought a lot of hard work, but the thrill of success. She comments, "It took me nine years to do this."

Gardening by mail

LANCASTER — Have you ever spent wasteful hours and gallons of gasoline visiting local garden centers and chain stores looking for that "very special plant," only to discover you were unable to find out who sold it? Have you ever searched through mail order catalogs only to find that you didn't have the right catalog for the plant you were seeking? Did you learn, perhaps too late, that a gardening friend knew exactly which mail order catalog sold the perennial, fruit tree, ground cover or shrub that you wanted? If so, there's an answer for you: a new book titled "Gardening by Mail - Where to Buy It."

Published by the Mailorder Association of Nurserymen, this new concept in gardening aids contains 2200 different references to plants and gardening items available from MAN's 59 member firms. For the first time ever, mailorder sources of over 300 alphabetically listed plants, seeds and accessories are at your fingertips in an easy to follow format. Whether you are searching for a lily, beauty bush, linden seed, orchid, phlox, nectarine, gooseberry, hickory, old garden rose or other plant, the name and address of the mailorder nursery where it can be obtained is now as easy to find as A, B, C.

To obtain your copy of "Gardening by Mail - Where to Buy It", send a business size envelope that is self addressed and stamped with two 18 cent stamps to Mailorder Association of Nurserymen, Dept. MA, 210 Cartwright Blvd., Massapequa Park, NY, 11762.

Sauder looks at farming's future marketing

BY SHEILA MILLER

LANCASTER — Bears and bulls would seem like a highly unusual combination in a farmer's market, but Lancaster County's David K. Sauder spends most of his days watching the agricultural commodities for just these two items.

What Sauder is studying, however, is not the four-legged versions of bears and bulls, but what these two terms mean on the commodity market. A bearish market is one that is falling off and a bullish market is one that is gaining in strength and might indicate a wise investment.

A native of Landisville, Sauder, 32, is a registered commodities advisor and is president of a brokerage operation known as Trade Tech Management, Inc. This company has been in operation for slightly over a year and serves clients on the East Coast from as far away as Florida, Georgia, and Ohio.

David describes his work as a commodity broker as being "somewhat like a weatherman". In his business, David says, physics even comes to play — as Newton's Law states, for every action there is a reaction.

Keeping an eye on the daily action on the trading floors of Chicago and the market reactions to business requires a constant vigil on David's part, along with the help of several employees who chart the probability and statistics of the market place. Computer print outs and detailed graphs help the local broker measure what to expect from the deals taking place on the floor of the Chicago Board of Trade.

Inside David's office, the telephone is ringing as farmers and investors check in to get recommendations on whether the bearish market means they should sell, or whether the bullish market indicates additional investment on commodities like cattle, hogs, corn, wheat, or coffee is wise. Several computer terminals with their television-like screens, show the trends on several markets all at once. So, at a punch of a button and without getting out of his chair, David can keep a trained eye on the Mercantile, Board of Trade, New York markets, plus get all the up-to-date USDA market news.

Knowing and understanding the commodity markets and how to use the Futures as a tool took David years of work and study. What led David into the field was out."

"Studying it, I realized farming's weakest link is marketing. So I decided I'd better understand that first."

After graduating from Lancaster Mennonite High School in 1967, Sauder studied business management through correspondence courses at LaSalle University and Penn State. For six years, he was employed by Hornblower and Weeks, a Lancaster brokerage firm (now Shearson Loeb Rhoades, Inc.).

The Agway Daily Nutrient Intake (DNI) feeding program gives your birds the nutrients they need for maximum production at the lowest possible cost. The simple and efficient DNI system prevents overfeeding of expensive protein while meeting your hens' daily requirements for amino acids and other nutrients.

MAINTAINS A CONSTANT NUTRIENT LEVEL AS DAILY INTAKE CHANGES.

The idea behind the DNI program is simple: as feed intake varies, change feeds to avoid paying for more nutrition than your birds require.

Suppose, for example, your flock is eating 100 grams of feed per bird daily (22 lbs./100 birds). Under the DNI program, your feed would be

Agway High Layer 1000.

During cold weather, when the birds moved up to 110 grams of feed daily, you'd switch to High Layer 1100+ to maintain daily nutrient intake at the required level. Paying for more protein than necessary can significantly affect the profitability of your business.

By monitoring your flock's intake, you'll know when to change feeds (such as Agway High Layer 900 when birds are eating just 90 grams of feed/day, or High Layer 1100+ when birds are consuming 110 grams of feed/day).

Even though your birds' feed intake varies seasonally, on the Agway DNI program nutrient intake remains constant provided you change feeds based on intake.

YOUR AGWAY POULTRY SPECIALIST CAN HELP SET UP A DNI PROGRAM FOR YOUR OPERATION.

Agway Poultry Enterprise specialists are available to help you set up a DNI program for your operation. You'll find that DNI is simple. All you do is watch your birds' feed intake and adjust feeds accordingly.

So contact your local Agway today for more details on the DNI program — the system that makes sure your birds get the nutrients they need . . . without wasting dollars.

2-Year-old tops Nat'l Guernsey Show

HARRISBURG — Guernsey judge Richard Keene, Gilbertsville, N.Y., claimed he was "extremely impressed with the 2-year-old class." And he backed-up his words with action by selecting from that class both the Grand and Reserve Champions of the National Guernsey Show, Wednesday.

Wee Manor T.C. Lucky, a senior 2-year-old wore the Grand Champion rosette home to Bushy Park Farm in Wake Virginia. Due to freshen in May to Telestar, the champ is sired by Wee Manor Top Command and out of Leafy Lane Dreams Lucky.

Keene went with the second place 2-year-old for Reserve Grand Champion. Keystone Big T. Jennifer was owned and exhibited by John and Bonnie Ayars, Mechanicsburg, Ohio.

The Reserve Champ is by Co Hill Farms TH Big Tex and out of Smithside H Jewel, a cow a 15,328 record as a 5-year-old.

Keene selected Holcombs D F Daisy as Junior Champion, owned and exhibited by Robert Holcomb, Greene, N.Y. The senior heifer calf is by Housley Dari Favor and out of Holcombs G Della.

Holcomb was later selected as Premier Breeder and Exhibitor after racking up almost a half dozen blue and red ribbon winners throughout the competition. Holcomb's entries contributed to the top New York state herd which placed first, ahead of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia.

Poverty Hollow Farm of Corfu, N.Y., claimed the Reserve Junior Champion with their senior yearling heifer, Leaders Maverick Betsy. Sired by Olympic View B Maverick the New York heifer is out of Leaders Prince Bell.

In his first major competition of the season, Ger Mik Acres Heather's Brady, topped the bull competition and was named Grand Champion. The Telestar son, a junior yearling, was owned and exhibited by Glenn Mumaw, Orrville, Ohio.

Pennsylvania breeders Ned and Virgie McDonald, Imier, took home Reserve Grand Champion Bull honors with their senior yearling Green Slopes Gardienas.

Out of Green Slopes Gerrys Gardienas, the reserve champ is sired by Housleys Dari Favor, the show's Premier Sire.

Brown Swiss sale grosses $62,000

HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania Brown Swiss Sale, held in conjunction with the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, grossed over $62,000 Monday, with 35 calves, bred heifers and cows crossing the auction block.

"This was an excellent sale," according to show manager Charles Ite. "The sale average was $1,723, up from last year's $1,350. The quality of the sale animals was exceptional and plenty of buyers were on hand."

Robert G. Hoffman of North Leads, Maine, was the successful bidder of the high selling cow, Jill Jan Donna, at $3,300. This three year old that ranks in the top 50 cows in the United States for index score was consigned by R-Hart Farms of Wapakoneta, Ohio.

Jill Jan Donna boasted a 4.4 percent butter fat record and milked 305 days at two years, one month of age. She milked 13,960 pounds of milk as a two-year-old.

A bred heifer, Alfalfa Acre Talisman Ivy, claimed the second high selling spot as bidding stopped at $3,000. She sold to Donald B. and Carol A. Trumble of Peach Bottom. The heifer, who was bred to "White Clouds Jason's Elegant," was consigned by Robert Hoffman of North Leads, Maine.

Bruce A. Keener of West Salem, Ohio, sold his "Very Good-87" cow to George L. Bassler of Rock Ridge, Maryland, for $2,900. The cow, "Spring Hills Designs Snooks," recently freshened and is milking 80 pounds per day.

HARRISBURG — The Robert Stiles Family, Clearbrook, Va. exhibited the Grand Champion Female at the All-American Jersey Show, Thursday.

Hetherington Stardoms Babette, a senior yearling, is by Marlu Milestone Stardom and out of Valiant Babe of Hetherington, a cow who boasts a 6.0 percent butterfat test as a 2-year-old. The Stiles will also hang this year's Premier Exhibitor banner at their dairy, Waverly Farm.

Gaywinds Farm, Keymar Md., claimed the Reserve Grand Champion with their 3-year-old, Gaywinds Golden Cindy. Owned and exhibited by Kathy Covell, the Cindy cow was later named the Best Milking Female. Covell's entry is out of Gaywinds Generator Christy and sired by the show's Premier Sire, Golden Faithful.

The Premier Sire and Breeder banners will hang at Silver Spring Farm, the home of the Fred Luchsinger Family, Syracuse, N.Y. Luchsinger's show string included the Junior Champion Female, Lavender Karen Panda of SSF, bred to Golden Faithful. The junior champ is sired by Sleeper Karen Lavender and out of Faithful Miss Petunia of SSF.

The Reserve Junior Champion carried the Silver Spring prefix but was owned and exhibited by Gretchen Buecheler, Marcellus, N.Y. Buecheler's senior yearling, Pacetter Flower of SSF is an HVF daughter and due in mid-October to Milestone Generator.

The bull competition was light with few entries and Kalmar Farm, Harrington, De. walked off with the Grand Champion Rosette. The champ, Kalmar Jody Blue Dino is a 2-year-old sired by Jody's

N.Y. cows take Holstein grand champs

HARRISBURG — The grand champion Holstein cow at yesterday's Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show was a four year old entry shown by Bower Farm Inc. of LaGrangeville, N.Y.

Judge Bertram Stewart exclaimed this Elevation daughter "spells dairy character. She's just the way we like to see a four year old."

Bred by Eric D. Anderson, this champion cow boasts a record set as a two-year-old of 22,857 pounds milk with 846 pounds fat and 3.7 test.

cow entry of George B. Morgan, Tyrbach Holsteins, Walton, N.Y. He described this Ideal Fury Reflector daughter as "neat and clean." Bred by Mike Jones, Gay Fury Sadie is out of J & P Gaydale Matt Sadie.

An honorable mention was given to A Willowcrag Katie Mar Kara, a top three year old exhibited by Cromdale Farm, Inc. of Georgetown, Ontario. She is sired by Harborcrest Marcis out of Willowcrag Del-Matt Kate.

Complete results of Friday's show will appear in next week's issue of Lancaster Farming.

dairymen, Bernard and David Wagner, the Glendell daughter, is out of an Elevation and made an impressive 35,756 pounds of milk as a 4-year-old and plus 20,000 as a first-calf heifer.

Jackson Enterprises, Clayton, Ohio, paid $15,000 for a Jet Stream daughter out of an Ivanhoe Star. Pack-Herd Jet Stream Tiara is a 4-year-old that has not made a record below 20,000 and is projected at 23,591 pounds of milk.

The Tiara cow was consigned by Richard and Marilyn Packard, Troy. Due in November to Glendell Arlinda Chief, the Jet Stream daughter brought the second-high price.

A nine-month-old Kingpin daughter brought the sale's third-high bid with a price tag of $14,000. Stardell Farms, Frederick, Md. purchased Leadfield Petro Pint-ET, consigned by Leadfield Associates, Jamestown. The heifer is out of C Craig Petro Telstar, a 4E, 96 Gold Medal Dam. The Telstar cow has a lifetime record of more than 150,000 pounds of milk and has four progeny nominated All-American or All-Canadian.

Before the sale, prospective buyers and wishful thinkers had a chance to quench their thirsts and appetites at the milk and cheese bar in the sale barn.

This two-week heifer sold with her dam, Elson Glendale Pioneer as a package deal with the number one consignment. The calf C, Tamlane Rockman Senator, daughter, and her dam sold for $65,000.

handler Greg Mell, "Pedro" also took Junior Champion honors back to Bachmann's Pinehurst Farms, Sheboygan Falls, Wisconsin.

Pehrson-Hyline Chris Lola to add to the Holstein string at his Avon, N.Y. farm, Ru Ann Holsteins, Inc.

Arlene Roundtree, Ontario, Ca., sets the Junior Champion against a background of pine. Sky Vu Ultimate Lestwood, a Quality

HARRISBURG — A senior yearling heifer from Sky Vu Farms, Hastings, Minnesota, captured the Junior Champion title as out-of-state entries dominated the first day of the Eastern National Holstein Show, Thursday.

Sky Vu Ultimate Lestwood is owned by Paul and Judy Trapp and Canadian breeders, the Roundtree Family from Brampton, Ontario. The junior champ, a Quality Ultimate is out of Stopp in Astronaut Leslie and due to Elevation around Christmas.

Judge Bertram Stewart, a Canadian Holstein breeder, selected the second place senior yearling as Reserve Junior Champ. Pehrson-Hyline Chris Lola is owned by Douglas Maddox of Ru Ann Holsteins, Inc. Bred to Vir-Clar Bootmaker Deluxe, the reserve junior champ is sired by Brondale Sir Christopher.

The Christopher bull also sired

Judge Stewart went with Whippoorwill King Bonanza for Reserve Grand Champion owned by Whippoorwill Farm, Manchester, Minnesota. The reserve about three or four days ago and gave them a lot of exercise," Strauss said.

Other members of the Strauss trio include older brothers, Bob and Richard, who were right at ringside.

Their cooperative dynasty at Ephrata includes the champion in 1975, reserves in '76, '77 and '78 and the champion in '79. They were shut out from the winners circle last year when middleweights sandwiched between their light and heavyweight champions took the top honors.

But it all came together this year.

Like the Pennsylvania Dutch who utilize every part of the pig except the squeal, the Strauss brothers squeezed everything they could out of this week's show.

The sweep paid off, too. Hatfield bought the grand champ for $3.30 a pound and Walter M. Dunlap took the reserve for $2.15 a pound.

And on to Wednesday's lamb show.

The show was prominently sprinkled with Garden Spot exhibitors and the New Hollanders walked off with quite a few of the honors.

Carolyn Witmer, only showing for the second year captured both the grand and reserve grands with her Hampshire wethers and also took the Pen of 3 championship.

Closest rival in the ring was another New Hollander, Barry Martin, who dominated the Suffolk classes.

Judge Ned Kocher, of Mansfield, paid tribute to the Suffolk influence in the winning Hampshires and even suggested that perhaps judging should be divided in the future between the true Hamps and those with Suffolk blood in them.

Kocher kept checking the hind saddles of the entries — location of the best cuts — and judged them rather sternly.

Carolyn, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Witmer, R2, East Earl. She's a junior at Garden Spot.

And our trio of nights wind up with the baby beef show on Thursday.

Judge Henry Gruber, of A and B Packing, Allentown, who is as much a showman as the exhibitors, kept the competition moving along rather briskly.

He even had a helper to hand out the ribbons. State Sec. of Agriculture Penny Hallowell dropped into the fair and stuck around to watch the beef judging.

Another sidelight to the beef show centered on Pam Wenger, daughter of State Rep. Noah Wenger, who stood on the sidelines with Secretary Hallowell.

But all in all, it was "Herr" night for Barb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herr, R1, Narvon.

"We're going to go right home and call her at Penn State," the proud father explained.

The winning Angus, a lighthheavy at 1190 pounds, came from Rally

Farms, Dutchess County, N.Y. It was bought there as a 300-lb. calf.

Although it was Barb's steer, brother Chris has a half interest in it and thus had a real stake in his substitute showing.

There were a few other Rally steers in the show, including the reserve grand champ of Emily Weaver and that of Margaret Herr, younger sister of Barb and Chris, who showed to a third in the light heavies.

Barb's grand champ was shown earlier at the New Jersey Field Days and finished second in its class to the reserve champion. Margaret's was Angus champ at New Jersey.

Now, it's off to the Keystone for the Herr grand champ.

Gosh, I wonder how Barb did in her biology final.

She couldn't have done better though than her steer some 150 miles away beneath the lights at Ephrata.

Shertzer's Holstein wins again

BY DEBBIE KOONTZ

LAMPETER — One year later and one step better seemed to be the motto of Mike Shertzer as he earned Grand Champion of the Holstein breed with the same cow which earned him Reserve Champion honors last year.

Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Shertzer of Rocky Springs Farms. They milk 40 Holsteins and this particular winner carries an average of 1700 pounds of milk.

Reserve honors went to Jeff Burkholder, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Burkholder.

The Burkholders milk 65 Holsteins on their Burk-Ann Farm with an average of 19,000 pounds.

Champion of the Guernsey breed went to Ken Garber and the Reserve Champion honor to his son, Gerald. The Garbers are from Willow Farms, Willow Street. They milk 60 Guernseys with a herd average of 13,130.

Gerald has been a member of FFA for five years.

Warren Schmuck earned Champion honors in the Ayrshire class while Jere Shertzer took top honors in the Jersey class. Jere, 12, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shertzer of Long Lane.

Judge for the afternoon event was Jane Pepple of Oxford, Chester County. Jane farms a 65-Holstein operation with husband Bob.

The Grand Champion Holstein title went to Mike Shertzer of Rocky Springs Farms for the same cow which earned him Reserve honors last year.

Father and son emerged champions as Ken's son, Gerald captured the Reserve Champion honors for the Guernsey breed.

Michelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dean of Strasburg and has been a member of the 4-H club for seven years.

Reserve honors went to Wayne Hess of Conestoga who also took Reserve Champion honors in the FFA category. Wayne is the 18-year-old son of Abram and Mary Jane Hess and has shown 4 steers in FFA. Wayne's champion was an Angus/Chianina cross.

Showing Grand Champion FFA steer was Danny Martin of Pequea. Danny is the 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Martin. Danny, who has shown steers for nine years in 4-H, purchased the steer from Walter's Family Club Calf Sale.

Judge for the show was Nancy Sayre, herdsman of Devereux Soliel Farms in Downingtown, Chester County.

All-American stalls shine with decorators' delights

BY SALLY BAIR

Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG — As visitors and exhibitors to the All-American strolled down rows of some of the nation's top dairy animals here this week, they were made to feel right at home. Elaborate displays and farm exhibits graced the normally drab Farm Show livestock quarters, making the All-American barns an interior decorator's delight.

Although many of the booths provided chairs and cots for the exhibitors to relax on between shows, most were seen scurrying behind the cattle with pitchforks in hand in an effort to keep 'everything' cleaned up. Experienced showman dazzled others with their no-straw-out-of-place bedding skills — some even without the benefit of aisle boards to keep slippery straw from squeezing out from under the resting cattle.

Wreaths and flowers were joined by ribbons and trophies as the week progressed. Flawlessly groomed and cleaned cattle left their comfy stalls to parade around the tanbark for a shot at being picked as the All-American's top entry or to head for the sudsy, steamy wash room.

Of course, all the efforts of the dairy exhibitors will not go unrecognized by the officials of the state's largest dairy show, for the best in-barn performance of 'housekeeping' will be rewarded with the title of top herdsman.

A house may not always be a home, but in this case it's as close as one can get in the middle of the All-American Dairy Show. Askew's Holsteins of Urbana, Ohio and Kaukauna, Wisconsin built this cozy structure next to their lineup of top dairy cattle.

A lamp and some flowers exemplify the "little touches" that go a long way in creating a pleasant atmosphere for visitors at the All-American dairy show. These were part of an area belonging to Gary N. Darling, Windever Farm, Groton, VT.

Sand Rock Farm, rocky Ridge, Maryland, has an inviting display and a neat bedded area for their Brown Swiss show herd. Feathers and wild flowers give an outdoor touch.

Herdsman can relax when cows are as relaxed and contented as these animals resting on this professionally-forked bed of straw. These bovines belong to Douglas Maddox's RuAnn Holsteins, Avon, N.Y.

Corn husk and pumpkins add a touch of fall to this display by Green Slopes Farm, McDonald Family, Imler. A clock, a radio and a mirror work together to keep this family on time and looking good in the show ring.

Lanc. Co. youths win contest

HARRISBURG — Two Lancaster County youths were named outstanding individuals, Tuesday, during the Seventh Pennsylvania 4-H and FFA Dairy Judging Forum at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

Kevin Roth of New Holland, representing the Grasslands FFA Chapter was the top FFA individual with a score of 373 from a possible score of 400 points. Gerald Garber of Willow Street, led the 4-

H individual competition with a score of 370 points from a possible 400.

A total of 427 contestants judged seven classes of dairy cattle, featuring some of the best animals in the nation on exhibit at the All-American. This included five cow classes and two heifer classes. A quiz on dairy herd management was also given.

Placing second through fifth in the FFA competition were:

Kenneth Holtry of Shippensburg, with 364 points; second went to Glenn Kline of Troy, with 349 points; Keith Aellig of Grantville, with 346 points; and Karyn England of Williamsburg, with 345 points.

In the individual 4-H competition, Jack R. Thomas of Ulysses, placed second with 366 points; third went to Ken Hoover of Martinsburg, with 362 points; Darrell Clapper of Martinsburg placed fourth with 359 points; and John Clowney of Gettysburg, placed fifth with 355 points.

The Blair County 4-H team picked up top honors against 12 other 4-H teams, with 1070 points from a possible 1200. Team members included Brian and Susanne Kelly of Tyrone, Ken Hoover and Darrell Clapper.

The second place 4-H team represented Berks County and accumulated 1015 points. Team members included Patti Dreisbach of Hamburg, Charles Seidel of Lenhartsville, William Leshner of Bernville and Todd Miller of Hamburg.

Chester County placed third with 999 points. Team members included Glenn Stoltzfus of Morgantown, Tim Kurtz of Elverson, Susan Kulp and Darrell Guest of Pottstown.

The Grassland FFA Chapter from Lancaster County took top honors in the FFA team competition with 1043 points. There were 32 FFA teams competing. Team members were Darrell Gockley of Mohnton, Kevin Roth of New Holland, Carolyn Witmer of East Earl, and Ronald Martin of Narvon.

The Northern Bedford FFA Chapter placed second with a score of 998. Their team was comprised of Todd Hall of Hopewell, Beth Smith and Mark Swope of Roaring Spring, and Harry Brubaker from New Enterprise.

The Owen J. Roberts FFA Chapter from Chester County captured third with 989 points. Team members included Leslie Schofield of Pottstown, David and Allen March of Glenmore, and Todd Berry of Elverson.

Sauder's look at marketing

While at Hornblower and Weeks, Sauder initiated the opening of a commodities department within the investment company. He recalls the company had reservations about the feasibility of a commodities department in a small town away from Wall Street and Chicago. But their doubts were soon dissipated when David built the Lancaster commodity office up to rank at the top of the national list for three consecutive months.

One of David's goals at Trade Tech is to help farmers to understand the value of Futures markets as a tool. Currently, only an estimated 7 to 12 percent of the nation's farmers use it to lock in a profit. Most of the doubts and hesitations surrounding Futures is the result of "horror stories" of farmers who used it incorrectly and failed, David says.

Using the Futures markets isn't for every farmer, however. Sauder points out cash grain operators and livestock producers should use it the most, while dairy farmers have less reason to rely on Futures markets, except for large feed investments. Capital for investment is also a requirement, he adds, recommending a minimum amount of $2,500 to $7,500 for holding a hedge, and at least $20,000 to $25,000 for those who want to speculate.

Sauder stresses farmers who lock-in their profits with a Futures contract are more consecutive than farmers who take their chances buying and selling cattle on the open market.

"A farmer who sees he's made a mistake can sell his Futures contract the same day he bought it. It's possible to be in and out of the market over 100 times in the same day — all it takes is a phone call, about 30 seconds."

What does it cost to have David join a farmer's marketing team? For farmers wishing to hedge their commodities, David's help is free of charge. Speculators are charged 25 percent of their net profit, on the other hand.

David advises that until a farmer understands the Futures market completely, he should stick strictly with hedging rather than speculating which is more risky.

"The 1980s will be a decade of economic revolution in the field of agriculture," David concludes. "We hope to help change the financial outlook for farmers."

Apple Harvest Festival begins Friday

ARENDSVILLE — It's that time of year again. Time for the annual Apple Harvest Festival which transforms Arendtsville, Adams County, into the core of apple activities in the nation.

Queen contests, orchard tours, taste-testing sessions, artists and craftsmen all will make this year's Festival exciting and educational.

Twelve queens from eleven states will be vying for the title Miss Apple USA. After some grueling competition that includes apple-packing, quizzes on the apple industry, and others, the new national queen will be crowned during the Apple Harvest Ball, Saturday evening, October 3.

On Friday, October 2, downtown Gettysburg will be the focus of the festival when the queen candidates join with other apple producers in an Apple Harvest Mart where fruits and vegetables will be displayed, along with homemade baked goods and other items. The mart will run from 2 p.m. until 3:45 p.m.

From the mart, Apple Harvest participants will move to Hickory Bridge Farms, Ortonna for a nibble of some fantastic desserts, all, of course, featuring apple ingredients. After satisfying their sweet tooth in baked goodies, the visitors will be ready to watch and listen as each queen contestant presents a three-minute speech on apples.

On Saturday, the festivities move to the South Mountain Fairground, here in Arendtsville, where tours will head out to the surrounding orchards, laden with delicious fruit. Craftsmen will be on hand along with artists, setting up booth and displays of their handiwork.

The Apple Harvest festival will continue the following weekend at the fairgrounds.

FINANCE RATES COME DOWN

Sperry New Holland has announced a new program that will allow area farmers to buy combines and forage equipment at lower annual finance rates, according to Bill Wiley, of C.E. Wiley & Son, Inc., of Quarryville, PA.

Bill said his company is participating in the program, and believes it affords farmers the opportunity to get unusually good terms on the combine and forage equipment they need. To earn these reduced rates, contracts for forage equipment must be completed by October 31, and those for combines by November 30, 1981.

Essentially, new or used combines and forage machines can be purchased over two, three, or four-year periods at below standard rates. Equipment in these categories purchased over a two-year period will have an annual rate of 13.9 percent. Three-year contracts will carry an annual rate of 14.9 percent, and four-year contracts, a 15.9 percent rate.

Bill said there are some restrictions on purchases, but the lower rates represent an opportunity farmers will want to consider. In addition, other financing programs provide another option. He urges them to visit his dealership for full details.

"With the cost of everything going up and up," Bill said, "I'm glad that I can offer farmers an option that can help them fill their equipment needs at a lower financing cost."

We also have Free Financing in lieu of the above till June 1, 1982 for Hay and Forage Equipment. It's Your choice...Choose the plan that best suits you. We are ready to deal!

Roth puts All-American Dairy judging contest on map

BY SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

CAMP HILL — Harry F. Roth, director of operations for Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, Lancaster, was honored for 12 years of service as manager of the All-American Invitational Youth Dairy Cattle judging contest at an awards banquet Monday.

In making the presentation, Charles A. Itle, manager of the All-American Dairy Show, expressed appreciation for the "superb organization" and the "deep commitment to a quality contest" shown by Roth. Itle pointed out that the show has doubled in size since the first contest was held in 1969.

Nearly 1900 young people have participated in the dairy cattle judging contest since its inception. In the first year 20 teams participated. This year there were 46 teams entered, making it second in size only to the national contest in Madison, Wisconsin.

According to Roth, the coaches bring their teams because of the quality of animals in the classes. He also noted, "It gives the kids the opportunity to compete in a contest at least as tough as the national contest. Coaches have told me that when the kids go through this contest they are ready for the national contest."

Roth attributed the growth and the success of the contest to a "simple format" which includes competition in three divisions, FFA, 4-H and collegiate. In the 13 years of the contest, there have always been the three divisions with 10 classes in each division. All rules at the Harrisburg contest comply with the national rules.

The collegiate contest has shown the most dramatic growth over the years, but 4-H has grown steadily, with this year's the largest in that division. FFA consistently has between six and eight teams at the contest.

Teams come from a wide area for the privilege of judging in Harrisburg, at great time and expense in many cases. This year's winning collegiate coach, Cal Poly's Robert Osland, said the reason judging team coaches like to bring their teams to the Pennsylvania contest is simple, "It's a good contest. It is well run, with good quality cows. It also attracts good quality schools. Next to the national contest, it is the best contest."

Osland says that while the trip is costly for his team, he feels it is valuable and in some years they just fly to the contest and fly right back to California. This year they were able to combine a trip to the contest at the Eastern States Exposition in Massachusetts with their trip to Harrisburg and will spend a few days judging in the East, traveling with other judging teams.

The Cal Poly team is a crack team, having won three of the four

Ralaine Jerseys find All-American fun, good for herd

BY SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG — For the Ray Sollenberger family of Bedford County, showing cows is an activity which is fun for the family as well as good for the herd. And they are quick to say it is well worth the effort it takes to work with a show string. Their prefix is Ralaine Jerseys and their 150-acre farm is located at Everett.

While they usually show 20 head at local fairs, they had eight animals at the All-American Dairy Show in Harrisburg this week.

Lori, 22, explains how she feels about showing her Jerseys. "We started in 4-H and it's become a family project. We think it is a challenge to breed good animals. There also is promotional value in showing — it is good advertising for the herd."

She also views dairy shows as good for the dairy industry as a whole. "You can promote your animals, and also talk to consumers and tell how good quality milk is produced."

Mrs. Sollenberger (Elaine) affirms that she and her husband got involved in showing cows only through 4-H. She states, "We didn't know a thing about it until 4-H. We started from zero. But now we see it as a way of improving the herd. It gives us a desire to improve and an incentive."

Ray laughs when he says he's heard showing called a disease, but adds, "There is a challenge to it. It has done a lot for our herd in challenging us to improve and find something better. We have a far better herd today, which is an obvious benefit."

In addition to Lori, there is a daughter Beth who is now an associate pastor in Florida and a son Leon who is a senior at Penn State majoring in Dairy Production. Lori explained how each of the children received a 4-H animal and the offspring of those animals are registered in their names. But, she said, they consider the animals as part of the family herd and will transfer them back into the herd.

The Sollenbergers milk about 60 cows, with about a third of them belonging to the children. Their herd average is 10,462 milk, 5.6 test and 591 fat. Protein is 3.9 percent and 404 pounds.

Elaine pointed out showing animals became a way for the children to earn money for college. "We decided to put the fair winnings toward a college education in lieu of having them take summer jobs."

This year they showed at the Morrison's Cove Dairy Show, the Bedford County Fair, the Huntingdon County Fair and the Fulton County Fair. Lori is modest about their achievements, saying, "We do pretty well at the local fairs where there is not a lot of competition. We had some junior championships."

"At the All-American we don't do real well. We won a class one year but we are usually in the middle with a few at the top. But a larger show is better. It's encouragement and it's more fun if there are more people." She added that it's especially nice to win at a big show.

While admitting that it takes a lot of work to be at the show all week, she states, "I almost feel like I'm on vacation." To prepare for the show Lori says she washed the cows when they arrived last Saturday and again on Wednesday the day before the show.

Lori says she helps with the hoof trimming and does "most of the clipping", something she considers a challenge. "You can make them look better. It is fun to start and see what you can do with them."

The animals are fed much like they would be fed at home, with the exception of silage which is omitted at the show. They are fed dry hay, grain and beet pulp when it is available. She adds, "The first week they are restless when they are tied. But, after that, they get used to it." She waters each animal four times daily and milks the mature animals with their own milker, selling the milk through the All-American facilities. She adds, "It's time-consuming to keep track of the animals."

Being former Pennsylvania Jersey Queen (1977), it is not surprising to hear Lori's enthusiasm for the Jersey breed, although she admits that people tend to like what they grow up with. But she says, "Jerseys are smaller, easier to work with and there is less feed cost because there is less body weight to maintain. Jerseys are the most efficient cow in converting feed to milk and the milk is higher in protein and higher in butterfat." She notes that this is especially good if the milk is shipped to manufacturing plants because there is a higher cheese yield.

While some people feel Jerseys have better temperaments than other breeds, Lori feels that is a reflection on how the animals are treated.

Lori's father also states Jerseys are the most efficient cow, and adds, "They produce the best quality milk overall. I enjoy producing a quality product."

Although his father raised Jerseys, Ray got the first one of his registered herd in exchange for combining oats for a neighbor. About 10 years ago, Ralaine became an all-registered herd.

Lori admits that sometimes she feels in the minority, but she thinks Jerseys are a growing breed. "We know several children who have started in 4-H with Jerseys and we have sold some Jerseys to Holstein breeders."

She says she feels component pricing is a good idea and that it would benefit both dairy producers and consumers. "If you want to sell milk-you need to get higher solids in the milk."

She is a strong believer in promotion, saying, "With consumption going down, we need to get it up. And dairy products are so important to your health. Milk is an inexpensive source of protein, and there are so many things in milk we all need."

She emphasizes that dairy farmers must not only believe in their product but also use it. She sounds like a Dairy Princess talking, and she did serve as an Alternate Princess.

A 1981 graduate of Penn State in dairy production, Lori is now working at home and plans to do some overseas service for about three years before becoming established in dairying. While she prefers Jerseys, she does not discriminate against other breeds, and while at Penn State showed a Jersey, a Holstein and a Brown Swiss at Penn State's Dairy Exposition. With her Brown Swiss, she was named reserve all-around champion and champion fitter. This year, as a senior, she didn't show a cow because of her duties as overall chairman of the Expo.

She also was a member of Penn

Taking care of eight show animals for a week means a lot of hard work for the Ray Sollenberger family, R3 Everett. Here Lori takes a show halter from the show box, which contains everything necessary to keep a Ralaine Jersey looking her best.

State's judging team which placed fifth at the national contest last year.

In addition to showing cows, there are other good reasons to attend a show like the All-American. Lori says, "It's fun to be at one of the big shows. The All American is a very well run show. And, if you win a first here, it has prestige. Some of the people who win here are the same as those who win at the national show in Kentucky." The Sollenbergers attend that show occasionally and one year had a third in a class there.

Mrs. Sollenberger states, "It's nice to renew acquaintances and to see what others have that they didn't have last year."

Ray agrees about the value of going to large shows, "It's enjoyable to talk and visit with those who are there. It is enjoyable and educational."

The Sollenbergers are active in their church and in Extension activities at home. Elaine writes a column for a local paper and also writes the Pennsylvania Jersey newsletter and serves on the school board.

Lori says, "We're probably closer than most families. We like to do things as a family, and showing is something we've all worked at."

This beautiful two-year-old was one of eight head the Ray Sollenberger family showed at the All-American Dairy Show this week. Lori is at the halter, as she was for most of the show.

KILE opens Friday with 3,400 quality livestock

HARRISBURG — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition will open its doors Oct. 2 through 6 here at the Farm Show Building.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is one of the top livestock shows in the country featuring quality beef cattle, sheep, swine and horse competition. More than 3,400 head of livestock have been entered in this year's show and will be competing for over $75,000 in premiums.

Judging will begin Friday, Oct. 2 at 9 a.m. in the sheep arena with Southdown and Cheviot sheep. At 10 a.m. feeder calf judging will begin. A feeder pig show will be held in the swine barn at 10 a.m. Friday, and Appaloosa halter and performance classes begin at 8 a.m. in the large arena. Judging will continue throughout the day.

A feeder pig auction will begin at 5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 2 in the small arena. At 6:30 p.m., feeder calves will be sold on the main floor.

Saturday, Oct. 3 competition starts at 7:30 a.m. in the large arena with the National 4-H Horse Judging Contest. The National Horse Bowl will be held at the Holiday Inn at 9 a.m. The beef arena will feature the Polled Hereford Shows beginning at 8:30 a.m., while Shropshire and Suffolk breeding sheep classes start at 9 a.m. At 2 p.m. in the sheep arena, the Dorset, Hampshire, Shropshire, Southdown and Suffolk bred ewes will be sold. A Paint Horse Sale will be held Saturday at 9 p.m. in the small arena.

At 7 p.m. Saturday evening, the Pennsylvania Livestock Association will hold its annual meeting and awards banquet at the Holiday Inn. This year's guest speaker is animal welfarist Dr. Michael Fox. Ticket reservations should be made by calling the KILE Office 717/787-1295.

Sunday's activities begin at 11 a.m. with open class steer judging in the beef arena, Duroc barrows on foot in the small arena, and open market lamb competition in the sheep arena. A Live Hog Evaluation Contest open free to exhibitors and visitors begins at 12:30 p.m. Sunday in the small arena. Quarter Horse halter judging begins in the large arena at noon on Sunday.

The Pennsylvania Lamb and Wool Queen will be selected at 5 p.m. Sunday in the sheep arena followed by the KILE Ladies Lead Class at 5:30 p.m. During the lead class, young women dressed in the latest wool fashions will lead trained sheep at halter. At 7 p.m. the Pennsylvania Junior Sheep Shearing Contest will be held in the beef arena. A banquet and meeting of the Eastern Seaboard Sheep Council will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Jolly Fisherman Restaurant in Harrisburg. Tickets are $7.50 and anyone with an interest in sheep is welcome to attend. Reservations should be made by Sept. 29 by calling 717/787-5086.

An Agriculture Craft Show will be held Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the complex. The show features crafts made from agricultural by-products or with an agriculture theme.

Open barrows on foot will be judged Monday beginning at 8 a.m. in the small arena. At 8:30 a.m. wool sheep breeds will be judged in the sheep arena. Angus breeding cattle will be shown Monday at 9 a.m. and Arabian halter and performance classes begin at 9:30 a.m. in the large arena.

The Keystone Livestock and Meats Judging Contest starts at 9:30 a.m. Monday on the main floor.

The Intercollegiate and Junior Livestock Judging begins at 8 a.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 6. Swine breeding classes will start at 10 a.m. in the small arena.

Livestock shows will continue throughout all five days. However, beef cattle, sheep and horses do not compete on Tuesday. All livestock and horses are released at noon on Tuesday.

The KILE Trade Show will be held throughout five days. Commercial exhibitors will have on display and for sale many different items from leather goods to livestock show equipment. A barnyard babies exhibit can be found on the main floor Saturday and Sunday.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition kicks-off October as Pennsylvania Livestock Month. KILE is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Show Commission. For more information contact the Expo Office at 717/787-2905.

Showers limit Pa. fieldwork

HARRISBURG — Overcast skies and intermittent showers during the week ending September 21 limited farm fieldwork activities across Pennsylvania to three days, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service.

Field activities during the week included plowing; repairing machinery; planting wheat and barley; and harvesting tobacco, potatoes, ensilage corn and hay crops. Harvesting of apples, tomatoes and cabbage continued across the state. Cabbage was reported as looking very good in most areas of the state.

Topsoil moisture in the state was rated 74 percent adequate, 13 percent surplus and 13 percent short. In the north reporters rated soil moisture 72 percent adequate, 17 percent surplus and 11 percent short. years they participated here, and having won the national contest twice in the last ten years. Part of the reason for their success, Osland says, is the "tremendous number of students" wanting to try out for the team. This year they had 20 interested students, so Osland says, "We left some very good judges at home." Cal Poly has 17,000 students, with 4,000 in agriculture and 115-120 in dairy science.

Roth recalls that the contest was initiated when several directors of the All-American Dairy Show felt there was a need for an activity for youth other than the state junior dairy show. "They conceived an idea of an invitational judging contest," he says.

Harry was asked to organize it and agreed, but adds, "Little did I realize I would become as involved as I did." To get started, Roth wrote to other contests to learn how they were run. He says, "The game plan we started with was good enough that we have not had to make many changes, other than management changes."

He recalls that in the early contests students were taken to the Penn Harris Hotel in downtown Harrisburg to give reasons. Since then space has been found to conduct that portion of the contest at the Farm Show Building itself. "Little by little we improve it," he states.

Roth feels the contest experience is invaluable to students. "The experience in learning about the fundamentals of dairy cattle selection is an important point. But it is also an opportunity for the youth to have an experience which will help them in a competitive world. It's an opportunity for kids to learn to win and lose, and to be good sportsmen. It is a good experience for young people as they develop a lifestyle which will serve them well and help them take their place in the world."

He observed, "There are some who are disappointed, but some of those will go home and realize they must try a little harder at the next contest."

In Harrisburg, the winning collegiate teams were: 1. Cal Poly; 2. Virginia Tech; 3. University of Wisconsin, Madison; 4. Delaware Valley College; 5. University of Minnesota.

Top five 4-H teams were: 1. Virginia; 2. Illinois; 3. Michigan; 4. Minnesota; 5. New Jersey.

Top five FFA teams were: 1. Indiana; 2. Maryland; 3. New York; 4. Pennsylvania; 5. Phillipsburg, New Jersey.

Gratz Fair pins purples on two-time winners

BY SHEILA MILLER

GRATZ — Lebanon County's Barry Donn timer, R2 Annville, had a week of Holstein happiness as he claimed the FFA grand championship at Monday's state Junior Dairy Show in Harrisburg and the next day swept the Holstein competition here at the Gratz Fair Open Dairy show.

Judge Tom Dum III couldn't refuse Broslin Linda Chief Charlie her purple grand champion's ribbon — actually she won his favor twice, once in the Youth show and later in the Open show. This 4-year-old has been taking championships all over southeast Pennsylvania, being tagged grand at Lebanon Fair in August and reserve champion at the FFA District show held later in Kutztown.

Linda is a Janell Ivanhoe Chief Charlie daughter out of Broslin Peg Ivanhoe Ken.

Her barn mate, R&E Molly Apple, slid in next to Linda during the Youth show and was named reserve grand champion. The senior 2-year-old is a Vincent View Molly Chief daughter out of Kerchenhill Ada.

Donn timer's winnings didn't stop at just the grand and reserve grand Holsteins. He also exhibited the Junior and Reserve Junior champions at both shows.

Judge Dum went with the senior yearling entry, Broslin Ann Marina, for Junior Champion. This impressive animal is a daughter of Arlina Fond Mariner (twin) out of Broslin Chief Brigadier Marge.

The Reserve Junior Champion was Donn timer's junior calf, R&E Ivanhoe Charlie Rozana. She is sired by Janell Ivanhoe Chief Charlie, who also sired the grand champion. Her dam is Mil-Harv Ultimate Rita.

Sweeping the Ayrshire competition was Sycamore Meade farm and the Shetterly family of Millersburg.

For grand champion Ayrshire, Judge Dum picked Sycamore Meade's 3 year old, Foxglove Luv, by Milaway Albi out of Foxglove Linda.

Eleven-year-old Debra Shetterly's Sycamore Meade Chad's Sophie, was selected as grand champion of the Youth show. This 2 year old is a daughter of Senelakeca Betty Chad out of Caverly Farms Betty's Sophia.

The reserve grand champion Ayrshire was shown by Steven Shetterly, 12. This homebred junior yearling, Sycamore Meade Champ's Bessie, was also the reserve grand champion of the 4-H show. Her sire is Sycamore Meade Hi Champ and her dam is Sycamore Meade Greta's Bess.

Sycamore Meade farm is a partnership between father-in-law Earl Keefer and Donald Shetterly. They currently have about 150 head of registered Ayrshires, a herd that has been built over the past 30 years by Keefer and his daughter Sandra, Donald's wife.

In the Jersey show, Patrick Von Keyserling, 12, of Millersburg exhibited the grand champion female. His 3 year old, Nadine, is Patrick's only sole Jersey. This winning pair took the purple ribbons in both the Open and Youth shows.

The reserve grand champion Jersey in both shows was a 4 year old shown by Marilyn Deaven, Fredericksburg, Lebanon County. Faithful Pacesetter Lassie II was previously tagged grand champion at the Lebanon County Fair in August.

Marilyn displayed her showmanship ability and was named champion in the senior division.

Reserve grand champion in the big-buff breed was the aged cow entry of Daniel Wolfe, 20, of Sunbury. Leonale Lilason Blanche Betty completed her best lactation record as an 8 year old last year with 16,760 pounds milk and 604 pounds fat.

Wolfe also exhibited the reserve grand champion Holstein of the Open Show, Plumside Cathy Boots Cupid, another aged entry. Finishing up her last year's 7-year-old record with 22,760 pounds milk and 963 pounds fat, Wolfe said she has made over 22,000 two times previously. She is a daughter of He-Bo Bootmaker Boots out of Plumside Cindy Vigo Cathy.

Daniel's sister, Bonnie Sue Wolfe, 14, exhibited the reserve grand champion Guernsey, Plum Creek Farm Bambi Brenda. The junior 2 year old is sired by Kellogg Minnies Choice out of P.C. Beck Dovamost Bambi.

Both Daniel and Bonnie, along with brother Arthur, 17, help to keep Plumside Farms in the dairy business.

The family works together farming a total of over 650 acres and milking 82 head of dairy cattle. It's a colorful life and a colorful herd that fills the barn at Plumside, with Holsteins, Brown Swiss and Guernseys taking their spots in the stanchion line up.

Daniel explained the dairy business was begun by his father and mother, Paul and Doris Wolfe, in 1950, with a herd of Guernseys making the money then. Later the Holsteins were added to the string and about five years ago by Arthur and himself.

The Wolfes also are caring for a neighboring farmer's Ayrshires at the present time.

The grand champion Guernsey in the Open and 4-H competition was an aged cow shown by William Romberger. Holding the champ is Daniel Wolfe. Wolfe's sister, Bonnie Sue, 14, showed the reserve grand champion of the 4-H show. Her 3 year old is being held by friend Kyle Brown.

Patrick von Keiserling, 12, of Millersburg exhibited his only Jersey cow, a 3 year old, and claimed top honors in both the Open and Youth shows. Marilyn Deaven's 4 year old Jersey took the reserve grand championships in both shows.

choose from, which does Daniel like best?

"I like the Brown Swiss best," he smiles. "They're gentler. As big as they are, I never gotten kicked. Unlike the Holsteins that you have to break to milk, the Brown Swiss just stand there when the milker goes on for the first time."

As far as production goes, Wolfe boasts their Brown Swiss are turning in records 2,000 pounds over the herd average of 15,000 pounds milk.

The grand champion Guernsey was exhibited by William Romberger, Pitman. And Raymond Buffington, Spring Glen, exhibited the only Milking Shorthorn, a junior calf, Three Springs Ginger 4th.

Open show results are listed with the Youth show results appearing in parenthesis.

Re: House bill #1483
Printer's #1723

Fellow Pennsylvanians:

House bill 1483 is a dangerous infringement on the FREEDOM AND PROPERTY RIGHTS of all citizens of the Commonwealth. You should request a free copy from your representative.

HB 1483 provides for another TAX on your right to drink water from your own well or spring. Page 40 line 10.

HB 1483 confiscates your rights to all water on your own land. The bill says:

The water resources of this Commonwealth are public natural resources held in trust by the Commonwealth for the benefit of all the people. Page 7 line 18

Fellow American, that is right out of the Communist manifesto. That is the doctrine of HITLER-MARX-CASTRO-MAO...IT IS NOT PART OF THE BILL OF RIGHTS or of THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION.

It is not the doctrine of WASHINGTON, JEFFERSON or WILLIAM PENN.

While you read this sentence someone is dying trying to escape the tyranny proposed for all Pennsylvanians by HB 1483.

HB 1483 provides the right of EMINENT-DOMAIN for not only a bureaucracy of the Commonwealth but for certain public utilities-the right to CONFISCATE the water from your well, even after you paid for a permit. Page 36 Line 1-17

HB 1483 provides, "duly authorized agents...are authorized at all reasonable times to enter and examine any property," "The owner shall give the agents...free and unrestricted entry and access." Page 42 lines 21-30. "Upon refusal to grant entry or access, the agent or employee may obtain a search warrant..." Page 43 lines 1-3.

How does a search warrant work? State police gave the following account:

Sunday at 10:30 a.m., members of the Troop obtained a search warrant from to search the residence.

At 11 a.m. the warrant was served by 15 troopers aided by Twp. Police Chief.

HB 1483 provides for the interconnection of YOUR well with others, Page 27 line 29.

I am not suggesting that those members of the House who introduced HB 1483 are communists or communist agents. I am suggesting that they have not read the bill. I am suggesting that every member of the House examine the bill and the effects it will have on the FREEDOM of ALL PENNSYLVANIANS.

The bill was introduced by: Bittle, Kowalshyn, Geist, Lashinger, Noye, Burd, Gannon, Cessar, Cole, Cappabianca, Wass, Michlovic, Steighner, Stewart, Letterman, Greenwood, Itkin, Kanuck, McCall, J.L. Wright, Snyder, Gruppo, Siemenski, Arty, Gladeck, Davies, Manmiller, Boyes, Reber, Nahill, Swift, Burns, Belfanti, Rybak, W.W. Foster, Zwinkl, Heiser, Moehlmann, Sirianni, Saurman, Cornell and Hagarty on June 2, 1981.

Rep. Bittle said, "Watson doesn't understand the bill."

Rep. Manmiller said, "Once other legislators realize the full implications of the proposed bill, I'm sure many of them will be withdrawing their names as sponsors."

Rep. Sirianni said, "My name was removed from HB 1483. As far as I am concerned, their (DER) regulations in the past have proven to be without common sense and I would not trust them to do a better job now."

Rep. Noye, Majority Caucus Chairman said, "I have notified the Majority Leader to remove my name as a sponsor of HB 1483. After reviewing this bill, I have found that it is not in the best interests to the people of the Commonwealth."

Rep. Samuel E. Hayes, Jr., Majority Leader, in a note to Rep. Sirianni said, "This is a bad bill. People would not have control over their own water. Good idea to have your name removed."

Sobering thoughts for all Pennsylvanians.

NO ONE CAN SUPPORT THE CONSTITUTION AND THIS LEGISLATION.

You are the most important soldier in this war. You MUST write your Representative, ask for a free copy of HB 1483, give him your opinion and ask for his.

This battle is just beginning-gird up your loins.

Sincerely,

Andrew J. Watson

Martz shows 'wild' steer to Gratz grand

BY SHEILA MILLER

GRATZ — Seventeen-year-old Steve Martz, the son of Ron and Lorraine Martz, Millersburg, led his first black steer, "Butch", before Judge Ron Trostle's critical eye and came out the winner, here on Wednesday.

Finishing up the Gratz Fair livestock shows, the selection of the grand champion steer found spectators and exhibitors shivering — not necessarily from excitement but from the chilling winds that whipped down through the scenic farm valley of upper Dauphin County.

Braving the elements paid off for Martz who is in his third year of 4-H competition. His 1130-pound Chianina x Angus steer placed first in its heavyweight division before going on for the top title.

It was all the difference between black and white for Martz who purchased his steer last December from a local cattle breeder, Eugene Sweigard, Halifax. The steer was quite a stand out — color-wise at least — amidst the families' 30 purebred Charolais cattle.

When asked what made the difference for him this year, Martz commented with a grin that "you have to have a wilder steer to win — that's what the judges like these days. You saw how he jumped around." What also helped Butch on the road to the championship was the fact that Martz tied him every day and fed him corn, oats, supplement and hay in just the right proportions.

The reserve grand champion steer was another Angus x Chianina crossbred hailing from Lebanon County. Nineteen-year-old Brett Eberly, Newmanstown, added another champion ribbon to his collection in his final year of junior competition. Brett also was selected as the champion senior fitter.

Sister Dorene Eberly, 16, didn't leave her first competition at Gratz Fair without a championship ribbon. She was named champion senior showman.

Steve Martz, Millersburg, exhibited his 1130-pound steer to the grand championship here at Gratz Fair on Wednesday. Making the selection was Judge Ron Trostle, York County, right.

Marc Webster, Halifax and Angus x Chianina steer Mohammed Ali worked their way to Junior Champion Showman honors. Marc explained his mother named the steer that because "he's the greatest."

Lebanon County's Brett Eberly, Newmanstown exhibited the reserve grand champion steer at this year's Gratz Fair, a

Dorene Eberly, Newmanstown, was the champion Senior Showman.

Bryan Eberly, Newmanstown, was the champion Junior Fitter.

Marc Webster, 15, of Halifax. This was Marc's fourth year in 4-H competition. He is the son of Mel and Deb Lebo.

E-town fair features fun and games

ELIZABETHTOWN — The annual Elizabethtown fair gets underway on Tuesday, September 29 with the fair parade at 6:30.

On Wednesday the judging begins with rabbits and swine. Later in the evening visitors will have a chance to bid on their favorite art works at the art auction. The Sweet Adelines will provide harmony during the evening concert.

Dairy cattle judging is featured on Thursday evening after a Jazz Band concert and the Miss Elizabethtown contest.

Friday's schedule offers plenty of visitor participation in tests of strength. At 5 p.m., boys, girls, men and women can compete in the Bale Hay Throwing Contest. Contestants must register between 4:30 p.m. and 5 p.m. Classes are broken down by age and sex.

Friday also continues the livestock judging with beef cattle. Saturday features a garden tractor pulling contest at 11 a.m.

Youngsters will get a chance to test their speed and grip at the greased pig contest at 5 p.m. Saturday. Contestants must be under 18 years of age and 125 pounds. Registration will be between 4:30 p.m. and 5 p.m. with a 50 cent fee. Instead of a blue ribbon, the winner will take home the pig.

Following the pig chase, the sale of champion swine, lambs and beef will begin at 7 p.m. Throughout the final day, Magician Tom Ogden will be on hand with a magic show.

All contestants must be registered by 10:30 a.m. and registration fee is $5. The contest is open to garden tractors with rubber tires, however no four-wheel drives or cut tires are permitted.

Lawn and garden tractors can have a drawbar height of no more than 10 inches and no less than 6 inches. No portion of any tractor may exceed 8 feet forward of the center of the rear wheel or exceed 6 feet in width.

Sheep judging will take place on Saturday, beginning at 2 p.m.

DAILY MANURE HANDLING?

INVEST IN A SLURRYSTORE® SYSTEM.
IT'S LIKE HAVING MONEY IN THE BANK!

The SLURRYSTORE® System can put an end to daily manure handling once and for all. Daily hauling is not only an offensive job, but inefficient use of the nutrients in manure. With the SLURRYSTORE System, you don't haul manure until you really need it — like after the first cutting or in the fall to maximize results in spring crops.

With the rising cost of commercial fertilizer, don't you think a SLURRYSTORE System is worth looking into?

Zeigler is elected president of PennAg

BUCK HILL FARMS — Thomas R. Zeigler, Zeigler Brothers, Gardners; was elected president of PennAg Industries Association at the organization's 103rd annual meeting last week. His term, as with all others elected, begins January 1, 1982. He replaces Morris Brown, Jr., F.M. Brown's Sons, Fleetwood; who currently serves as president.

Vice-presidents named to office include: William L. Brubaker, Organic Plant Food Co., Lancaster; George Bankley, S.F. Scattergood and Co., Narberth; and Ralph Getkin, Getkin Associates, Norristown. Treasurer John J. Hess, II, John J. Hess, II, Inc., Paradise, was re-elected.

Timothy Horn, Pennfield Corporation, Lancaster, a director of the Association, was also re-

Newly elected directors include: Gordon Bierman, Central Soya Co., Camp Hill; Roger Shuck, Mifflinburg Farmers Exchange, Inc., Mifflinburg; Janet E. Hines, Hines Feed Store, Holidaysburg; and Wilfred P. Sutton, Lovatt and Co., Ambler.

Executive Vice-President Donald W. Parke, in announcing plans for retirement on July 1, 1982, highlighted the progress made by the Association in the 22 years he served in that capacity. The Board announced that written applications for the position will be accepted thru February 15. Employment will begin May 1.

The statewide trade association of agribusiness firms will hold its 1982 Convention September 14-16 at the Holiday Inn, Harrisburg, PA.

Morris completes training at ABS

OXFORD — Steve Morris, of Oxford, has completed an intensive two-week Artificial Insemination Training Program at Madison, Wis. The course was conducted by American Breeders Service.

The training program is designed to provide new ABS Service Representatives with a solid background in all areas of A.I. management and semen distribution.

During the two week program, the ABS Representatives received technical instruction and workshop experience in insemination technique, semen handling, record keeping, cattle breeding programs and A.I. management for dairy and beef herds.

Upon successful completion of the course, Representatives are awarded an ABS Representative Training Program Certificate.

Sire Power names new W. Pa. manager

TUNKHANNOCK — Horst Schubert, Boonville, N.Y., is the new District Sales Manager in Western Pa., according to Ronald L. Flatness, Sire Power's Director of Marketing.

Schubert will be managing established areas and opening up new territory for Sire Power in Western Pa. His duties will include direct herd semen sales, delivery of semen, supplies and nitrogen direct to the farm, teaching A.I. Training Schools, supervising A.I. Technicians, and promotion of the Young Sire Sampling Program.

Schubert brings to his new position a strong background in A.I. Previously, Schubert was employed as a sales and service technician for Eastern Artificial Insemination Cooperative, Inc., Ithaca, N.Y. for 11 years. He was responsible for sales increases in 6 of those years and built the first service sales to over 4,000 during the past 5 years. From 1974 to 1981, he supervised field training of new technicians to evaluate job performance and served on the Eastern Technician Advisory Council.

Schubert, his wife and two children, will relocate to Western Pennsylvania.

Scott announces white udder wipe

PHILADELPHIA — A new, hygienically-white udder wipe that absorbs about 40% more cleaning solution as the leading competitor—and does it in less than a quarter of the time—has been introduced to the dairy industry by Scott Paper Co.

Called "Sani-Prep", the new single-service, disposable towel has already been enthusiastically accepted by the many dairymen who helped put it through "hands-on" testing.

Single-service towels are recommended for both washing and drying by the National Mastitis Council as a means of helping prevent the disease spreading from cow to cow. The Council estimates each case of mastitis costs a dairy at least $100 in lost production and veterinary expenses.

The new Scott "Sani-Prep" towels costs less than 3/4 of a cent

Quarryville FLBA opening

The new Quarryville Office of the Federal Land Bank Association and the Lancaster Production Credit Association is open for business.

Formal opening was held last week.

Office personnel include, from the left, Teri Young, secretary/clerk typist; Gary Dean, loan officer; Father Murphy, secretary/clerk typist;

Scott Bauernmaster, field representative; Vonnie Raftovich, secretary/clerk typist; Eric Probst, field representative; Liz Gibson, senior office assistant; and Ronald Bard, associate manager.

The office is located at Rt. 222 and Scotland Road.

Nuclear company develops soil compaction measurer

PACHECO, CA. — A new instrument for measuring soil compaction and moisture that can go back to the original point and measure again and again is announced by Campbell Pacific Nuclear Corporation. Conventional methods, they claim, are destructive so that the original point cannot be measured again.

The Strataprobe takes the measuring of soil compaction out of the laboratories to the farmer, the forester, their consultants and research personnel.

For the first time, without disturbing soil or living plants, this instrument quickly can sort out tillage and trafficking effects on field and forest soils which can affect plant germination and growth. This cannot be done by putting the soil in a can and taking it to the laboratory because the very act changes the important oxygen/water relationship in the soil. It must be done in the field.

Dry Bulk Density can be measured in the laboratory. But all plant root systems only develop and grow in WET Bulk Density. The new probe is capable of measuring Wet Bulk Density quickly in the field without disturbing soil or living plants.

Until now probes have been heavy and ungainly in the field, and are said to be relatively inaccurate in lightweight soils. The new, handier gauge reportedly works well in all ranges from lightweight to maximum density — from forest peat soils to solid granite.

All growing plants depend upon root zone aeration, water, nutrients and lack of mechanical stress (compaction) in the soil. Compacted soil contains less pore space for both water and air and when rain or irrigation water is added aeration is decreased even more. Dense soil, even with adequate water, may not allow seeds to germinate and come up. The new Strataprobe reveals such problems.

For more information write Campbell Pacific Nuclear Corporation, 130 South Buchanan Circle, Pacheco, California 94553.

According to Scott, the exceptional absorbency of the "Sani-Prep" towel is because it is both embossed, and minutely perforated. Dairy towels that are neither embossed nor perforated absorb water mostly through the edges.

"Sani-Prep" towels, on the other hand, are able to take up water on both sides as well as through the edges.

Computer hedging helps put more $$$ in Del. farmers' pockets

NEWARK, Del. — Today's grain farmer faces the toughest cost-price squeeze in the history of modern agriculture.

"If the modern commercial farm is to survive the economic environment of the 1980s, marketing decisions must become increasingly efficient and profitable," says University of Delaware Extension crops marketing specialist Carl German.

To help Delaware grain producers market their crops more effectively, German has put together a production hedging model which can be run on a computer. The service is available now, practically free.

The model works for either owned or rented land of any value on any size farm. It starts from scratch in that it first computes the cost of production. All you need to know is how much you spent (or will spend) on each input item per acre. Everything is entered as acquisition value — actual or anticipated cost.

Once this data is entered, the model computes a target price for your crop, based on anticipated yield, desired profit and desired return to management.

"Suggested profit margins and per bushel return to management are given," says German, "but users are free to enter their own goals as part of the process of arriving at a target price."

The program can be run at several different futures prices and anticipated yield levels. It is designed for corn, soybeans, and wheat, and will handle potatoes as well.

Having established your target price, the model next helps determine the localized futures price for your crop in any given futures contract month. The output from the model then gives you the anticipated benefit from hedging at that time.

This information is contained in a column on the printout listed as "Decision." A return of zero or greater indicates that hedging on the commodity futures market is profitable. A negative number indicates that hedging should not be done at that particular time.

The program gives the anticipated benefit from hedging at various farm sizes, land values and crop yield — the three factors having the greatest effect on crop profitability. And it is set up in such a way that a farmer can compare the profitability of his own operation and pricing options with those of a typical farm operation of a similar size.

Incidentally, right now the model for the most part indicates negative returns from hedging either current crop corn or soybeans at various farm sizes, land values and yields.

"Just getting returns to equal production costs, excluding returns to management and profits, is difficult at this time," says German.

All the calculations involved in running the program could be done by hand, but using the computer is a lot faster. And because the machine does all the math so quickly, more variables can be looked at.

Though production hedging grain opportunities for this year have nearly gone by, growers can use the model now to look at anticipated benefits from hedging stored grain and from production hedging their 1982 crops.

"That's getting way ahead," he says. "But that's what you've got to do these days in order to realize the greatest return on the grain crops we grow in Delaware."

German plans to demonstrate this new computer model to farmers at a hedging seminar December 1 and 2. But the program is available for use right now.

To use it, all you have to do is call up and make an appointment to meet with German. During that meeting you will provide him with the information needed to tailor the program to your own farm operation. He will enter this data and run the program while you wait. It only takes a few minutes. And you will then have a chance to discuss the resulting print out with him. The only cost involved is a fee to cover time on the computer. This should amount to less than $1.

In time, Delaware growers should be able to access the computer and run their own hedging analyses via terminals in Extension offices around the state. The program may also be made available to farmers who have a home mini-computer system.

"I think this model should improve the competitiveness of our farmers," says the economist. "It will make a big difference to someone who wants to do a good job marketing."

He feels growers need to start planning their market strategies a year ahead of time. Sometimes that means being priced in a hedged position far in advance of production. This program will make this easier to do so. He thinks using it will help growers develop better marketing habits and hold more realistic pricing expectations.

"It should be emphasized," he says, "that as much as this program will help farmers work toward higher average returns on the crops they grow, its most important benefit should be that they understand and use hedging in the futures market as a tool to reduce price risk — reduction of price risk being the primary objective of any hedging program."

For further information about the new computer hedging program and how to use it, call or write: Carl German, Extension Crops Marketing Specialist, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19711 302/738-2511.

Silo gas is no laugh

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Once again, farmers are reminded to beware of the lethal effects of silo gas.

Silo gas (nitrogen dioxide) forms as green plants ferment and is especially dangerous shortly after the plants are ensiled, said David Baker, University of Missouri-Columbia farm safety specialist.

The oxygen used in fermentation and the nitrates in the plant are released as nitric oxide. This gas quickly escapes from the silage and combines with oxygen in the air to form toxic nitrogen dioxide.

The lethal gas is yellowish brown and smells like some laundry bleaches, Baker said.

Depending on its concentration, presence of the gas can be recognized by a burning sensation in the nose, throat and chest.

"Exposure to heavy concentrations can lead to death within seconds," Baker said.

"Lighter concentrations or exposure for shorter periods may cause extensive lung damage. Or you could die from pneumonia within hours after exposure."

Baker says silage gas forms shortly after filling and may persist for two to three weeks.

"Best bet is to stay clear of the silo for the full three weeks," Baker said.

"Even after this period, it's a good idea to run the forage blower or 15 to 20 minutes before entering the structure. While the blower is running, keep the door open closest to the top of the silage."

Ventilate silo feed rooms with open windows and fans during the three-week danger period.

"Keep the door tightly closed between the silo feed room and livestock."

Baker said that silo areas should be off limits to children and visitors during the danger period.

"If you experience the slightest throat irritation or coughing around a silo," said Baker, "get into the fresh air at once."

"See your doctor immediately if you suspect that you have been exposed to silo gas."

"If someone has to enter a silo during the three-week peak danger period, they should wear a self-contained breathing apparatus."

"The silo should be ventilated for at least 20 minutes before entry. Also, a life line should be attached to someone outside of the silo to pull the victim out if they are overcome while in the silo."

Drill With The International "5100 Special"

Outstanding accuracy begins with IH feed cups that deliver seed uniformly. Dual rib press wheels then compact the soil around the seed, and gently "pat" the top to prevent air holes. Result: uniform germination and emergence, a start toward higher yields.

The Key To Faster
Emergence Is This IH
Dual Rib Press Wheel

BEFORE YOU BUY A DISC HARROW COMPARE A KRAUSE

Krause is unequalled

COMPARE QUALITY:

TIE RODS AND SPOOLS

Alloy steel tie rods are 1 3/4" in diameter on heavy duty units (1 1/2" on medium duty). There's a nut on both ends for easy servicing. Krause spools are ductile iron and weigh 20-30 lbs. each. Precision machined with large diameter bells to fit snug against disc blade. SPOOLS ARE KRAUSE MADE.

COMPARE DESIGN:

FRAMES

Engineered of super strength steel tubing with cross braces and gussets at major stress points.

WING HINGES

Krause uses big 1 3/4" diameter bolts on HD units (1 1/2" on medium duty) with over 10" of wear surface area.

COMPARE PERFORMANCE: "ROCKFLEX" BEARING ARMS

Krause invented the Rockflex" arm in 1965. This C-shaped arm flexes over obstacles. It helps protect disc blades and spools from breakage.

We have over 300 rock-flex discs in the fields of PA, MD, NJ and DE. These Krause owners continue to prove daily that the Krause disc levels and cuts better than any other disc they've ever owned.

COMPARE PRICE: $ PER LB. KRAUSE DISC HARROWS ARE CHEAPER THAN THE MAJORS

"I'll sell you this new Massey at my invoice price."

Massey-Ferguson
DEALER WHOLESALE INVOICE

$43,538.80 MF550 S.N. 4360

It sounds incredible, and it is. But now, thanks to some outstanding factory allowances from Massey-Ferguson that I'm working with, I can sell you this new MF machine at my invoice price. C'mon in. I'll show you the invoice, and you can see how much you can save if you buy now.

You'll find unbeatable values on our other new Massey equipment, too — tractors, combines, implements, hay tools, and industrial machines. So come in now and Make-A-Deal. These offers have to end soon and are subject to prior sale.

Now more than ever.
Massey makes sense.

TORQUE AMPLIFIER, CLUTCH & TRANSMISSION PARTS & SERVICE

HEAVY DUTY CLUTCH SPECIAL

Heavy duty clutch disc & pressure plate for IH Louisville line of tractors 451, 454, 464, 574, 674 584 & 684. Features an 8 pad clutch disc & 9 spring pressure plate to replace the 3 spring pressure plate and 3, 4, or 6 pad clutch disc that came in these tractors from factories. The design of our pressure plate provides considerable more lockup pressure w/o increasing required pedal pressure or causing a grabby clutch, and is proving to be an excellent clutch for tractors where clutch is subjected to severe use. This combination is priced regularly at $350. Now $325.

Rebuilt TA assemblies in stock for IH tractors, New and Rebuilt; Water Pumps, Dynalife clutches, pressure plates, and PTO drive shafts (are spline fitted into pressure plate; IN STOCK for tractors A, B, C through 1586, also for most models of IH combines Complete TA assemblies for 706-1586 are priced at $550 and come with a Dana Co. Heavy Duty Sprag instead of the usual IH sprag. The Dana sprag is guaranteed for 2 yrs. against failure. Sprag kits (includes sprag gear, Dana sprag & piston carrier) and all items for rebuilding your own TA assembly are available to qualified persons. Ramps and carriers for older style TA's (as in SMTA-340-560) are priced at $150 each and carry a 90 day guarantee. We have parts needed for TA repair in stock at prices which will save you money. Shop is available for complete TA installation or split the tractor yourself and send the center housing to us. Complete rebuilt center housings available on exchange basis or for installation in tractors which did not have TA from factory.

Selling parts from the following:

Please have part no. when calling if possible.

SMOOTH SPREADING... THE KNIGHT SPREADER.

Equipped as follows: top beater, endgate with dual cylinder hose to tractor, Gratz double web-worm gear drive, copper-bearing corrosion resistant box, tandem on 10.00x20 tires.

New 1 Only at $5,700 our lot AT OLD PRICE

Buy this heavy duty spreader and that will be the last manure spreader you will have to buy for many years! Why? Because of copper bearing steel to resist rust, heavy under carriage, Gratz 4 channel Web, no paddles to replace with auger ripper wide spread which also gives a finer more uniform spreading. No more big piles of manure laying around in your field. Buy now and end your spreader problems.

FARM EQUIPMENT

GEHL MODEL 1000 CORN & FORAGE HARVESTER

turn easier than most comparable models

This is one of the many reasons they Out-Perform and Out-Last The Competition

The jetaway spinner delivery system is exclusive to Gehl's 1000 and 1250 forage harvesters. It actually gives material a running start into the blower hurling it at nearly 40 mph. no cross augers to plug.

- 1000 Base unit with 11Lx15 flotation tires
- Electric Spout controls
- Electric Transmission Shifter
- Hydraulic in Head Knife Sharpener that you never need to remove knives.

Another very important feature is over-running cylinder fly wheel and blower fan clutches. This saves tractor PTO clutch brakes and is not offered on John Deere, New Holland or IH choppers. Comparable sizes of competitive models.

John Deere 3960
New Holland 892

Hesston 7150
IH 881

Now! Gehl means more quality & performance than ever before. Now offering a One Only Special in Stock Gehl Model 1000 Harvester with the following features:

- Over running clutch on cylinder and blower fan are standard equipment, which saves tractor PTO clutch brakes (not offered on John Deere 3960, New Holland 892, or IH 881)
- Floating head mechanism.
- In line wagon hitch with Harvester tractor hitch.
- 2 row, low profile corn head with no pitman stalk cutting knife & cylinder & hoses to operate header lift.

Ready For Your Field At Only

On this unit only. Also available with 30% down, bal. due May 1, 1982.

We also have a smaller Model 750 in stock and a larger Model 1250 (comparable capacity of self-propelled units) in stock.

8640 4-W-DHeavy-duty power for heavy-duty work

You're talking big jobs when you consider the potential of 275 engine hp/225 PTO hp. And big jobs require a heavy-duty tractor. That's why we're pleased to tell you about the John Deere 8640.

We have this tractor in stock at a 1980 price and it is ready for delivery. Ready to sell at 5% above dealer net. Call for price today.

GENUINE
FILTERS

All filters may look alike on the outside, but it's what's inside that counts. John Deere filters — engine oil, air, fuel, hydraulic and coolant conditioner filters — are built to specifications set by John Deere engineers who understand your equipment. And production runs are checked regularly to make sure they provide the protection your equipment needs.

PERFORMANCE PROFILEJohn Deere's 70-hp 2640 offers high-torque performance

John Deere offers real performance in the 2640 — a tractor famous for its 70-hp lugging ability. Big hitch lift capacity, an electronic instrument panel and a completely adjustable seat round out really tough performance. An 8-speed collar-shift transmission is standard and is available with an optional direction reverser or a Hi-Lo option that doubles your choice of speeds. For real 70-hp performance, stop in for more information on the John Deere 2640.

Harvest Time SPECIAL VALUES

Boost speed and grain savings on slopes to 18 percent with a John Deere SideHill 6620

On slopes as steep as 18 percent the John Deere SideHill 6620 Combine eliminates the need to slow down to prevent crop loss. Automatic separator leveling from feeder house through cleaning shoe lets you make full use of combine productivity. As the separator levels the header pivots to parallel the ground.

You get a 145 hp 466 cubic inch diesel engine. The cylinder width is 44 inches. The 14-bar concave adjustable finger bar and one-to-one beater to cylinder speed provide a smooth flow of material through the separator area. Straw walkers are 150 inches long. There's the Sound Gard™ styled cab with Personal-Posture™ seat for your comfort.

Matched platforms with flexible cutterbar come in sizes from 13 to 22 feet — with rigid cutterbar from 13 to 22 feet. And there are 4 and 6 row corn heads and row crop heads. Improve your productivity on the slopes. See us now.

The Powr-Mizer Forage Harvesters — the capacity you've wanted with the horsepower you already have Squeeze extra work out of your tractor with the power-stingy 3940 and 3960 Forage Harvesters. Power-efficient features start with the 36- or 48-knife Dura-Drum™ cutterheads. These extra knives shear your crop into a fine-cut, uniform forage. And you can keep the knives cutting at peak performance with the quick-adjust stationary knife. Easy-access design lets you save your back and your temper, since there's no stooping and no shield removal. It only takes a wrench and less than 3 minutes to get an accurate adjustment.

Power efficiency continues with a special 2-speed blower. One speed lets you power through tough crops, like haylage, while the slower setting conserves energy on easy-to-blow crops.

Come by and see all the Powr-Mizer features on the 3940 and 3960 Forage Harvesters.

GUNITE Silo Relining & Repairs

Extensive tests have been conducted on Gunite. Below are some of the properties of Gunite:

1. Excellent bonding
2. High Density
3. Extreme strength and hardness
4. High resistance to absorption

The excellent physical properties of the material are due to the water content being only the amount needed to satisfy chemical hydration.

Reseal and re-strengthen your silo with Gunite.

WANTED

Stocked and equipped dairy farm to purchase or lease-purchase with owner financing. Young dairyman with family already milking 30 Holsteins with 17,000 lbs. herd average, partly registered with young stock, looking to expand herd to meet rising expenses. Possibility for ailing or retiring dairyman to see dairy operation continue without a dispersal or real estate agent's involvement. Large acreage not as important as feed supply and cow comfort. No free stall or milking parlor. Prefer PA. or N.Y. but will answer all reasonable replies. Would also consider dairy without cows as long as good feed supply available. Have no down payment but excellent ten year record with dairy co-op and lots of determination.

The great new deal from Leyland Tractors

Have you seen the great new range of agricultural tractors now available from Leyland Tractor dealers? They're quality engineered by a company which manufactures and markets a wide range of agricultural tractors, trucks and buses worldwide.

Based in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, Leyland have introduced a new breed of mid-range high quality chassis-built tractors that are versatile, strong and offer fuel economy better than most tractors on the market.

The tractors, painted in a new 'Golden Harvest' color are based on a range of two or four wheel drive versions, offering horsepower from 47-82 B.H.P. Identified as the 500, 600, 700 and 800 series, the range has all the features that you would expect of a quality tractor such as high capacity live hydraulics, multi-speed P.T.O., oil immersed disc brakes, an award winning synchro transmission providing full shuttle capability, a proven diesel engine with excellent lugging power and economy right across the R.P.M. range and a two year or 3000 hours warranty package.

The best feature of all is Leyland's new 'Explorer' cab — it's the best on the market and gives the farmer a great deal more comfort and a better working environment that reduces driver fatigue and increases productivity. Beautifully styled and designed the new Leyland 'Explorer' cab provides unbeatable standards of comfort, visibility and noise levels.

Leyland's North American Tractor Operations is staffed by real professionals and the sales, service and parts operation has been completely re-organized to insure that your local dealer has total factory support.

If you would like to know more about Leyland's exciting new tractor range, contact your local dealer or contact our Customer Relations department.

Leyland are also looking for new dealers in selected areas. If you are interested in finding out whether you match our standards and are interested in handling a tractor that has a great deal more to offer, write or phone...

Timothy Newcomer, Newville, planted the sunflowers, a bird delicacy, in hopes of attracting a variety of birds to his wildlife haven - but the rather oversized sunflowers have attracted more than the birds.

A farm as a wildlife haven?

BY BETH HEMMINGER
Staff Correspondent

A farm - what an unusual place for a wildlife haven some may say, but Timothy Newcomer, Newville, understood the necessity for wildlife improvement and transformed portions of the unused family farm into a registered National Wildlife Haven.

He became interested in developing a haven on the farm while enrolled in a wildlife management course at King's Gap Environmental Center, Huntingdale. His primary reason for enrolling in the course was a love of wildlife and nature — and after a few weeks in the class he soon began to realize that he could play an important part in wildlife management right on the farm.

WHY a farm wildlife haven? — was a big question in everyone's mind as Tim began to plan.

Tim explained that the farm wildlife haven is no "far-fetched" idea; it is just a basic understanding of the cycles of nature. He noted that the necessity of wildlife improvement on farm and woodlot acres has long been recognized by the Pennsylvania Game Commission. During the 1930s, interest steadily increased in the application of development practices to provide better homes for game birds and animals as well as song and insectivorous birds. But, during the past decade, interest in farm-wildlife declined and manicured farms increased causing a decrease in wildlife. This decline in wildlife on the farm should be distressing to the farmer, but few realize the harm that it is causing them.

King's Gap Environmental Center's naturalist, Janet Adams explains why farms need wildlife.

"Every farm is a complex community which is successful only if the living things in it are working together creating nature's cycle," she said.

But how do farms and wildlife mix as a community? Mrs. Adams explains in-depth that the farm community of living things is supported by the soil. In this community are the plants and animals that convert nutrients, moisture, and sunshine into food and fiber for man's support and into trees, grass, flowers, and enjoyment of wildlife. It is a successful community only if the living things in it are working for the benefit of the whole community.

If there are not enough grasses in the community, most soil loses its ability to take up and hold moisture. It may become eroded lose some of its ability to produce corn for hogs. If there are not enough squirrels, there will be fewer acorns planted and in time there will be fewer oaks. If there are not enough cottontails — one of whose functions is to feed foxes, foxes may look to the farmer's poultry for food.

But, if there are too few foxes to eat meadow mice, there may be so many mice that there will be less alfalfa for dairy cows. If there are not enough songbirds there may be too many destructive insects, resulting in a shortage of grain for cattle.

However, there must be useful insects to pollinate alfalfa, red clover, and sweet clover, or these crops will not produce seeds.

Mrs. Adams remarked, "There you can see the on-going circle in which the farm and wildlife are tightly intermingled and should not be overlooked or mismanaged."

"With the help of people like Tim, farmers and farming communities can become better educated about wildlife management and help replenish the wildlife resources," she said.

Tim began planning his wildlife haven and noted that while no two wildlife animals have the same requirements for living, they all have the basic four requirements for living; food, water, cover as protection from natural enemies and the elements; and areas where they can reproduce and bear their young in safety.

Designing his wildlife world, he wanted to attract more of nature's "beautiful creatures" around the house for him and his family to enjoy. The old farm house is surrounded by pastures with a large wooded area in the rear. Tim remarked that he observed wildlife in the pastures and woods, but his interest was in attracting a variety of songbirds, waterfowl and mammals that are in depleting numbers in the area, such as the hummingbird, bluebirds, ducks, minks and muskrats.

Tim stated that the bird population was of special interest to him. During his research of the numerous bird habitats and populations he realized that no where do birds and man live closer, no where does man affect birds more, and no where do birds affect man more than on the farm. Naturalist Janet Adams chimed in saying that much of the work of the farm is spent in shaping the nature of his land; which in turn largely determines which birds and how many can live there.

She said, "Consequently, birds affect — for better or worse — the farmer, his crops, livestock, buildings, woodlots, and equipment."

Mrs. Adams remarked that farmers today are realizing the benefits of birds because of their depleting numbers. Almost all farmers reported insect control as a benefit from birds along with recreational and aesthetic value, rodent and rabbit control, weed control, food for the table, income from hunting, and scavenger activities.

After learning about the birds plight, Tim went to work building several attractive bird homes for the bluebird, wrens, martins and chickadees. He also hoped to attract quail, grouse, woodpeckers, hummingbird and mourning dove with food patches scattered throughout the haven.

Since his haven was already occupied by mature trees and shrubs, he planted low vegetation, and seedling plants such as the sunflower to attract the nesting birds.

The haven's water is supplied naturally by a stream in the pasture. But Tim was in the experimenting mood and wanted to add an attractive feature to his haven with a bird bath. The bird bath was a simple design with a wash basin and hole. He dug a hole the same size of the wash basin and placed the basin in it keeping the water fresh and easily removable.

Adams remarked that Tim's haven is just one unique way of providing and attracting specific wildlife near your home or farm. However, all farm wildlife havens need not be as specialized and the farmer can provide the basic four needs by just following a few conservation steps in their farming methods.

One such conservation farming method would be to leave a hundred feet or so along the borders of fields for later mowing which leaves the nest unharmed and gives the young wildlife time to leave it.

Another conservation step would be providing good shelter and escape cover in "odd areas" which are eroded areas in crop fields, bare knobs, sink holes, sand blowouts, large gullies, abandoned roads and more. In these "odd areas" Adams suggests that the farmer plant bush honeysuckle, dogwoods, multiflora rose, conifers or other ground covers which will provide the needed shelter and make the unuseful "odd areas" useful.

A wildlife habitat that has faded into the past, but provide an excellent home for farm wildlife, was the fence rows and hedges according to Adams. All of the old rail fences and hedges provided cover of one kind or another close to the farmer's fields where food could be found. Then came the invention of the barbed- and the woven-wire fences easier to construct than any of their predecessors and less wasteful of valuable cropland. These type of fences provide no cover for wildlife. Consequently, a new kind of fence has gained popularity along with wildlife management on the farm said Adams. It is the living fence of close-growing shrubs.

Mrs. Adams noted that recent tests have shown that shrubby fence rows harbor fewer harmful and many more beneficial kinds of wildlife than do grassy fence rows on the farm.

The naturalist remarked that those are just a few of the simple ways a farmer can contribute to wildlife management on their farm with little cost.

Tim's wildlife haven is a prime example of what can be attracted by the appropriate habitat said Adams. Upon completing his wildlife haven, Tim's efforts were quickly rewarded when a mourning dove nestled in the undergrowth, a downy woodpecker stopped in for a few days, a tufted titmouse is making its home, and squirrels scamper about daily.

Adams remarked, "After a year of those kinds of visitors, Tim will have a bulging wildlife journal."

Block to lead U.S. Food and Ag delegation

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block plans to lead the U.S. delegation to the twenty-first conference of the United Nations' Food and Agriculture Organization in Rome Nov. 7-12.

The conference, which is expected to be attended by representatives of 147 member nations; many of them ministers of agriculture, will continue through

Nov. 26.

Block will speak at the opening session on USDA policies and programs as they contribute to the solution of world food problems and the work of the FAO.

Conference participants will consider food and agricultural aspects of the United Nations' international development strategy for the 1980's and review and approve a program of work and budget for the FAO over the next two years.

Conceived at a 44-nation meeting in Hot Springs, Va., in 1943, the FAO had its first conference in Quebec in October 1945. FAO seeks to improve the production and distribution of food and agricultural products and to raise the level of nutrition for all people of the world. It is also concerned with improving conditions of rural populations and improving the economies of its member nations.

WATER - THE NECESSARY INGREDIENT

Water is one of the most critical substances on earth for human survival, more important to life than food. A person can exist for weeks without food, but only days without water.

Water is a part of every cell, even the solid tissues that form bone. It accounts for approximately 50-60% of adult body weight. It is needed for the various chemical reactions that occur in the body. Specifically, water is necessary for:

Temperature control - cooling the body through perspiration, allowing heat to escape when water evaporates on the skin.

Transport - moving nutrients and oxygen to cells, waste products out of the body, enzymes to reaction sites, and blood cells throughout the circulatory system.

Lubrication - moistening tissues in the nose and mouth and facilitating the swallowing of food and the movement of joints and visceral muscles.

Adults require approximately two quarts of water daily. Actual amounts vary with body size, diet, the amount of physical activity, temperature and humidity. For example, hot weather and strenuous activity increase an individual's need for water. High levels of protein or salt also increase water needs.

As a general rule, adults should drink six to eight glasses of liquids daily to assure enough water for bodily functions. Recommended liquids include water, milk and fruit juices. Diuretics, such as coffee, tea, caffeine-containing soft drinks and alcohol may result in water loss rather than retention.

The human body obtains water not only from beverages but also from food and internal metabolic processes. Although beverages furnish the greatest share of our water needs, solid and semi-solid foods provide a surprising amount of water.

Water accounts for almost two-thirds of adult body weight and is involved in so many vital processes that it is now commonly categorized as a nutrient. Like vitamins, minerals, carbohydrates, fat and protein, water is definitely necessary for life.

SOME FACTS ABOUT SUGAR

If you have been reading food labels or keeping an eye on supermarket shelves, you are probably aware that sugar comes under a variety of different names. Among the most common are sucrose, glucose, fructose, galactose, lactose and maltose.

Actually, all sugars are a form of carbohydrates which we need for energy. Some are called monosaccharides because they contain one simple unit of sugar. These include: glucose which is also called blood sugar or dextrose; galactose, found only in milk and fructose, which comes from honey and fruits.

Other sugars, called disaccharides, are made of two monosaccharides joined together. These include: sucrose, a combination of fructose and glucose and present in sugar cane and sugar beets; lactose, made of glucose and galactose, and found only in milk and maltose, also called malt sugar, which is two glucose units combined and occurs in grains.

As surprising as it may seem, all of these sweeteners react the same way once they are absorbed into the bloodstream. Another surprise: all of these sugars are the same in their caloric content. Each contains four calories per gram.

There's nothing like beef

There's nothing like delicious, juicy, tender beef at the close of a cold autumn day. Try some for supper tonight along with your favorite vegetables and rolls.

Beef is commonly known as America's favorite meat — little wonder when we dine out and see the prices steaks and roast beef bring.

But you don't have to dine out to get delicious beef — try some of these recipes if you've exhausted your own supply.

NO CRUST BEEF PIE

2 T. chopped onion
2 T. shortening
2 c. mashed potatoes
1 lb. ground beef
3/4 c. beef bouillon or gravy salt and pepper
2 eggs

1 T. minced parsley
Saute the onion in the shortening until tender and golden brown. Mix with the mashed potatoes, ground beef and bouillon or gravy. If gravy is used, thin it with a little milk.

Add salt and pepper and any other seasonings or flavoring sauce you prefer.

Add beaten egg yolks and parsley and mix well.

Fold in the stiffly beaten egg white. Spoon the mixture into a greased baking dish and bake at 350 degrees for about an hour.

The pie will be light and puffy.
Mrs. Charles Biehl, Mertztown

SPEEDY SOUP-ER BEEF

1 lb. ground beef
1 t. salt
1/2 t. marjoram
1 can mushroom pieces and stems
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 pkg. frozen green beans, defrosted
2 med. tomatoes cooked noodles or Chinese noodles

Cook ground beef in large frying pan until lightly browned; pour off drippings.

Sprinkle salt and marjoram over meat; add mushrooms including liquid, mushroom soup and green beans. Cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cut each tomato into 8 wedges; add to mixture and continue cooking 1 to 2 minutes or until heated through. Serve on cooked noodles or Chinese noodles.

BEEF VEGETABLE SOUP

2 lb. beef chuck
6 c. water
1 can tomatoes, 28 oz.
2 medium onions, chopped
1 c. sliced celery
2 garlic cloves, minced
1 T. salt
1 3/4 t. chili powder
1/4 t. ground pepper
1 20-oz. can chick peas or red kidney beans

Cut beef into 1 inch cubes, place in a Dutch oven or large saucepan with next 8 ingredients. Simmer, covered 2 hours or until meat is tender, breaking tomatoes up with a spoon. Add chick peas or kidney beans and heat about 5 minutes. If beef has bone, add to soup while cooking.
Mrs. Paul Sauder, East Earl

one 3 1/2 to 4 lb. beef chuck pot roast
2 T. cooking oil
1 c. water
one 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1/2 c. dry red wine
1 carrot, finely chopped one 3-oz. can chopped mushrooms
1 T. minced onion
1 t. salt
1 t. instant beef bouillon
1 bay leaf

In a 6-quart pressure cooker, brown roast in hot oil. Combine 1 cup water, sauce wine, carrot, undrained mushrooms, onion, salt, bouillon and bay leaf. Pour over meat. Be sure meat or liquid does not go over 3/4 full line on cooker. Close cover securely. Place over high heat to bring pressure up to 15 pounds. Adjust heat so pressure regulator rocks gently. Cook 30 minutes.

Remove from heat. Bring pressure down quickly with cold water. When steam no longer escapes, remove regulator, then lid. Skim fat from juices. Blend cornstarch (1/4 c.) and 1/2 c. cold water. Stir into juices. Cook till bubbly. Garnish with parsley.

ITALIAN BEEF SANDWICHES

1 lb. thinly sliced cooked beef
1 can beef consomme
1/2 c. catsup
1/4 c. water
1 med. onion, cut in slices
1 green pepper
1 large clove garlic
1 t. Italian seasoning
4 to 5 pieces French bread
Combine consomme, catsup, water, onion, green pepper, minced garlic, and Italian seasoning in large saucepan. Bring to a boil; add beef, cover tightly and cook slowly 15 minutes.

Drain off and reserve cooking liquid; dip cut surfaces of bottom and top halves of bread in the liquid. Place hot beef and vegetables on bottom halves and cover with tops of bread. Serve remaining liquid with sandwiches. Mrs. Aaron Smiles, Baltimore

1 lb. ground beef
1/2 c. barbecue sauce
1 T. minced onion
2 T. brown sugar
1 can biscuits
3/4 c. cheese, grated
In large skillet, brown hamburger, drain and add sauce, onion and brown sugar, and set aside. Separate biscuits into whatever amount that's in the package. This is enough for 12 but can get as many as 15 from it if needed. Place each into ungreased muffin tins, pressing the dough up the sides to form an edge around the cup.

Spoon meat mixture into the cups. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown.

Charlotte Hill, Blairsville

SWEDISH MEAT BALLS

2 lb. ground beef
2 eggs
1 c. dry bread crumbs
1 1/2 c. milk
1/2 c. finely chopped onion
2 t. salt
1/8 t. pepper
1/8 t. nutmeg
2 T. butter
1/4 c. flour
1 can condensed beef broth
1 t. dill weed

Combine meat, eggs, crumbs, 1/2 c. milk, onion, salt, pepper and nutmeg; mix lightly. Shape into approximately 7 dozen 1-inch balls. Brown in butter over medium heat. Place meat balls in 2-quart casserole. Reserve 1/4 c. pan drippings. Stir flour into drippings; mix until blended. Add beef broth, 1 c. milk and dill weed; cook

Lancaster Co. Society 7

Society 7 met Saturday, September 12 at the home of Miriam Beane, Lancaster.

Roll call was - "How we can improve our Farm Society."

Verna Rohrer conducted the program. She showed pictures from her Alaska trip.

The next meeting will be the birthday dinner, Saturday, October 10, 6:30 p.m. at Bird-in-Hand Restaurant.

The program will be by Dorothy Parner.

Lancaster Co. Society 28

Lancaster County Society 28 recently met for their September meeting at the home of Mrs. Donald High.

For roll call, each member responded by naming their favorite TV program. For the program, Ann Becker presented "Get to know your Amish neighbor."

Anyone who desires County Convention tickets should contact the president, Rhoda Nolt.

Also, on October 15, the Society will entertain the patients at Conestoga View.

For the next meeting, October 15, members will have a Harvest Sale at the home of Mrs. Raymond Landis, R1, Quarryville. At that time, each member should bring their dues and birthday money in an envelope for the treasurer.

Berks Co. Society 4

Berks County held their annual dinner meeting at Yellow House Hotel, Tuesday, September 1.

Ten members and one guest attended. Mary Nester, a former member, was reinstated at that time.

Members were invited to a night of entertainment by Group 2, Bethel, on October 13.

Building, Berks Heim, an October 3.

The next meeting is October 6 at the home of Charlotte Mauger, Bechtelsville. A slide program is planned for the meeting.

ALL MY HARD WORK REALLY PAID OFF. I'M SURE TO WIN A PRIZE AT THE FAIR!

THE MOST IMPORTANT THING IS YOU LEARNED HOW TO GROW A GARDEN. NOT WIN A PRIZE!

When 4-H'ers exhibit their vegetables, it is not always the largest vegetable that wins. Exhibits are judged for quality and compared to a predetermined standard for each vegetable. Through interview judging 4-H'ers not only indicate their knowledge, but learn from the judge about their project.

Baby beef club meets

CHAMBERSBURG — The Franklin Co. 4-H Baby Beef Club met September 17, at the Citizens National Bank, Greencastle. Approximately 55 members and parents attended.

Ralph Dice, club leader, reported that 20 members participated in the 4-H Judging Contest at the fair.

The five winners were: 1. David Stratton; 2. Curtis Meyers; 3. Kirk Stoner; 4. Joe Metcalfe; 5. Paul Stratton.

The club won first in the Good Housekeeping Award contest at the fair.

Next on the agenda was discussion about the 4-H Round-Up and Sale scheduled for October 12 at the Greencastle Livestock Market.

Weigh-in is scheduled for 8 to 9 a.m. The show will begin at 10.

Polled Hereford Assn. honors Briggs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Hilton M. Briggs, president emeritus of South Dakota State University, has been named to the American Polled Hereford Association's Hall of Merit for his outstanding contributions to the field of education and research.

Each year, four individuals are honored by the APHA for their work in the areas of education and research, public affairs, communications and youth.

With a career in teaching and research that has spanned more than 40 years, Briggs has left a mark not only on the universities he served, but on a national scale as well. He received his B.S. degree in animal science from his home-state Iowa State University in 1933 and went to North Dakota State University for his master's degree, graduating in 1935.

In 1938 Briggs received his Ph.D. from Cornell University. During these years, he worked as a graduate assistant and began his life-long association with education and research.

At Oklahoma State University, Briggs began work as an assistant professor in 1936. Thirteen years later he was named associate dean of the college of agriculture. During his years at Oklahoma State, Briggs was working on a book that was to become a well-known standard in college class rooms across the nation.

In 1950, Briggs was named dean of the college of agriculture at the University of Wyoming. For the next eight years, he also served as director of Wyoming's Agricultural Experiment Station. Briggs left Wyoming in 1958 when he accepted the presidency of South Dakota State University. Following his retirement from that position in 1975, he has served as the university's director of foreign programs and was a consultant to Brazil's minister of agriculture.

Briggs holds memberships in many national agricultural societies and has been active as an officer in the American Society of Animal Science, Southern Agricultural Workers and the Continental Dorset Club. He has been recognized with honors and awards which include the National 4-H Club Alumni Achievement Award in 1959, Farm House Fraternity's Builder of Men Award in 1960, U.S. Air Force Exceptional Service Award in 1975, and the South Dakota Press Association's Outstanding Citizen Award in 1975.

Briggs and his wife, Lillian, still live near the University of South Dakota in Brookings. They are the parents of two children, Dinus Marshall Briggs and Janice Sue Briggs.

No easy way to destroy stumps

UNIVERSITY PARK — We have no miracle chemical which easily dissolves tree stumps overnight, says Jim Finley, Extension forestry specialist at The Pennsylvania State University.

As a matter of fact, there is no economical, painless way to remove tree stumps from yards, especially if they are large stumps.

There are several methods to use in removing unwanted stumps. If the ground is being cleared for buildings and a bulldozer is being used, such equipment can push out stumps quick and easily. Sometimes this method is overlooked in the original planning of the home grounds, but it may be the most economical in the long run.

Another method is with a stump grinder that literally chews up the stump. This is fairly expensive, so consider it only for large stumps. A few tree surgery companies in large cities have such equipment.

A third way to remove stumps is to borer holes an inch or more in diameter in the stump with a large electric or hand drill, fill the holes with a chemical, plug, and wait 2 to 3 months for the chemical to diffuse through the stump. After a 10-day dry period in late summer or fall, the stump can be burned out (not guaranteed) by building a fire over it. The stump will take from 1 to 3 weeks to burn out, depending upon its size. Obviously, stumps close to buildings should never be burnt out.

Be sure to check on local burnings' regulations before burning stumps or anything else.

The simplest way for homeowners to get rid of stumps goes back to primitive days. A mattock, shovel, axe, and elbow grease is needed. Usually small stumps can be removed in 1 to 2 hours. Stumps a foot or more in diameter may take up to half a day of digging and chopping.

If you have a large stump you want to destroy, ask your county agent for information about chemicals that can be used.

All-American background music has ag touch

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN
FARM SHOW COMPLEX — Even the organ background music at the All-American Dairy Show has an ag touch to it.

While youthful and adult exhibitors lead their entries around the big arena and nervously await the decision of the judges, a Lebanon County farm couple is providing the soft, soothing background music to help while away the long hours of showing.

At the keyboard of the organ at the far end of the arena is Mrs. Warren Light, of R1 Annville.

Seated nearby is her husband, who — after moving the organ into place — provides company and support during the week-long musical marathon.

While the All-American is one of her longest "background" engagements, Mrs. Light provides the music for numerous other ag-related events and shows.

"We've been doing the dairy show for about six or seven years," Light explains as his wife smoothly moves from one song to another.

"But we've been at the Penn National Horse Show, the 4-H dairy show and the Keystone Livestock Exposition."

But due to their continuing agricultural background, horse shows appear to be their favorite for providing background music.

"We were in Virginia three times this year at horse shows," Light explains.

"Those shows are real fun. The people in the south seem to get much more enjoyment out of their shows and they're most enjoyable to play."

And the Lights have more than a musical interest in horses since they've been engaged in a Tennessee Walking Horse breeding and training operation since the mid-1950's.

"We shipped a lot of the horses directly from Tennessee," Light explains.

"We have nine head now and raise them mostly for the show ring. Those that don't make the grade for showing are sold for pleasure horses."

Mrs. Light changes her music for the horse shows, as compared to the mostly soft melodies played at the dairy shows.

"I try to match the tempo of the music to the gait of the horses that are in the ring at any one time," she explains.

This means that the tempo of the music speeds up as the gait changes from a walk, to a trot, to a canter and so on.

Mrs. Light also can be heard at area horse shows, such as Quentun.

Mrs. Light maintains a hefty repertoire for such events as the All-American.

In addition to a stack of sheet music, she also had four or five large books of music, each containing more than 1,000 songs.

While the Lights now lease out their land for farming, they're

Kid's Korner

We've picked lots of winners!

LANCASTER — And the winner is... well, the three winners are: Katie Stoltzfus, 12, of Honey Brook in the Most Appropriate category; Christie Fisher, 9, of Quarryville in the Most Comical category; and Emanuel Glick, 8, of Lancaster in the Most Original category.

Kids, it was a tough decision — you're all very clever at writing cutlines according to Judge Jennifer Shenk, news editor of the Lititz Record Express. And we can trust her judgement. After all, she judged an Easter bunny coloring contest last spring!

But after shuffling and reshuffling through over 60 entries, Ms. Shenk, with a weary look and half smile on her face finally named the three winners.

The Most Appropriate cutline, by Katie, reads, "I love you. I will give you all the milk I can when I grow up."

Another winner, Emanuel Glick won in the Most Original category for his cutline: "Let's grow up fast, then you'll be the farmer and I'll be your cow!"

Well, Emanuel, you've got it right, Bradley and the calf will more than likely grow up very fast.

Cristie Fisher wrote the Most Comical cutline and perhaps one of the most touching because she will probably trigger lots of childhood memories for many adults who remember their feed grinder and their milk truck driver toting gum and lollipops — and we all know that all good feed grinders and milk truck drivers tote goodies!

Cristie's cutline reads, "Does our feedman give calf lollipops?"

Congratulations Cristie, Emanuel and Katie — you've all won a prize which this minute is in the mail to you. We hope you enjoy puzzles and little surprises.

And for the rest of you who didn't quite make it into the final three — don't fret, because you too are a winner. We had such a good response to this contest that we decided to send you all a little surprise, so enjoy and look for future contests in Kid's Korner!

Some others you may enjoy are:

"I love you, Bradley. I will give you all the milk I can when I grow up."

— Katie Stoltzfus, Honeybrook.

"Ask your daddy how long till feeding time, I'm getting hungry."

Merlin Wenger, Manheim

"Are you going to use me for hamburgers when I grow up?"

Linda Noll, Harrisburg

"Let's sneak a stroll through the woods so we know how it feels to be free!"

Eva Miller, Leola

"Do you have any moo-sic (music)."

Ben Cruzan, Bridgeton, N.J.

"Won't you please let me out?"

Daniel Miller, Leola

"Let's be barnyard buddies."

Lynn Krick, Lenhartsville

"Drink plenty of milk. Then you will get big like your daddy, because milk's the one."

Charlotte Landis, Ronks

"Where's my mommy?"

Anna Fisher, Quarryville

"Little boy the calf back of you is sticking its tongue out at you."

Timmy Warner, New Park

"I have something with that girl calf over there. What I really mean is that, I have an appointment with her today. So would you move over please?"

Michelle Deibert, Hegins

"I love you, dear."

Marlene Horning, Lebanon

"I love you. Come play with me."

Stevie Esh, Honey Brook

"I'm hungry. Please give me some milk if my master won't."

Amos Miller, Leola

"Hi cutie, can you and I sit out the next one?"

Bradley Allsopp, Summerhill

"Go ask my mom if I can have some more milk!"

Pam Moyer, Woodbury

"When is your birthday?"

Julia Martin, Newmanstown

"You better drink your milk to get big and strong!"

Thelma Martin, Newmanstown

"Hey cutie!"

Todd Krick, Lenhartsville

"I am hungry for some calf starter."

Grace Brubaker, Loysville

"Bradley, say thanks to your daddy for the good milk."

Cynthia Landis, Ronks

"If you come again without some milk, I'll tell grandma to come without candy the next time that she comes."

Barbara Miller, Leola

"Pssst, tender ears, milk's the one."

Chris Martin, Reinholds

"Close the door behind you. What do you think this is, a barn?"

Carolyn McCann, Perkiomenville

"Did you know that milk drinkers make better lovers?"

Heather Welk, Lancaster

"Did you know milk is the soft, soft drink?"

Jeffrey Welk, Lancaster

"I'm looking for my mom. Do you know where she is?"

Jackie Welk, Lancaster

"What's your big hurry? Stay a while, let's talk."

Ricky Welk, Lancaster

"I wish I was as cute as you are."

Samuel Zook, Quarryville

"You're as cute as I am."

Benuel King, Quarryville

LANCASTER — What are some of the moods that dairy animals can portray?

Curiosity and stubbornness are just two of them.

The photo of the inquisitive goat who appears to want to try its hand (or hoof) at driving a garden tractor was snapped at the 1977 Manheim Fair. It was taken in the Children's Barnyard. The picture was submitted in the recent Dairy Month Photo Contest by Clyde S. Peters, of R6, Manheim.

And the photo of the stubborn young bovine who is resisting roundup by the family's pet dog was sent in by Gregg Briggs, of R4, Ephrata. The barnyard tug-of-war appears to be a standoff between the balky bovine and the persistent pooch.

Curoosity & stubbornness

Polled Hereford bull sale set

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The second National Western "Select" Polled Hereford Bull Sale has been scheduled for January 18, 1982, during the National Western Stock Show in Denver.

Sponsored by the Colorado-Wyoming Polled Hereford Association, the sale will offer high-caliber seed stock, with the emphasis on growthy, sound, high-quality breeding-age bulls.

The bulls will be weighed and graded before the sale and will sell individually or in pens of three or five. Many of the pen bulls will be entered in the National Western Yards Show. Bulls will be fertility tested and reproductively sound. They will be weighed and graded and judged sound on their feet and legs.

To further ensure high quality in the sale offering, eligibility minimums have been set. Bulls must be calved between January 1, 1980 and September 30, 1980. They must have a minimum 2.25 pounds weight per day of age to 15 months and 1.3 pounds thereafter.

Nominations and registration certificates must be turned in to Tom Robb, who is the sale manager. For further information, contact him at 15000 State Hwy. 115, Florence, Colo. 81336.

Adams 4-H'ers vie for dairy championships

BY M.H. GITT—
Staff Correspondent

ARENDSVILLE — Twenty-six Adams County 4-H'ers spent a busy week at the recent South Mountain Fair, grooming, clipping and showing their 'prize' dairy cattle for championship honors. Altogether, forty-five head of Holsteins and colored breeds were shown.

In the Holstein competition, Kathy Durboraw, Gettysburg, exhibited her aged cow, Gracstate Elevation Tarus to Senior and Grand Champion honors. This winner has a lifetime record of 62,146 pounds milk and 3.02% fat. She is out of Gracstate ABC Tarus, sired by Round Oak Rag Apple Elevation.

Kathy's cow is no stranger to the winner's circle and has a long line up of purple ribbons to prove it. The cow was Open Grand Champion at the South Mountain Fair in 1977, was Junior All Pennsylvania 3 year old and Junior All Pennsylvania Honorable Mention as an aged cow, the 4-H Grand Champion at the South Mountain Fair in 1978, and the 4-H Reserve Champion for the last two years.

This year's Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand Champion went to the four-year-old Holstein shown by Jennie Hess, Gettysburg, Jennie Weimer of New Oxford took the Junior Championship with her senior yearling and the Reserve Junior spot with her senior calf.

In the Guernsey breed, two sisters, Peggie and Suzie Murren of Hanover divided that breed's top awards. Suzie took Senior and Grand Champion honors with her 3-year-old, Mt. Murren Flashes Paula, and Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand Champion with Mt. Murren Bonus Babe. Paula's projected lactation is 10,800 pounds milk with 4.70 fat. She is a daughter of Welcome Flash Hollirex out of Piney Lane Dairy Most Pepper.

Older sister Peggy won the Junior Championship with Mr. Murren Dino's Josie, a senior calf sired by Mt. Murren Fabulous Dino out of Mt. Murren Bonus Jackie.

In the Brown Swiss breed, again two sisters, Karen and Carol Hobaugh, divided the championships. The senior and grand champ was Karen's Stilesrite Samson Sweet Sandy. A two-year-old, Sandy is out of Stilesrite

Carol Hobaugh keeps a loving grip on halter of the 4-H Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion Jerseys at the South Mountain Dairy Round-up. These blue-ribbon bovines belong to Carol's sister, Karen, the Adams County Dairy Princess.

Suzie Murren, Hanover, holds Mt. Murren Flashes Paula. This 3-year-old Guernsey was named 4-H Grand Champion. She is a Welcome Flash Hollirex daughter.

Dawn Myers, Biglerville stands at the halter of her 4-H Junior Champion Brown Swiss, GET EXTRA-PERFORMANCE FEATURES IN A TRACTOR-MOUNTED HARVESTER.

The Sperry New Holland Model 707 forage harvester is an economical, tractor-mounted harvester that features a rugged 9-knife cutterhead, built-in knife sharpener and extra strength all over! This highly maneuverable harvester gives you excellent traction in wet fields. It's also available with windrow pickup

782 Forage Harvester

HEAVY DUTY FROM HITCH TO SPOUT.

The Model 782 is built for heavy-duty performance. The 12-knife cutterhead chops uniformly, without a recutter screen. But for special crops and conditions, recutter screens are available.

Check these outstanding features: Exclusive underbeveled knives eliminate the need for rebeveling. Flip-up feedroll makes shearbar adjustment easy. Choice of 540- or 1,000-rpm driveline.

You have a big choice of cropheads, including one- and two-row low-profile cropheads, windrow pickup, sicklebar and one-row, ear-corn snapping head.

718 Forage Harvester

The country's best selling medium-duty forage harvester is the Model 718 from Sperry New Holland. You get a fine, uniform cut with low power requirements. Exclusive underbeveled knives eliminate rebeveling and make knife sharpening fast and easy. Flip-up feedroll makes shearbar adjustment easy. Twelve-knife cutterhead has reversible, double-edged knives. You can choose from one or two-row low-profile crop heads, windrow pickup or sicklebar.

892 Forage Harvester

The Model 892 is the biggest capacity pull-type forage harvester offered by Sperry New Holland. Built for big tractor horsepower, the "892" will power through the driveline, and be used with tractors up to 175 horsepower.

The optional electronic metal detector — a Sperry New Holland exclusive — reduces harvester damage and can cut down on hardware disease. The "892" is available with 12-knife or 8-knife cutterhead. Exclusive underbeveled knives never need rebeveling and make knife sharpening fast and easy. Flip-up feedroll makes shearbar adjustment easy.

There's a big choice of crop heads, including the exclusive interchangeable 3-row crop head/windrow pickup, 2-row low-profile crop head, conventional windrow pickup, sicklebar and ear-corn snapping heads. Under-knife baffles increase capacity.

Like all Sperry New Holland machines, the "892" is backed by a service and parts system that's second to none.

1900 Forage Harvester

The 250-hp Model 1900 chopper features an exclusive electronic metal detector that reduces harvester damage, and helps cut down on hardware disease. Exclusive underbeveled knives never need rebeveling. Exclusive flip-up feedrolls make shearbar adjustment easy. Exclusive interchangeable cropheads — ideal for the farmer/rancher who chops both windrowed crops and row crops. Plus a big choice of other cropheads. Under-knife baffles increase capacity.

2100 Forage Harvester

The Sperry New Holland Model 2100 forage harvester features a 325-hp turbocharged six-cylinder Diesel engine. The 30-inch wide by 24-inch diameter 12-knife cutterhead features: exclusive underbeveled knives that never need rebeveling, exclusive metal detector to prevent harvester damage, and exclusive flip-up feedroll and hinged shielding for easy access. The "2100" can be ordered with a six-row cornhead or 14-ft. sicklebar — both the largest in the industry. The Whopper Chopper is designed and constructed for the ultimate in capacity and durability.

Sally's Sweetie sired by Gramhill Leader Sophia Samson. Karen also won Reserve Junior Champion honors with her senior yearling. The Junior Champion was Carol's Stilesrite Fascinator Let, out of Stilesrite Sleeping Letty and sired by Shadewell Fascinator.

In the Brown Swiss classes, Brush Creek D Diana, a dry cow owned by Dawn Meyers of Biglerville beat younger brother Todd's 2-year-old to win Senior and Grand Champion rosettes. Diana, sired by Whitecloud Doreen's Delegate out of Brush Creek Chatham Shannon, was the Reserve Grand Champion at last year's fair and the Grand Champion at this year's county round-up. In her best year, she has over 13,000 pounds of milk.

The Junior Champion was Dawn's junior yearling and Reserve Junior Champ was her senior calf.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

There were so many interesting things to see in and near Amsterdam, Holland this summer.

Our first stop was at the shop of a wooden shoemaker. Some work is done with power tools and some by hand, using Canadian poplar and willow wood. Some of the shoes are painted and decorated in bright colors. I bought a pair but not in a size large enough for me to wear. They'll probably hold some dried flowers when I find time to arrange them.

Our first stop was at the shop of a wooden shoemaker. Some work is done with power tools and some by hand, using Canadian poplar and willow wood. Some of the shoes are painted and decorated in bright colors. I bought a pair but not in a size large enough for me to wear. They'll probably hold some dried flowers when I find time to arrange them.

Our lunch was at a Pannekoeken or pancake house. They had toppings of every sort and I ordered candied ginger but couldn't eat all of it. The Dutch thought pancakes for breakfast was quite unusual.

We walked a short distance to see an operating windmill. Only 500 of the 900 windmills are still operable. The one that we went into was grinding sesame seed into oil for natural food stores. After the 2½ ton stone rolled the raw seed, it was heated before pressing out the oil. The remaining "cakes" were used as cattle feed. Sails or cloths are put on the blades when the wind is slack to increase the power. Peter Kaal's family operated this mill since 1672 when it was built.

Amsterdam is famous for its diamond cutting and polishing. We toured a factory and watched the work in progress. Afterward, we were shown the finished jewelry and I surprised myself by buying a diamond ring. You see, I had lost the stone out of my engagement ring several months ago. However, this did make me short of money for the rest of the trip.

On our canal boat ride, we noticed hooks under the eaves of all the houses. It was explained that as the stairs were steep and narrow, furniture was pulled up outside and then put in through the windows.

Houses built long ago were very narrow because they were taxed according to their width—one was five feet across. Piles are driven under the houses and those under the palace are 40 feet down. As we passed under some of the 1000 bridges in Amsterdam, someone asked the depth of the canal and was jokingly told it was, "three feet of mud, three feet of bicycles and three feet of water."

After a leisurely evening meal, a group of us strolled through nearby rose gardens until dark. It was a real contrast from the workaday life at home.

So. Mountain Fair tags 4-H livestock champs

BY M.H. GITT
Staff Correspondent

ARENDSVILLE — Besides the usual stiff competition in the open classes at the Fifty-Ninth Annual South Mountain Fair, 4-H members had their own classes. Along with the usual reserve and champion honors, the 4-H'ers had fitting and showing awards to shoot for. Some members won the top awards in more than one category.

One of those 4-H'ers was Kevin Diehl, 17, of Fairfield whose 1,065 pound crossbred steer won the middle heavyweight division and was then chosen overall Grand Champion Steer.

Diehl bought the steer when it was 6-months-old at the Piedmont Invitational Club Calf Sale held last November at the Frederick Fair Grounds. The calf came from Hayland Farms of Ellicott City, Maryland. Its sire, Fan Faron, is three-quarter Limousin and one-quarter Angus.

This was Diehl's first show of the year, and along with the steer's awards, Kevin was named Champion Fitter and Reserve Champion Showman.

"Without a doubt this is the best animal I've ever had," declared Kevin, who's been showing for six years. "I'm getting ready to take him to the Farm Show."

The Reserve Grand Champion was the lightweight steer of Gary Flickinger, Gettysburg.

In the middleweight group, Dennis Flickinger had the champion and Tony Spangler had the reserve champ, along with being named Reserve Champion Fitter.

In the lightweight group Tina Hawn, Gettysburg, had the champion and Mike Spangler had the reserve.

In the Chianina breed, Karen Brothers of East Berlin had the Champion Heifer.

In the Polled Hereford classes, Blake McCleary, Biglerville had the Champion Heifer and was selected Champion Showman, while Matt Young's calf was chosen Reserve Champion Heifer.

In the lamb judging, Peter Bastien, 15, of Fairfield, beat out his 16-year-old sister Peggie to win Grand Champion Market Lamb honors. Peggie had to settle for Reserve Champion. But she was named Champion Fitter and Showman, while Peter won the reserve Showman honors and Earl Wilkinson was selected Reserve Fitter.

Peter's lamb was born in March and weighed 90 pounds at the fair.

In the 4-H goat judging, Windy Paterson, Fairfield, had the grand champion goat and was named Champion Showman and Fitter. Reserve Showman and Fitter was Darlene Waugh of Gettysburg.

Wenger, Kauffman win regional FFA awards

SPRINGFIELD, MA. — Lebanon and Lancaster counties can be justly proud of two of their youthful FFA leaders this week.

The two youths traveled to the Eastern States Exposition (Big E) last weekend and walked away with the top two FFA awards in competition with other Future Farmers of America from 15 states.

Glenn Wenger, of the ELCO Chapter, was named 1981 Eastern States Exposition Star Agribusinessperson.

Steve Kauffman, of the Elizabethtown Chapter, was named Eastern States Exposition Star Farmer.

Both Wenger and Kauffman were earlier named to their Star honors on the Pennsylvania state level and competed with other Star holders from states stretching from Maine to North Carolina.

The Eastern States Exposition honor is the highest FFA honor that can be achieved on the state level. In effect, it is an eastern regional state honor.

After a screening of the applications of the contestants, a committee interviewed each of the contending FFA'ers on their various activities.

Wenger, the son of the Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wenger, of Myerstown, has been active on both the Wenger Farms and the Wenger Farm Equipment business. He has served as both Chapter and County

Glenn Wenger, ELCO FFA chapter

FFA president and was named State Star Agribusinessperson earlier this year.

Kauffman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Kauffman, R1, Elizabethtown, has served as president of his chapter and was named State Star Farmer for 1981. He has been active in showing and working with his purebred Holsteins at all levels, including 4-H.

Steve Kauffman, Elizabethtown FFA chapter

Present for the bestowing of the twin honors upon not only two Pennsylvania FFA'ers, but on two from neighboring counties was Mark Herndon, National FFA President, from Oklahoma City.

Presentation of the honors was made by Guy F. Eberhart, Director of Public Affairs, Eastern Territory, Sears, Roebuck and Co., sponsors of the regional competition.

23,000 to attend FFA National Convention

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Dr. Norman Vincent Peale will highlight a program of speakers, competition and recognition when Future Farmers of America gather for the largest youth convention in the world. Over 23,000 members, advisors, sponsors and friends are expected in Kansas City, Mo. Nov. 12-14 for the 54th National Convention.

Minister and inspirational author Peale will speak at the Friday morning session. John Naber, winner of four gold medals at the 1976 Summer Olympics, will also address the gathering. Naber will be sponsored by Massey-Ferguson.

Taking the stage during the three-day meeting will be hundreds of FFA members. They will be recognized for proficiency in their agricultural programs and participate in judging and speaking contests. 778 members will be awarded the American Farmer Degree—the highest step of membership offered by the FFA. The top two from their ranks will be named Star Farmer and Star Agribusinessman of America at the Thursday evening session.

FFA Chapters will be honored for outstanding programs in Building Our American Communities, National Chapter, Safety, and Energy.

The National FFA Foundation, Inc., provides a high percentage of awards presented. The group made up of individuals and representatives of industry will be on hand for a special recognition program.

Becoming a major attraction itself, the National Agricultural Career Show will attract exhibitors from agribusiness, government and education.

After attending FFA Day at the American Royal Livestock and Horse Show, members will conclude their convention with installation of six new national officers.

Lehigh FFA holding show

SCHNECKSVILLE — The Lehigh County FFA Chapter will hold its annual Farm and Home Show this weekend at the Lehigh Co. Vo-tech School. The Agriculture students have set up exhibits in vegetables, grains, floral displays, arrangements and baked goods.

Today, the Lehigh Co. FFA alumni will present a demonstration on the proper fitting and showing techniques used for beef, swine, sheep, and dairy animals. New students, parents and the public are invited to this free show.

The show will conclude on Sunday with the Annual Chicken B-B-Q, and the formal initiation of new FFA members. The public is invited to attend all functions.

The B-B-Q costs are adults - $4.00, and children under 12, $2.50.

Farming's Futures

By David K Sauder
Commodity Broker
Trade Tech, Lancaster

The time is early December. Most of the fall harvest has been completed. Grain is in the bin. Giant combines and picker-shellers are again parked in their sheds and readied for winter.

Now, for many farmers, comes the most crucial time of the entire year: The time to market their crop. A season's work and a sizable investment hinge on making the right decisions—decisions that involve when, where, and how to obtain the best possible price. Even a small increase in selling price can translate into a substantial increase in net profit.

As with most facets of modern, high-stakes farming, selling decisions have become considerably more complex than they once were. More complex if for no other reason than that today's grain producer has far more marketing alternatives from which to choose.

The traditional alternative of cash sale must be weighed against the arithmetic of storage and speculation. And that in turn against the possible advantages of storage and hedging. And that, in some areas, against possible offers to sell now and set the price later.

Easy decisions, if there ever were any, are a thing of the past.

Using this multiple-choice pricing mechanism to best advantage demands an understanding of how it works. Price quotations frequently take different forms and, to be compared, must first be reduced to the common denominators of quality, time and place. Frequently, too, price relationships provide a clue to when to sell and when to wait. Or whether and when to hedge. Or simply whether to accept or not accept a particular price. Among the most important relationships to understand—is the continuous and ever-changing relationship between cash grain prices and futures prices, known as the basis.

The necessity to understand such relationships is by no means limited to farmers. Grain merchandising at country points has become an increasingly complex and competitive business in which buying and selling shrewdness is a requisite for success and even survival.

Commodity futures brokers similarly can help guide their customers toward effective marketing strategies by helping them translate market understanding into market profits. Bankers, too, can benefit from a better knowledge of the marketplaces where their collateral must sooner or later be sold and of the means to achieve price protection. Moreover, as bankers sharpen their knowledge, benefits also may accrue to their other commodity-oriented customers. Even speculators can ill afford to ignore the fact that what happens, ultimately, in the futures market hinges on what happens in the cash market.

Your questions answered:

What Role do Futures Exchanges Perform in the Marketing—and Pricing—of Grain?

Certainly one of the most important roles is that of providing buyers and sellers of commodities—such as farmers, merchants, processors, exporters and retailers—with an opportunity to establish prices for future delivery. Individuals and firms who use the futures market for this purpose are thereby able to minimize the risk of adverse price level changes.

A no less vital role is that of a central marketplace where buyers and sellers from virtually every nation in the world continuously compete with one another in the common language of price. Because futures prices serve as a common denominator in a worldwide system of interrelated prices, such as marketplace helps to assure that supply and demand developments wherever they occur will be rapidly reflected in the price of grain wherever it is offered for sale. Futures markets and futures prices thereby help to provide a constant linkage between local prices and the world demand.

How Are Futures Prices Determined?

The futures price for any given commodity at any given moment is truly a "consensus" price. It is the opinion of a farmer in Minnesota who expects his crop to be smaller because of too little rain combined with the opinion of an Iowa farmer who expects to harvest a bumper crop combined with the opinion of a feed manufacturer who expects demand to be up because of increased livestock numbers combined with the opinion of an exporter above the outlook for foreign supply and demand.

To these views are added the opinions of others as to what Congress is likely to do about farm legislation, whether and how the European housewife is changing her shopping habits, the prospects for currency stability, the probability that a government report will show smaller or larger than expected grain inventories still on hand, and anyone's best guess as to whether broiler producers will expand their flocks and whether Japan will ease or tighten its import policies.

A futures price thus arrived at becomes a statement of the commodity's value at the present time and under present conditions at that particular location.

Although prices in other locations may be either higher or lower—for reasons which will be dealt with in detail—futures prices that respond almost instantly to changes in supply and demand serve as a benchmark of the current value of a commodity.

If you have questions about the futures market, send them to the Farming's Futures, Lancaster Farming, 22 East Main Street, Latitz, PA 17543.

Solar dryer to help India's farmers

CORT COLLINS, Col. — A Colorado State University engineer has begun work on a project designed to help village farmers in India become more productive by using solar energy to dry their crops.

Charles Smith, a civil engineer at the university's Solar Energy Applications Laboratory, is developing plans for a multi-purpose solar grain dryer in cooperation with a colleague at Annamalai University in southern India.

The project is financed with a $200,000 grant from the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Scientists at Annamalai University are active in solar energy and rural development. Smith said CSU was selected to participate because of its experience in solar energy and developing countries' technologies.

Smith said he expects to help develop a solar dryer that with few modifications also might be used to heat water and serve as storage and housing space as well.

He said the project goal is a cheap, easy-to-build solar dryer that would require no electrical back-up system.

"A farmer in India might be able to increase productivity by as much as 30 percent with on-farm drying and storage of such crops as rice and various spices.

"One spice, cardamom, can bring a very good price, but its value as a cash crop is highly dependent on proper drying," Smith said.

He pointed out that rice, spices and other crops in India often are dried inefficiently. On his last visit to India, Smith said, he noted that rice often is dried simply by spreading it on roads.

"Obviously, the loss, damage and hygiene problems associated with this practice are numerous," Smith said.

Smith is active in research and development of solar devices for American farmers, but he stressed that developing a solar grain dryer Indian farmers can use will require a different approach.

"In the United States, we're mainly trying to develop energy-saving devices. They don't use much fuel in rural India, so the emphasis there will be on improving the conditions without introducing dependence on an expensive energy source," he said.

"One assumption of our study is that electricity is too costly or not available in rural Indian villages where solar devices might be placed. Thus, solar functions must be assisted by gravity flow of air and water, wind, or by muscle power," Smith said.

One purpose of the study is to determine the proper size and configuration of a solar drying unit, but the engineer said he foresees a 200-to 300-square-foot structure that could be built for between $200 and $500.

The solar grain-drying structure would be multi-purpose because a dryer alone would be in operation only at harvests, about 30 to 60 days per year, depending upon the crop and number of harvests, Smith said.

A multi-purpose structure could be used at other times for storage, housing, or other types of shelter. In addition, Smith said, solar energy available during non-drying periods might be used to heat water, thus improving living standards and lowering dependence upon firewood.

Smith pointed out that firewood is becoming scarce in many areas of the Third World, including India, where it is the main fuel used for cooking and for heating water and homes.

Smith said he is optimistic that what he and his colleagues discover in India may be of interest to solar scientists in the United States, especially information on how certain materials hold up in various weather conditions, how they react to sunlight and their durability.

But, Smith said any solar grain-drying structure developed in India probably would not be widely usable in this country.

He explained that solar devices in American agriculture currently are limited to a few special cases because it takes from 10 to 25 years for agricultural solar equipment to pay for itself.

"Before solar energy is widely used on American farms, cheaper and better solar equipment will have to be developed, oil prices will have to go considerably higher, or farmers will have to be given tax credits similar to those the federal government and some states offer homeowners to help defray the cost of installing solar equipment," Smith said.

Charlene Rohrer, Chester County, wears state crown

BY DEBBIE KOONTZ

HARRISBURG — Charlene Rohrer of Chester County began her reign as Pennsylvania's 25th Dairy Princess following ceremonies at the Penn Harris Motor Inn, Tuesday night. The coronation was held in conjunction with Pennsylvania's All-American Dairy Show this week.

Charlene, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Rohrer of Cochranville is a 1980 graduate of Lancaster Mennonite High School.

Southeast Pennsylvania had a double celebration Tuesday night as Debra Greider of Columbia was named first runner-up.

Deb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Greider and is a senior at Hemphill High School.

Second runner-up was Roberta Bronson of Columbia-Luzerne counties. Roberta is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Bronson, and a senior at Penn State University majoring in business administration and marketing.

One of the most coveted titles of the pageant, Miss Congeniality, went to Dauphin County's princess, Tammy Yost of Hershey.

Tammy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Yost and a graduate of Lower Dauphin High School.

In celebration of the Princess Program's silver anniversary, members of the audience were treated to a brief review of the first 25 years which included 13 former princesses — from Susan Gail Coskery Taylor, the 1956 winner, to last year's title holder, Cindy Neely.

Two girls earlier were chosen by the judges to have the most outstanding presentations (the presentation is a skit the girls create themselves to be used as part of the judging), and therefore the skits were delivered to the audience that night. Viewers saw a comical rendition of Diedre Johnson (Warren County) the D-J from radio station M-I-L-K. The second winner, Jay Saylor of Somerset County, cheered her team, MILK, onto to victory against a losing team, SODAS.

Top scrapbook awards went to Denise Baily of Wayne County and Charlene Rohrer.

Following her crowning Charlene pledged to do "the best job (she could) do for the dairy industry," and then thanked her parents for all the support they've given her already as Chester County's Dairy Princess.

Charlene was chosen state winner because of her knowledge of the dairy industry, her poise, looks, personality, presentation, scrapbook, and her answer to a question each semi-finalist was asked during the pageant. The question read, "You have been chosen to go to an uncivilized country and can take three things with you — what would they be?"

Charlene very confidently answered a Bible, a songbook and a kitchen utensil.

Charlene is a member of the gospel singing group, the Choraleers. She hopes to travel with this group to Costa Rica soon.

Charlene's family milks 53 Holstein cows with a herd average of 13,500. On their 153 acres they farm mostly alfalfa with a total-mixed ration. This fall they plan to go into high moisture corn.

Charlene hopes to continue her work in Byler's Food Market, Gap, during and after her reign. The toastmaster for the evening was Grover Gouker, area manager, Penn Institute Inc., Dale Carnegie Courses.

Judges for the pageant were Darwin Braund of Fayetteville, NY; Diana Englebrecht of Waterloo, Iowa; Myron Fledderjohann of New Knoxville, Ohio; and

With tearful eyes, Charlene accepts her crown, banner and roses moments after learning she was the new state princess. Cindy

Gracing the stage briefly was the first state dairy princess, 156 winner.

Jacquelyn Myer Townsend, Miss America of 1963 from Meadow Lands, Pa.

Scrapbook judges were Susan Beshore of New Cumberland and Kay Rohrer of Paradise.

Poultry health meeting coming Oct. 20

DELMAR, MD — The 16th National Meeting on Poultry Health and Condemnations will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 20 and 21, here at Del-Mar-Va Convention Hall.

This annual event is sponsored by Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., the regional trade association that represents the broiler industry on the Delmarva peninsula, in cooperation with the Universities of Delaware and Maryland.

"Thirty-seven participants have been invited to present the latest information on current health topics concerned with growing and processing", reports G. Thomas Holder, general chairman of this event. Holder noted there were 451 registrants at last year's meeting who came from 29 states, the District of Columbia and three foreign countries.

"Perhaps we should call this an 'international' meeting", adds Holder, "since we will have three speakers from outside the U.S. and expect registrants from other countries too."

C.W. McMillan, U.S. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture will be one of the featured speakers. McMillan serves in the area of marketing and transportation. Poultry inspection is included in his responsibilities. He will address the October 20 audience twice on "The Changing Scene at USDA" and FSIS Regulations — Directions for the Future."

On Tuesday, separate concurrent sessions will be held to cover grow-out and processing topics.

Registration forms, programs and other details of the conference may be obtained by writing or calling Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., R2, Box 47, Georgetown, DE 19947; 302/856-2971.

From apples to zucchini

2nd Annual Foods Expo "100% bigger than first"

BY JOAN MCINTYRE
Staff Correspondent

BENSALEM — From apples to zucchini, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture displayed its finest in the second annual Foods Exposition at Keystone Race Track, Bensalem, September 18 through 20.

According to Penrose Hallowell, Secretary of Agriculture, the purpose of the exposition was to acquaint the consuming public of Southeastern Pennsylvania with products that are right at their doorstep. He said this year's Expo was 100% bigger than last year's.

"We have quite a variety of farm products here. The theme is 'Take a Taste of Pennsylvania and people can taste many kinds of food, maybe for the first time. Most of the visitors are from Bucks and eastern Montgomery counties and Philadelphia. Many of them have never talked to farmers before. Maybe they can get a better understanding of what the cost of food represents," Hallowell said.

He further explained that Americans spend about 14% of their incomes on food, while citizens of other countries spend from 20% to 60% on food. The U.S. has only 2.3% of its people in agriculture, while the same foreign countries require 9.1% to 60.6% of their people to working to produce food.

"It is a fair for people to come and enjoy themselves, get free food and bargains on food they want to buy. It makes people think. When they see the logo, 'PA-WE'RE GROWING BETTER' they know the product is from Pennsylvania, it's fresh and good. That gives the farmers an incentive to maintain standards and make sure the food is good," Hallowell said.

Hallowell said that the various commercial exhibitors at the exposition demonstrate the interrelationships between farming, food manufacturing and the retail food industry.

"These processors and exhibitors are representatives of the more of than 1,500 food manufacturers in the state, which employ about 100,000 Pennsylvanians. All of these firms are dependent on farming for the food products they process, and by the same token, our family farmers must depend on these companies to provide them with a market for their products," he continued.

"Consumers should also be aware that without these companies and our 62,000 farms, their food products would cost much more because of energy and transportation costs in obtaining these foods from other regions of the nation," Hallowell noted.

One man from Philadelphia, who had just started touring the expo, said he thought it was really great.

"It reminds me of the old Byberry Fair in Philadelphia many years ago. I'm going out to see the livestock now," he said.

From Warrington, Bucks county, another visitor said, "it's great. I like to look at farm products. I'm not a farmer, I don't even like to cut grass-but I like to eat! We always use fresh vegetables at home."

A woman from Newtown, Bucks county, said, "I think it's a good thing. We need to show what the county produces."

Although the main focus was food produced in Pennsylvania, the expo offered an opportunity for many diverse exhibitors and other state agencies to present their products and services.

The Pennsylvania Department of Health gave free blood pressure checks.

The Pennsylvania D.E.R., State Police, Department of State, Department of Aging, Department of Emergency Management, National Weather Service, and the Governor's Action Center all had booths. The Governor's Action Center is the central information, referral- and problem-solving agency that responds to any request made by a citizen of Pennsylvania.

Entertainment featured bluegrass music by "Whetstone Run," "Friday Night Garage Pickers," and "Buffalo Chip Kickers;" square dancing of the "Bells and Bows;" magic by Craig Wallis; "Captain Noah", a children's TV personality; Lithuanian dancing, by the Lithuanian Music Hall of Philadelphia; Music by the 276th Army Band Combo, of the Pennsylvania National Guard; and for the opening ceremonies, "Pennridge Merry Makers," a senior citizen's band.

Opening day at the Expo honored senior citizens.

Two unique food products on display were horseradish and garlic sauce.

Both are made by small companies in Pennsylvania, one newly formed and the other well-established.

Since 1938, Kelchner's Horseradish has been made in Dublin from horseradish roots grown in Canada and Lancaster County.

According to Walter F. Slaymaker, owner, "The roots are cleaned, grounds, pickled in salt, vinegar, and a little seasoning. We add no filler, no whiteners, and it is delivered the same week it is made. It will usually last about 6 months or longer. It begins to lose strength as time goes by and eventually has no zip."

In the past 18 months the hot garlic sauce made by CNL's company of Philadelphia, has been "catching on," said Mitch Sothorn. He sold fried chicken swirled in garlic sauce, and gave out samples of crackers flavored with the sauce. He said, "You can put it on anything—chicken, seafood, salad, potatoes, vegetables, or use it as a substitute for frying oil."

Mushrooms are one of Pennsylvania's cash crops: According to Bob Ferranto, Avondale, President of Buona Foods, about 350 million pounds of the nutritious, protein rich fungus are produced here each year.

"It (the mushroom industry) is suffering from imports from Southeast Asia that has depressed the processed market. Most mushrooms are sold fresh," Ferranto said.

Bethel Burkholder, Bareville, Arlene Hess, Lancaster, and Miriam Groff, Leola, demonstrate quilt making at the 2nd Annual Foods Expo. The pattern is the lemon star and it will be auctioned in May to benefit the Black Rock Retreat, a Christian camp in southern Lancaster County.

2nd Foods Expo

New technology in growing tomatoes, lettuce, and cucumbers is what Mae Fry showed at the expo. She owns greenhouses near Shartlesville, Berks County, where vegetables are grown indoors hydroponically. They grow in a fertilizer solution with controlled pH. The tomatoes are vine-ripened and Ms. Fry said the advantage is their long shelf life.

"They keep 3-5 weeks at room temperature. I think they are better at four weeks," she said.

The lettuce is sold as a living head. It has a grow block with roots and moisture, and the consumer merely pulls off leaves as needed. It will last a week to ten days in refrigeration, Ms. Fry said.

Non-food displays included the blacksmithing demonstration by Garry Laupheimer, West Chester. He made a poker, pounding it out on an anvil, just as they did in "the old days."

An observer, Harold Heller, Ben Salem, remarked, "An anvil should ring. That one just goes thud, thud." He explained that his father had been a blacksmith in Ontario, Canada, and he had six anvils in his wagon shop.

When asked to explain the lack of "ring," Laupheimer said the sound is absorbed by the plywood base resting on damp ground. "The anvil is solid steel, made only in Sweden. It would ring on a hard surface. After you've been doing it for a while, the ring gets to you."

He explained that the art of working with iron takes many years of apprenticeship and on-the-job training.

Another non-food booth gave information on the Pennsylvania Farm Vacation Association's program. The 11-year-old association has 28 farms and is looking for new members to provide visitors with a vacation that not only takes them out of the city, but lets them have a look at day by day farm operations. The state-wide organization provides a variety of activities for vacationers such as fishing, hunting, hiking, riding, square-dancing, skiing, skating, tobogganing, antique hunting, and summer theaters.

According to Bert Phillips of the General Potter farm, the group's advertisements in city newspapers bring guests from New York City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Harrisburg.

"Sometimes they just want to get away for a weekend. We even have farmers who stay with us sometimes. If they are in the area and need a place to stay overnight, they would often rather stay on a farm than in a motel," Phillips explained.

The Pennsylvania National Guard hoped to recruit members at the expo, as did Pennsylvania State University. College of Agriculture Professor James Diamond said, "I am here to talk to students about what is available and how to qualify for financial aids, scholarships, grants, and so forth. They need to be made aware of what's available. Getting out like this has impact on our enrollment."

The Taco scrambler proved to be one of the most popular demonstrations as about 200 people crowded around the 4½ foot pan to watch the omelet-like creation being prepared and then sample it. Using 300 eggs, 5 quarts of milk, 10 pounds of cheese, 10 pounds of chopped onions and green peppers, 40 tomatoes, five pounds of chilies, and four pounds of taco sauce, the creation cooked in 4 pounds of butter for about 40 minutes.

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, Chester Heim, helped stir while Becky Wass of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the American Egg Board supervised.

Along with a barrage of "egg jokes", Ms. Wass warned the crowd to cut the recipes down if they made it at home. Afterward, she said the Taco Scramble was successful, estimating that about 300 people had tasted the egg dish served on taco shells. Most agreed it tasted delicious.

Ernie Barrett, Cochranville, Chester County, won the senior division of Sunday's special 4-H Sheep Fitting contest. Steve Pierson, Norristown, Montgomery County, won the showmanship senior division.

In the Sheep Blocking contest, the senior winner was Jeff Barrone, Downingtown, Chester County.

Bells ring for Sliker's Swiss

BY DONNA TOMMELLEO

HARRISBURG — The scene could have been shot in an Alpine pasture when the classic 'parade of champions' began, Tuesday afternoon. Suddenly the large arena of the Farm Show complex filled with sounds of cow bells clanging and yodeling, reminiscent of the champions origin.

The champions were the large Brown Swiss cows, adorned with brass cowbells while handlers sported red and brown vests to complete the picture. The blue-ribbon winners made one last sweep of the ring before judge C. Fred Foreman selected Grand Champion of the Eastern National Brown Swiss Show.

If anyone was batting 1,000 up to that point, it was Wayne E. Sliker, St. Paris, Ohio. His junior and senior yearlings were named Junior Champion and Junior Reserve Champion, respectively. And Foreman assured Sliker a perfect average by selecting the Ohio breeder's first and second aged cows for Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion, respectively.

"I just don't find any fault with these two cows," reasoned Foreman, professor of dairy science at Iowa State.

Sliker's grand champion, Alfalfa Meadows Sueann S is an 8-year-old that boasts a record of 23,160 pounds of milk as a 6-year-old. Sired by Welcome In Stretch, the champ is out of Alfalfa Meadows Sandra S.

Perhaps more impressive is the reserve grand champion's track record. Kilravock Snow Storm, an 11-year-old, captured the Total Performance class. With 24,220 pounds of milk as an 8-year-old, the big creme-colored Swiss produced an average of 49.1 pounds of milk per day since her first lactation as a 2-year-old.

Also a Welcome In Stretch daughter, the reserve grand champion is out of Kilravock Midnight Snow.

Both junior and reserve junior champs carry Sliker's Top Acres farm prefix. The junior champ, Top Acres Success Lusty is sired by Blessing Pavanne Success and out of Top Acres Perfection Luster.

Another Stretch daughter was Foreman's choice for reserve junior champion. Top Acres Stretchy Lynette-ET, bred by Sliker is out of Mallory Brook Lynn, a 20,000 plus cow.

Sliker racked up victories in almost every group class and, not suprisingly, was named Premier Breeder and Exhibitor.

In the bull competition, the Top Acre prefix, again, found its way to the winners circle, although Sliker did not own the top males.

The Grand Champion Bull, Top Acres Stretchy Lynson ET was owned and exhibited by Curtis Prime, Augusta, Me. Bred by Sliker, the senior yearling is a Stretch son out of Mallory Brook Lynn.

The Reserve Champion Bull, Snells Blue Echo, was owned, exhibited and bred by Kiplen Dale Snell, Fredericktown, Ohio. The junior yearling is by Top Acres Blue Chip and out of Dew Drop Lassie.

Handler Palmer Hoffman, Mingo, Ohio, is at the halter of Wayne Sliker's Reserve Grand Champion, Kilravock Snow Storm. The 11-year-old Swiss also captured the Total Performance

Class and according to Sliker, "has been nominated for All American more than any Brown Swiss, ever."

Shorthorn banners stay in PA

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania breeders dominated the milking shorthorn competition, Tuesday, at the All American Dairy Show.

James Young, Newville entered 17 animals from his Three Springs Farm, Cumberland County and took home several champions.

His aged cow entry, Elwood Promise Rena 581 swept the senior division and was named grand champion female. According to Young the champ has been on a winning streak this fall and was last year's national champion.

The Rena cow is by Elwood S V Promise and out of Elwood W Rena 2D.

Three Springs Farm also claimed the Junior Champion with their junior heifer, Three Springs Bo. "Bo" is by a homebred bull, Three Springs Peg Jewel and out of Three Springs TFP Susan.

Young's third champion was selected early in the competition when judge Keith King went with Three Springs Bell Ringer for Champion Bull. The champ, an aged bull, is a Tabbogong Mayflowers Mascot son out of Au Washita Promise Belle.

Three Springs also exhibited the Junior Champion Bull. The calf, Three Springs Mason, is by the Champion Bull, Bell Ringer and out of Three Springs G K Susan.

The Reserve Junior Champion Bull was bred by Young but owned and exhibited by Richard A. Kline, Rocky Ridge, Md. The junior yearling, Three Springs Star is sired by Cedar Valley Mario and out of Au Bar D Luckie Jan.

Berks County was well represented with entries from Pinesedge Farm, Shoemaker'sville. Sam Yoder, Pinesedge owner, exhibited the Reserve Champion Female as well as several individual blue-ribbon winners. Yoder's track record for the day was outstanding enough to earn him the Premier Breeder and Exhibitor banners.

Judge King, a shorthorn breeder from Oneida, Ill., picked Yoder's 3-year-old, Pinesedge Alfair Carleen as Reserve Grand Champion. The reserve champ is by Pinesedge Rhythm and out of Pinesedge Dar Carleen.

The Reserve Junior Champion Female, Pinehurst Sara Belle 11th, was exhibited by Robert Godwin, Daleville, Ind. The junior heifer calf is sired by Viking Valley Nuggett and out of P-Reed's Gloria's D Belle 7.

Sandy River David, a 2-year-old from Maine was named Reserve Grand Champion Bull. The New Park Gay King son is out of Innisfail Daisy 47th. The bull was exhibited by the York family of Sandy River Farms, Farmington, Me.

Pennsylvania captured the winning state herd followed by Maine and New York

Ready plants for winter indoors

LANCASTER — After a summer of basking in golden sunlight, bathing in celestial rains and being reinvigorated by sauna-like humidity, it is little wonder why house plants resent returning from their outdoor vacation to the claustrophobic conditions of a house.

Following the psychology of an adamant child who holds his breath in a final attempt to prevent a culinary encounter with spinach, house plants, upon being placed inside, seek similar reprisal by turning their leaves yellow and refusing to grow.

Their tactics are often successful, causing the gardener to feel guilty and suffer anxieties about the plant.

Plant troubles can be prevented by slowly introducing your plant to the new indoor environment. The acclimating process should begin in the end of August, to insure an adjustment period of a few weeks prior to being brought inside. All plants should be brought in near the end of September.

Begin acclimating or 'hardening off' the plant by removing it from direct sunlight into a shaded area. Reduce the amount of water applied to the plant, allowing the soil to dry before resupplying water. Eliminate all fertilizer applications.

Groom the plant to remove any dead leaves or flowers. Prune off 1/4-1/3 of the summer's lush growth, especially if the plant will be placed inside in a low light area. Scrub the pot clean. Finally, a few days before bringing the plant inside, thoroughly spray the plant and soil with a pesticide designed for houseplants. You'll be surprised at the little critters your plant has picked up on its vacation. Before bringing the plant inside, inspect it closely to make sure it has no pests.

Once the plant is brought inside, mist it daily to a few times a week. Humidity is a key element houses lack and a major cause of vacation returning plant failures.

Ready your plant for its return indoor should insure a successful transition and prevent any plant reprisals. It should be so easy to convince a child to eat spinach!

Top Guernsey sells for $18,500

HARRISBURG — A 5-year-old cow, Kelsos Choices Charmaine topped the Pennsylvania State Guernsey Sale, that grossed $110,800, with a price tag of $18,500.

She was purchased by J. Hammond Dugan American Land and Livestock Company from Springfield, Mass.

The 35 animals that paraded in front of John Merryman's auction stand averaged $3,165.

The top cow is a Minnies Choice daughter and out of Kelsos Flashes Charmaine. She boasts an impressive 20,830 as a 2-year-old and is currently bred to Sande Hill Double Emory.

The Charmaine cow was consigned by Richard Staner, Windsor.

Dugan's company also purchased the second high-seller, a young heifer born this summer and consigned by Harman Haga, Fort

"Paul Revere rides for the Real Seal" was the theme of the York Fair's senior 4-H calf dressing winners, Mike Welsh and Kelly Krebs. Holding Paul Revere's "horse" was Todd Warner.

Pa. Wool Workers spin first place shawl

YORK — Amidst snapping shears and flying fingers, three teams of wool crafters maintained a heated competition during the York Fair's sheep-to-shawl contest, held Sunday afternoon, September 13, at the small livestock exhibition arena.

When the last stretch of woolen yarn became part of a shawl, the Pennsylvania Wool Workers team was declared the winner of the wool promotional event.

The collector-item shawls then went on the auction block, with Dr. Wallace Murdock, of Gettysburg, paying $110 for the first place shawl designed by the Gettysburg Wool Workers team, captained by Ginnie Leber.

Second place was won by the Prairie Spinners of Brookville, Maryland, and their shawl was purchased for $105 by Ivan Leopold, of New Orleans, Louisiana. Carol Anderson was captain of that team.

Judges for the shearing to finished product contest were Terri Willner, Lancaster, a weaving instructor and member of the Yorktowne chapter of the Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen; Florence Hall, Keymar, Maryland, a sheep breeder and judge who's active in the Natural Colored Sheep Association; and Jean Woodward, Brookville, Maryland, who owns a weaving and spinning supply shop, and teaches the crafts.

For maximum control and results... Deworm the entire herd- with BAYMIX from Agway

It's a proven fact that worms can cost you money by reducing milk production potential, feed efficiency and the growth rate of replacement animals.

You can break the damaging worm cycle by feeding your herd Baymix Crumbles from Agway. Unlike wormers used only at freshening, Baymix can be used to deworm the entire herd at one time. Milking cows, dry cows, calves and replacements over 300 lbs weight are all treated so that reinfection is dramatically reduced.

Baymix is easy and convenient to feed. Just topdress on feed for six consecutive days, once in the fall and again in the spring. With Baymix, there are no restraints or handling that could stress your animals. And best of all... Baymix requires no withholding of milk.

For more information on Baymix, contact your local Agway store. Get the control and results you need to break the worm cycle in your entire herd.

Valley, Ga. The calf, Clearbranch Stars Jean, sold for $8,000. A Telestar daughter, the heifer's maternal line is an impressive one. She is out of McDonalds Darimost Jean, a National Class Leader with several records more than 20,000 pounds of milk.

A recently formed syndicate purchased the only bull of the sale. Consigned by John Myers, Littlestown, Green Manor Legacy brought $7,000 which was the third high price. The new syndicate, Legacy, is comprised of mostly Pennsylvania breeders but includes partners from Massachusetts, Ohio, New York and New Jersey.

Bred by Myers, the bull is by of Lyrene Myras Wistar and out of Sniders Prince Lily.

The remaining lot was dispersed into Kentucky, Connecticut, Wisconsin, Maryland, Virginia, New York and Canada.

MERGER PROPOSED

After two months of exploration and examination the directors of Dairyalea have unanimously recommended to the members that they approve a merger with Associated Milk Producers, Incorporated of San Antonio, Texas.

In a letter to the members last week it was announced by the Dairyalea directors that information meetings would be scheduled throughout the milk shed the third week of September. Here the members could hear from Dairyalea and AMPI representatives the benefits of such a merger and how it would be arranged. Final approval, however, still must come from the members voting individually by secret ballot after the information meetings.

JOINING A GIANT

AMPI is the largest dairy co-op in the country with 32,000 members marketing 15 billion pounds of milk a year. It started in Texas 12 years ago but after expanding to 22 states its largest membership is now in the Wisconsin area.

There are now three separate regions in the co-op and if Dairyalea members approve the merger it will become the Northeastern Region of AMPI but retaining the Dairyalea name and brand marketing program. Each region of AMPI is responsible for its own operation, has its own Board of Directors and pays producers out of its own regional pool. Dairyalea members would also be represented on the 32 member board of AMPI.

With assets of $320 million and $100 million in member equity AMPI operates 39 plants (two in Pennsylvania) in a milk shed that extends from Canada to Mexico and from New Mexico to Ohio.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKING?

Dairyalea directors claim that after unsuccessful attempts to combine forces and facilities with northeastern cooperatives the opportunity to join AMPI was the best alternative to improving their competitive position in the market. Hopefully, the merger would provide new capital at lower interest rates; more efficient use of manufacturing plants and the benefit of success proven management skills. Operated as a division of AMPI the merger couldn't cure all the ills of northeastern milk marketing but the Dairyalea members the directors feel it's a long step in the right direction for them. For AMPI, the merger would provide market penetration in the populous northeast plus some innovations in the consumer product marketing not now part of their program. It might be viewed as the merger of the financial Goliath and the marketing David but guarantees are assured to maintain Dairyalea identity and control.

When a 5,000 member co-op merges with a 32,000 member co-op the possibility exists for identity loss but this can be avoided as the organizational lines are drawn. There are risks in every change and members — both Dairyalea and AMPI — have the responsibility of determining the safeguards to minimize risks and the value of the benefits that can result. Dairyalea directors have opened — what they feel — is the door of opportunity. It's now up to the members to decide if they want to step through.

LOOK AGAIN

When you get your milk check from an Order 2 handler this month you may get the idea that the blend price in August was 35 cents higher than July. It was but it wasn't. True, August milk at $13.68 was 35 cents higher than the $13.33 you got in July but that 35 cents was your pay back as part of the Louisville Plan.

You put it in last Spring from March to June and you'll be getting it back with interest from August to November. So, while the uniform price will be $13.68 the real market price was only $13.33 the same as July. In fact taking out all the Louisville Plan money your blend price in Order 2 has been dropping from $13.46 in January and February to the current $13.33 in July and August.

LOOK AHEAD

Even looking ahead won't cheer you up because there just seems to be more of the same. Some slight strengthening in butter, cheese and powder prices seems to be detectable if you look very hard but the Minnesota-Wisconsin price dropped another six cents in August to $12.47 the lowest so far for this year.

However, estimates are that it will start picking up a little next month. Much of the problem centers on getting your Class 1 utilization over 40 per cent. Your production of 898 million pounds last month set a record for August in Order 2 and your Class 1 sales of 358 million was the lowest for the month since 1956. It's for such reasons that your blend price never seems to go anywhere except down when you peel off all the incentive attachments.

BITTER BUTTER

The House Subcommittee on Livestock, Dairy and Poultry gave their stamp of approval to the sale of 220 million pounds of CCC butter to New Zealand for 70 cents a pound — less than half the present support price of $1.49 a pound. However, they took note of the "interference" of the State department in not allowing the sale to Russia at a higher price even though grain sales were recently negotiated.

They also noted that New Zealand contributes to our dairy price support costs by exporting their casein to us at below cost prices to compete with our milk powder. They even said that assurances that New Zealand wouldn't sell our butter to Russia were meaningless because substitutions could be made so easily and big profits could be realized.

And, having said all this, the subcommittee did nothing but ask the USDA to try to do better the next time. So remember, that the next time the State department will still be calling the shots.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards Joyce Bupp

Especially interesting in life on a farm is the number of strange things that turn up in unusual places around a farmstead.

Just give us farm wives a chance to explain, though, why certain things are where they are.

Take the sneakers parked next to the milk tank compressor, for instance. They weren't really left there by accident.

You see, that compressor blows off a tremendous quantity of warm air as the motor cools the milk flowing into the tank during milking hours. I've discovered it's a fantastic place to solidify sneakers that just otherwise refuse to dry in the long stretches of sodden, soggy weather we've experienced lately.

And you don't have to listen to that thudding, clumping sound they make when they're tumbled in an electric dryer. Fact is, things dry so well I'm considering stringing clothes lines through the farm office-utility room for the winter.

I'll bet the milk inspector love'd that.

The same efficient drying element also came in handy for a last minute (is there any other way to do things) silver-spray-paint job on a large cardboard box needed for a 4-H activity. The quick-dry facility saved us from explaining why our 4-H'ers were parading around in Red Man Tobacco boxes instead of the latest in teenage designer fashions.

A large box of aluminum foil was last seen leaving the kitchen to envelope an extremely reluctant small Guernsey calf. Blame that on 4-H, too.

Farm refrigerators are also known to sometimes house alien objects. One familiar item on many dairy farmers is a container of thick, yellowish colostrum being saved for newborn calves.

There's a logical reason, though. Feedings of that colostrum, nature's own protection against disease in baby animals, frequently makes the difference between life and death for a cold, weak newborn.

We'll make room in our refrigerator and freezer for colostrum any day.

But a dear farm wife friend recently confided storing something in her freezer that I trust has never been in mine.

A container of bugs.

Seems her children had taken up the summer-time hobby of insect collecting. And, not having the proper mounting equipment at the time the insects were snagged, she preserved the specimens via freeze-drying.

Even the bugs later had to be moved for something that would have even less chance getting in our freezer.

A couple dozen frozen pies.

Imagine, having pies, real fruit pies, stashed in the freezer for later use.

-To one whose too infrequently-baked pies never make it past the supper-table, that - to borrow a phrase - is incredible.

Kenneth Moore family shows 4 breed champions

YORK — Several hundred sheep paraded before judges at this year's York Fair, with open class trophies going to both local exhibitors as well as several out-of-town entries.

Cheviot blue ribbons were all claimed by Kenneth T. Moore, Jr., of Nichols, New York, while Erdenheim Farm, of Lafayette Hill, collected several second place reds.

One of the larger divisions was the Hampshire breed, with seven herds taking part in the judging. Kenneth T. Moore, Jr., of Nichols, New York, again claimed several of the blues in the Hamp showing, including champion and reserve champion ram.

Dirk and Patricia Niltz, Hampton, New Jersey, took the Hampshire ewe championship, with reserve going to Stewart Ebersole and Son of York.

Natural colored sheep, those animals with any shade of wool other than the familiar cream-color, are becoming increasingly popular and drawing more exhibitors. Ron Chacey of Amesville, Ohio, won that class ram championship, over reserve winner Billie Andrews of Spring Grove. Both top ewe awards went to Randy Irwin, Freeland, Maryland.

Greg Lau, Loganville, was named champion ram exhibitors in the Oxford division, over reserve winner Bixler farms. Lau also took both female champion and reserve rosettes.

Polled Dorset classes again brought honors to the Kenneth Moore family, Nichols, New York, taking the grand in both ram and ewe categories. Reserve ram awards went to Michael Carpenter, Jefferson, Maryland, and Yorker Greg Strausbaugh earned the reserve ewe ribbons.

W. Carpenter and son, Jefferson, Maryland, won the champion Southdown ram designation, over reserve winner Gerald and Barbara Rohrer of Quarryville. Those same exhibitors traded spots when the female championship placing was finished.

Suffolk top winnings also went to two exhibitors, with K. and J. Sheep Company, Jefferson, Maryland, showing the champion ram over reserve winner Troy Ness of Dallastown. Ness took the female championship, over K. and J.

Charles and Barbara Platt, Gettysburg, garnered the female champion and reserve ribbons in Shropshire showing, with the ram championship claimed by Kenneth Moore, Nichols, New York. Reserve ram placing went to Spring Bottom Farm, Fairfield.

Kenneth Moore also made a clean sweep of the Rambouillet division, taking all the champion rosettes, as well as all the blues.

Three divisions had only one exhibitor each. Sigler Dorsett Sheep Farm of York were the lone competitors in the Horned Dorset classes, Charles and Barbara Platt of Gettysburg exhibited in the Merino classes, and Mary Blanchard, Airville, was the sole entrant with Corriedales.—J.B.

Kristine Miller sweeps 4-H championships with Yorkshire entries

YORK — Ten-year-old Kristine Miller wrapped up her first year of the York Fair with two purple champion rosettes, winning both the 4-H's grand and reserve placings with her purebred Yorkshire market hogs.

Kristine is the son of Gary and Linda Miller, R10 York, and a member of the county's Swine club and the Jefferson Community club. In addition to her two top winners, she also exhibited two other first place hogs.

A list of 4-H market hog winners follows:

Miller is first-year exhibitor champion fitter

YORK — First year exhibitor Kristine Miller took the champion fitting honors over all entries in the York Fair's 4-H hog exhibitor competition. She out-cleaned, out-scrubbed, and out-polished close runner-up Todd Mummert, also a junior division entrant. Other junior winners in the fitting competition were Dana Holloway and Greg Bankert.

Brian Bankert won the intermediate division, placing over Melissa Trostle, Gus Parlette and Shelley Bankert. Senior fitting was won by Michele Bankert, topping Harold Mummert and Ron Wilson.

Brian Bankert then edged out all other contenders for the showmanship trophy, after first taking the honors in the intermediate division. Reserve champion showman was the senior category winner, Harold Mummert.

Greg Bankert topped the junior division showman, over Kristina Miller, Todd Mummert and Dana

First-year 4-H exhibitor Kristine Miller, 10, proudly hugs her two Yorkshire partners who took the grand and reserve grand championships at the York Market Hog show and helped Kristine take champion honors in the fitting and showmanship contest. The champs came from her uncle's Yorkshire farm in Spring Grove.

Holloway. Other intermediate showmen were Shelley Bankert, Melissa Trostle and Gus Parlett, while Michele Bankert and Ron Wilson also finished in the senior category.

The Mummert family of Seven

Valleys took four first places in the 4-H Landrace breeding category, with Harold winning two classes and the grand and reserve champion rosettes, and Todd taking an equal number of blues. Also taking first in two classes was Shelley Bankert.

Gus Parlett's winning 4-H Chester Whites took all the blues in that division, as well as the champion and reserve honors. Other Chester exhibitors include Michele and Brian Bankert, Hanover.

Capturing the 4-H Duroc championship was Dana Holloway, while the reserve spot went to Brian Bankert. Bankert exhibited the winning January and March classes and the junior yearling sow class, with Dana Holloway winning the April class, and Greg Bankert topping the senior sow pig category.

Shelley Bankert was uncontested in the Hampshire division, taking all the champions and the blues, while Ron Wilson took the Yorkshire division classes.

Gus Parlett and Melissa Trostle battled through the Spotted Hog division, with Gus emerging as the grand champion exhibitor, with three blue ribbons, and Melissa taking the reserve honors, along with two blues.

York dairy champs wear purple banners well

BY JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

YORK — David King's "Kingstead Ari Tara", a four-year-old 4-H entry, won the open class Holstein show at the York Fair and was named the best uddered entry. "Tara" had previously won the 4-H show last week, as well as championships she took at the York 4-H Round-Up and the 4-H District Show earlier this year.

The 15-year-old son of Paul and Kathy King of R2 Delta, David's other 4-H entry took second place in the four-year-old class. The King family also took first place in the dairy herd class, junior get of sire with an entry sired by Lawcrest Marvex, and junior calf class.

Tapped by judge Jim Shaw for the reserve senior and grand honors was "Bupplynn Marvex Patty," junior two-year-old exhibited by Bupplynn Farms, Seven-Valleys. The Marvex daughter also was chosen second best udder, and best senior female bred and owned.

Mark Jenkins took six first-places in the York Fair Ayrshire open show, then topped that off with the purple banner for his age cow entry, "Cove Creek Kings Sheila."

David King, center, won his second York Fair Holstein championship in as many days, when his four-year-old by Kingstead Aristotle added the open class win to the previous day's intermediate calf, a Marvex, exhibited by 4-H'er Debra Wolf of Abbottstown.

Perennial Guernsey winners, Rutter Bros. Dairy of York, took the purple banner for their aged cow sired by Eber Lea Farms Wistar.

"Eber Cindy Win Sandra" topped reserve senior and res. grand champion, a herdmate owned by 4-H'er Todd Rutter, the third generation of Rutter brothers involved in the registered Guernsey operation. Todd's reserve, "Rutter Bros. Nelson Eager," had won last week's 4-H show.

The Guernsey junior championship was a preview of the grand honors, with Rutter Bros. capturing the top spot with a senior yearling and Todd Rutter in the reserve slot with his senior yearling entry.

Mark Jenkins, Pylesville, Maryland, was named Ayrshire senior and grand champion with his "Cove Creek Kings Sheila," also selected the best uddered cow in the division.

Reserve senior and grand honors went to Joey Welsh, East Berlin, with a junior two-year-old.

Honeycrest Farms of York took the junior championship, with the reserve heifer awards won by Mike Welsh of East Berlin.

Judge John Morris selected "Lake Lane Heathers Flo" as the senior and grand winner of the Brown Swiss entries. Exhibited by Jerry Krone, Foust Hill Farm, Glen Rock, "Flo" is a senior two-year-old. Placing runner-up to the senior and grand was Mike Welsh's three-year-old, a 4-H entry of the East Berlin teen.

Welsh also took the Swiss junior championship with his stretchy junior calf, dropping his brother Tom's winning senior yearling into the reserve placing.

Milking Shorthorns from Three Springs Farm and RACB Farm, entries of the Young family of Newville, made a clean sweep of that division, taking all the purple rosettes.

Patty Greek shows FFA Holstein champ

York — Showmanship judge Jim Shaw said he reluctantly had to turn to "nut-picking" to make the final decision for a show technique winner during heated competition at the York Fair's FFA dairy exhibit.

Patty Greek, R2 Delta, long-time youth exhibitor, finally won the honor, capping off a successful day in which she also took the FFA Holstein senior and grand championship.

Finishing just a breath behind came reserve senior and grand winner Barbara Kilgore, R2 Airville, also selected by titling official John Morris as the champion fitter.

Both young ladies are members of the Red Lion FFA and both exhibited three-year-olds for their winning cow entries.—JB

Crop insurance deadline Sept. 30

LANCASTER — Federal Crop Insurance Corporation will continue to accept applications for the 1982 wheat and barley crop until September 30.

Federal Crop Insurance is an all-risk insurance which covers all natural hazards such as drought, hail, disease, insects, and any other hazards due to weather damage. The insurance guarantees the policy holder an amount of production in bushels and when the insured produces less than his guarantee, he is paid an indemnity for the shortage.

The insurance premium is tax deductible. Policyholders can now choose higher guaranteed production and have a choice of three different levels of coverage, up to 75 percent of the county's average yield.

To find out more about the program, contact the county ASCS office.

Growers get 'peanuts' for apples, says PACMA

CAMP HILL — Guy Donaldson, president of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association, reports prices being offered growers for processing apples are below their real market value.

"The prices we've been offered so far barely cover a grower's costs of production," says

Donaldson, an apple grower from Gettysburg, Adams County. "We believe that canners' prices not only should be higher but will be going higher to balance supply and demand."

Noting that apple harvesting is now getting underway in Pennsylvania, Donaldson said, "We're recommending growers shop around for the best price offer they can find. We think prices will improve when canners realize this year's crop is going to be short."

About 60 percent of the apples grown in Pennsylvania are processed into sauce, juice or other items. USDA estimates this year's crop is going to be about 21 percent below last year's.

"We believe the crop will be even shorter than USDA's estimate and we also think canners will be using as many apples as they did for last year's large pack," predicts Donaldson.

PACMA is a marketing cooperative of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association. PACMA's apple division represented growers of five million bushels of processing apples in Pennsylvania and Maryland in 1980.

This summer, growers from Pennsylvania, Maryland and seven other apple-producing states in the East recommended a minimum price of $8.25/cwt. for 2½" and up, U.S. #1 canner processing apples.

York Fair picks Open Breeding Swine champs

Named the champion Hampshire barrow as well as champion barrow overall at the York Fair was this entry by John Strawbridge.

Strawbridge added to his York Fair winnings with this Hampshire pair that won both their division honors and the ribbons for best pair overall.

Darlene and Roger Bankert took home most of the York Fair's Duroc hog awards, including ribbons for this champion boar.

Bankert got the judge's nod for champion in the Duroc gilt division.

Taking the purple rosette in the Chester White barrow division was Roger Bankert.

Named the champion Duroc barrow, and reserve champion barrow overall, was this market entry of Bankert's.

In the open class hog competition at the York Fair, Jim Parlette captured championships in both the Chester White and the Spotted divisions.

IH offers combine book

CHICAGO — International Harvester's Agricultural Equipment Group has announced the availability of a free "Combine Fire Prevention Guide," alerting operators to the causes and conditions that could increase a combine's vulnerability to a possible fire.

During each year's harvest, many preventable fires are experienced on combines, according to IH. But with good, conscientious inspection and maintenance procedures, potential hazards leading to combine fires may be detected and eliminated, the company added.

The 21-page guide lists different sources of combine fires, including electrical, fuel, and crop residue. It also contains information on the primary causes of these types of fires and steps that should be taken to reduce the chance of a fire igniting.

Breeding Swine

Sheri Johnson shows York FFA swine champ

BY JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

YORK — Sheri Johnson, a senior Future Farmer at Kennard-Dale High School, won the grand champion honors at the York Fair's FFA market swine show.

The FFA competition climaxed with a sale, when Ralph Thomas outbid all other buyers to take home the champion 220-pound purebred Duroc for $1.10 per pound. Thomas operates the Thomas Meat Market at Shrewsbury and is a frequent buyer of top FFA and 4-H market animals.

Sheri, 16, has 13 purebred Durocs and says the key to raising her winner was in keeping the right balance of feed and letting the animal get a proper amount of exercise. Her winning February barrow earned the 4-year FFA veteran her first York Fair hog championship, further whetting the goal she's set to someday operate her own hog farm.

Closer goals for Sheri include exhibiting at the Pennsylvania Farm Show swine competition, and plans to make a second try at the York Fair next year. She resides with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson, R1 Delta, and also is pursuing FFA projects in ag mechanics.

Ron Wilson, 16 and a junior at Kennard-Dale, earned the reserve champion FFA hog honors.

Roy B. Mummert Livestock, R1 Brodbeck's, was final bidder on the reserve winner, paying 70 cents per pound for the 215-pound Duroc market entry.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson, R2 New Freedom, Ron is a 3-year member of the FFA program, and has been exhibiting hogs in 4-H since he was eight years old. Today he owns some 30 animals in his swine herd, some Durocs and some Yorkshires.

Other buyers of the approximately two dozen sale animals included York Farm

Ralph Thomas, of Thomas Meats in Shrewsbury, placed the final $1.10 bid for the FFA champion hog at the York Fair show and sale, exhibited by Sheri Johnson of the Kennard-Dale FFA chapter.

Buyer of the York Fair's reserve champion FFA market hog was Roy B. Mummert Livestock, Brodbeck's. Mummert paid 70 cents per pound for Ron Wilson's runner-up Duroc barrow.

Bankert is York swine showman

YORK — Red Lion sophomore FFA'er Shelley Bankert walked, prodded and cajoled her purebred Hampshire hog to catch the judge's eye and win the award of champion FFA swine showman at the York Fair.

"You have to keep the hog moving at a nice pace, not running or going too slow, and you always want to have that animal between you and the judge," advises this 15-year-old hog showing expert.

But give the judge room to see your animal, she adds, keeping the hog moving about five to six feet back from the official, and keep it clear of other animals.

That's a big order, especially if a hog turns irritable and opts not to cooperate. But it all came together for Shelley, who took the showman trophy for the first time.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Bankert, R3 Red Lion, Shelley grew up in the hog business and has been helping with the family's show entries since she was six and barely taller than the biggest sows.

She presently owns 16 hogs for FFA and 4-H exhibits, plus tends a few sheep and raises field corn for other Future Farmer projects with the Red Lion chapter.

Champion fitter at the York Fair competition was Todd Grove, who placed just behind Shelley in the showing competition, while Shelley stood second in the fitting runoff. Placing third in both showing and fitting was Paul Garner.-J.B.

Shelley Bankert, of the Red Lion FFA chapter, captured the honor of champion FFA hog showman at the York Fair showmanship competition. A sophomore, Shelley's been exhibiting hogs at the Fair for nearly a decade.

Gus Parlette took two breed gilt championships in the 4-H hog exhibits, winning both the Spotted Hog division, as well as the honors in the Chester White category.

Dry cow tops PA Jersey sale

LANCASTER — Jersey breeders wheeled and dealed, Saturday at the annual Pennsylvania State Jersey Sale that grossed $65,475.

"It was a good sale. I am very pleased," said Dave Parkinson, northeastern representative for the American Jersey Cattle Club.

The 36 cows and springing heifers that sold at the Guernsey Barn, averaged $1,818.

Craig and Bruce Rhein, Pine

Grove, paid the top price, $2,950, for a 4-year-old dry cow, projected at 12,797 pounds of milk and bred to Milknhoney General. The top-seller, Wilderness FST Caraway is sired by Favorite Secret Triumph and out of a Generator. She was consigned by Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Dreisbach, Hamburg.

Myersdale breeder, William Yoder was the second high bidder of the day. He paid $2,550 for 4-

David Phillips, Mooreville, leads Wilderness FST Caraway, consigned by Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Dreisbach, Hamburg, around the sale ring for inspection. A few minutes later, the 4-year-old dry cow brought $2,950 from Craig and Bruce Rhein, Pine Grove, to top the Pennsylvania State Jersey Sale held Saturday at the Guernsey Barn.

Four of six Pot of Gold heifers, which averaged $1,060, stretch out after the State Jersey sale before being hauled to their new homes. Junior Jersey members that purchased the three heifers that make the highest production on their first lactation, will divide 25 percent of the Pot of Gold profits from Saturday's sale.

year-old Smokey Hill Mercury Roxy, consigned by Rodney Watson, Columbia Cross Roads. Bred to Sunset Ridge Pompey Pioneer, the Mercury daughter is out of K.L. Generators Chocolate Rosie.

In addition to consigner profits, the sale significantly contributed to various Jersey functions.

The Equity program, supported by the AJCC, which calls for component pricing of milk, received 1 percent of the sale profits.

Six yearling heifers were consigned for the Fifth Annual Pot of Gold award, which allocated 25 percent of their purchase price. The heifers averaged $1,060 and were purchased by junior members between the ages of 7 and 19 years. Three young owners that bought calves which make the highest production records on their first lactation will receive the 25 percent purse.

Jersey Junior member Kathy Rauhauser, Dover, paid top dollar, $1,500, for a Shadewell Fascinator daughter in the Pot of Gold sale. The yearling, Normandell Fascinator Fran, was consigned by Normandell Farm, Liberty.

Walebe Farm, Collegeville, donated the entire proceeds of its consignment, a bred heifer, towards financing the 1985 National AJCC meeting to be held in Downingtown. The heifer, Walebe Samson Bet brought $2,200 from Robert Caccese, Franklinville, N.J. Bred to Favorite Saint, the heifer is sired by Gramhill Leader Sophia Samson and out of Walebe Triumph Bet.

The 42 all-female sale animals were consigned from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Virginia, Delaware, Maryland and Ohio.

Switch fertilizer tanks to a Calumet vacuum tank with soil injector

Liquid hog manure can save thousands of dollars in commercial fertilizer costs. So it makes sense to, preserve that value with good management.

That's why Calumet recommends pairing our vacuum tank with a 2 or 4-shank Calumet soil injector. Soil plow down retains about four times the nitrogen lost with surface spreading, plus reduces odor and runoff.

Stop in to see the full line of Calumet vacuum tanks — in capacities from 1180 to 4500 gallons and choice of two vacuum pumps. And ask about the benefits of using a Calumet 2 or 4-shank soil injector.

U. of Del. plans Soybean Check-off Day

NEWARK, Del. — The University of Delaware is holding a Soybean Check-Off Day at its Substation farm near Georgetown on Thursday, October 1. The event will run from 8:30 to 11 a.m. It is intended to give Delaware soybean growers a chance to observe and evaluate current projects at the experimental farm which have been supported in part by check-off funds.

Ten extension and research projects at the Substation will be featured on the tour. Each is aimed at providing Delaware's soybean growers with information which will help reduce production costs and increase yields. Plots on display include:

A study of the performance of soybean varieties under different row spacings and planting dates to determine how these factors affect yields;

An evaluation of the performance of soybean varieties under no-till double-cropped conditions;

A study of the response of soybean varieties to 2,4-DB in order to develop a low-cost, effective post-emergence control for morningglory in this crop;

An evaluation of soybean varieties for their resistance to insect pests;

A study of the effect of fertilizer rate and placement on irrigated and non-irrigated soybeans;

A comparison of suggested fertilizer programs for soybean production.

All projects were supported in part by grants awarded by the Delaware Soybean Board, which is responsible for administering funds collected under the state's new one-cent-a-bushel soybean check-off program. Delaware soybean growers voted to adopt the check-off system last year.

There are between 2,000 and 3,000 soybean producers in the state. The October 1 Check-Off Day tour is an opportunity for them to see how some of the money collected has been spent and to ask questions about the projects.

Livestock Marketing, World Meat Congresses join forces

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — International livestock and meat industry leaders will join their North American counterparts when the 5th World Meat Congress is held in conjunction with Livestock Marketing Congress '83.

The announcement that the two events will be held together in Nashville in June, 1983, was made by Glen Allen, chairman of Livestock Merchandising Institute, Kansas City. The Institute has been staging the annual Marketing Congress since 1970.

Allen said that the sponsors of the World Meat Congress, the International Permanent Meat Office, had agreed at the 4th World Meat Congress in May to select a North American site for the '83 Congress.

In June, the Institute's Board of Governors agreed to act as hosts for the 5th Meat Congress and proposed holding the two Congresses in conjunction with one another.

The Meat Office, known as OPIC after the Spanish translation of its name, then decided at its Directors' meeting here recently to conduct the event in conjunction with Livestock Marketing Congress '83.

OPIC was founded in 1974 and is headquartered in Madrid, Spain. It is composed of 35 livestock and meat-related organizations in 18 countries.

Its Directors' meeting here was its first meeting in North America. Allen, who is also OPIC treasurer, said the Directors were briefed on the Institute's conduct of the annual Congress and its plans for holding the two events together.

The two events will be hosted and conducted by the Institute, working with an advisory committee from OPIC.

"We are very pleased that the North American livestock industry's premier annual conference, the Marketing Congress, will benefit from its exposure to an international audience. At the same time, industry leaders from other nations will get a better insight into North American livestock economic conditions through their attendance at the Marketing Congress," Allen said.

OPIC conducts the Meat Congress every two years. The 4th Meat Congress was held in Cape Town, South Africa, in May, with attendance from 23 countries.

In attendance at the event, and the recent Directors meeting were Allen, and Institute Governors C.T. "Tad" Sanders and Lemmy Wilson.

Sanders is also OPIC vice president — North America, and Wilson, of Newport, Tenn., has been appointed general chairman of the 1983 joint events.

Allen also issued a reminder that Regina, Saskatchewan will be the site of Livestock Marketing Congress '82, to be held June 16-18. General chairman is Charles E. Leask, livestock division, Saskatchewan Wheat Pool.

Hog feeders introduced

OSBORNE, Kan. — A new line of hog feeders based on a completely new feed delivery mechanism has been introduced by Osborne Industries, Inc. Called the Big Wheel, these self-feeders are said to feed high moisture grains, fine-ground rations and pellets with equal ease.

The result of years of study and on-the-farm testing, the Big Wheel design is said to eliminate plugging and bridging of feed and to be self-cleaning. Construction is steel and fiberglass. The company says its Big Wheel is easy to adjust and eliminates nearly all feed wastage.

The unique Big Wheel design is said to eliminate the usual "knife-edge" feed adjustment and feed agitators commonly used to control feed flow. Feed is spiraled to the animals by the rotation of the spokes of a wheel which is located in the feed trough below a stationary hopper. As the hogs turn this wheel, a sweep inside the hopper moves feed to a central hole.

Big Wheel hog feeders are reported to handle high moisture grains, fine-ground rations and pellets with equal ease.

Feed rate is adjusted by changing the separation between the hopper bottom and a cone suspended inside the hopper over the feed sweep. The higher the cone, the more feed becomes accessible to the sweep, and the faster the feed wheel delivers feed to the hogs.

Osborne is currently offering two models of Big Wheel, a 4.5 bushel nursery feeder and a 7.5 bushel finish feeder. Both are designed for confinement operations. Penline confinement models and weatherized styles will soon be available also. For more information, write Osborne Industries, Inc., P. O. Box 388, Osborne, KS, 67473.

Del. boars average $358

NEWARK, Del. — Twenty-two boars sold for an average of $358 each at Delaware's 4th Annual Performance Tested Boar Sale earlier this month, going to local buyers.

The highest selling boar from this year's test went for $825. This was a Chester White consigned by Henry C. Halloway of Darlington, Md. It was purchased by William Malkus, Blackwater Farm, Cambridge, Md.

The highest indexing boar — a Yorkshire consigned by Edwards & Edwards Farm, Rich Square, N.C. — was purchased for $500 by Raymond E. Townsend, Jr., of Frankford, De. All except three boars were sold to producers in Delaware and Maryland.

Forty-two boars began the test last April. Of these, the top 25 sold on the basis of their soundness and performance. The top index was 145, indicating performance 45 percent above the average of boars on test. Performance data for the 36 animals that completed the test includes an average daily gain of 1.96 pounds; feed required per pound of gain, 2.54; and an average backfat thickness of .68 inches.

Boars meeting these levels of performance had an index of 100. Those with higher indexes had better performances in one or more categories.

The Delaware Cooperative Extension Service and the Delaware Pork Producers Association plan to start another test during the spring of 1982. This will be completed with a sale early next September.

Tops 1981 Ram Lamb and Invitational Ewe Sale

Suffolk ram lamb brings $700

STATE COLLEGE — The 1981 Ram Lamb and Invitational Ewe Sale grossed $19,313, averaging $174 per head.

The sale was held recently at the Department's Meat Animal Evaluation Center. A total of 49 rams averaged $217 while 62 ewes averaged $140 each.

Paul H. Leader of York, York County, topped the entire sale at $700 with his senior Suffolk ram lamb. The October, 1980 twin ram was sired by Reed Shepherd 55 out of an Oakland Farm's dam. The ram sold to Penns Cave, Inc. of Centre Hall, Centre County. Seventeen Suffolk rams averaged $312.

Two Dorsets rams topped the Dorset sale at $400 each. The Kenneth Staver family of Palmyra, Dauphin County, sold their senior twin lamb to John Holtry of Mechanicsburg, Cumberland County. The other top bidder at $400, was Robert L. Holmes, of Oxford, Chester County, purchasing a twin junior lamb from Penn State University. Nine Dorsets rams averaged $139 each.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brubaker, Blu-Acre Farm of Lancaster consigned the top selling Hampshire ram. The January, 1981 junior ram was purchased by Robert Fuller of Carmichaels, Greene County, for $200. Nine Hampshire rams averaged $319 each.

In other ram breeds, three Shropshires averaged $92; three Southdowns averaged $50; one Rambouillet brought $175; one Oxford sold for $135; while a Tunis and Montdale brought $60 and $50, respectively.

Carol McConnell of Fredericktown, Washington

County, was the top buyer of the Dorset ewe sale, taking home six ewes for an average of $202.50. The two high selling ewes of the sale, at $300 each, were purchased by McConnell from the Kenneth Staver family of Palmyra and Penn State University. Eighteen Dorset ewes averaged $177.

Another high seller at $300 was a Suffolk ewe sold to Kelly McConnell and Bob Weaver, also of Fredericktown. The ewe was consigned by Paul H. Leader of York. Twelve Suffolk ewes averaged $172.

Four Shropshire ewes brought $125 each. Two of these were purchased by Hickory Hill Farms, Port Royal, Juniata County from Warm G. Menhennet of Cochranville, Chester County. Roberta and Ted Kirby of Macungie, Lehigh County, sold two Shropshire for $125 to John F.

Matthew of Fallen Timbers, Fayette County. Nine Shropshire ewes averaged $112.

In the Hampshire ewe sale, Kelly McConnell and Bob Weaver bought the high selling ewe from John Nordin of Russell, Warren County. The ewe sold for $225. A total of 14 Hampshire ewes averaged $141.

Dawn Madden of Lake Ariel, Wayne County, sold three Tunis ewes which averaged $162. The top price paid was $185 by Richard Heit of Bedford, Bedford County.

Three Cheviot ewes sold by Calvert Farms of Spraggs, Greene County, averaging $70. Brian Barkely of Manns Choice, Bedford County was the successful bidder of the high selling Cheviot which brought $85.

Pete Levan of Bellefonte, Centre County was the high bidder on Price Brothers' Southdown ewe at $100. Three Southdowns averaged $87.

Arnold G. Walker of Moun-toursville, Lycoming County took home a Rambouillet ewe consigned by Emil Mellott of Needmore, Fulton County. Three Rambouilllets averaged $95. Mellott also sold his Corriedale ewe for $185 to Ben and Mary Bow and family of Annville, Lebanon County, and an Oxford ewe to Anthony L. and Ellen C. Rishel of Bellefonte, Centre County, for $85.

The Pennsylvania Performance Tested Ram Lamb Sale and Invitational Ewe Sale is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Sheep and Wool Growers Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and Penn State.

Farm Talk

Just another government report

Farmers are known to complain about the census reports and other governmental forms they are asked to complete. Filling out forms takes up a lot of time. But some of it is important to both farmers and consumers.

Consider the fact that there are 2.5 million farms in this country and they produce an incredibly large and varied supply of food fiber and forest products. So how does each farmer know: what to produce?; will there be a market?; when and where to sell?

The answers to those questions and many more depend on a wide range of economic information that is available to farmers. In this country there's no such thing as an economic dictator that tells consumers what to consume and producers what to produce. That's determined in the market and it works when information is available at all levels. The more information available, the better it functions. Inaccurate information or no information at all distorts the market system and causes gluts or scarcities.

Since farmers operate in a free market system, more or less, price pretty well determines what they will produce. And while this may be hard for some people to understand, let emphasize that farmers don't decide their prices.

This point has been made over and over again, but still I find a lot of consumers don't have the slightest idea about this. Their only contact with the farmer may be a visit to a roadside stand where the farmer is, in fact, setting a price. But the bulk of what farmers produce is sold through a market system where the price is dictated to the farmer.

Price determines the availability of supplies among the buyers and in turn prices are transmitted through the system to the producer. High or very profitable prices encourages more production. On the other hand, low prices cause cutbacks in production.

Farmers need a wide range of up-to-date information if they are going to make intelligent decision and come at all cost to meeting consumer needs. Among other things, they need to know the production intentions of other farmers. They need information on supply and demand for various commodities, the price outlook, and they need to know quite a bit about conditions in the world market.

Firms that sell supplies to or buy commodities from farmers also need information on agricultural production and marketing intentions. Without it, they may not be able to meet demands for seed, fertilizer, chemicals and other production supplies. Or, they may not be prepared to purchase what the farmers have to sell.

The government also has an interest in farm production. These days, the State Department is probably more interested in the crop report than anyone else. Farm exports play such a vital role in world trade and the U.S. balance of payment position is dependent on farm exports. In fact, the strength of the dollar and the whole U.S. foreign policy depends in large measure on farm exports. So what farmers produce, what they have to sell to other countries, and what is in short supply is very important to our government.

Congress also needs information about agriculture because it must act from time to time on farm legislation. And, unless it has a score sheet, it can't act very intelligently.

In planning their operations and developing market strategies to maximize their profits, farmers need information both on what has happened and what is like to happen — both the history and the future. Such information tends to stabilize production, marketing, and distribution, and thus it benefits consumers, farm related businesses and farmers.

Farmers get information from a lot of sources. Of course, they read all kinds of publications available from private industry and government agencies. They read farm magazines and forecasts from a wide range of experts. Out of all this, they must make some decisions. So they keep a close eye on the general agriculture situation, farm costs and income, commodity data, the market news, and any other information they think will help.

Out of all the questions that government agencies ask farmers, much of the information is compiled and fed back to farmers through the Department of Agriculture. Agencies within USDA provide valuable data and analysis of various situations. Also, the federal Census of Agriculture, taken every five years, provides useful information.

While farmers may grumble about filling out forms, and some even question the value of such items as crop reports and intentions to plant, it's safe to say the marketing system would be chaos without them. If farmers didn't have any idea how much of a commodity was going to be grown and based all of their farming decisions on what happened to them last year, they could be in really serious trouble when they sell their crops. I think most farmers would agree, the more information they have, the better decisions they'd be able to make.

Leases can mean extra money

Third in a series of 4 silo & gas lease articles

HONESDALE — Bonus payments for signing an oil and gas lease and annual delay rental fees provide some income to landowners for a few years.

However, the royalty payment is the stuff dreams are made of according to Joseph Macialek, Community Development Agent. The royalty payment is based on the value of the product at the well head and the size of the share assigned to the landowners.

A common practice has been to grant a one-eighth share or (12 percent) to the landowner. In some instances, Macialek said, landowners have been able to negotiate a greater share. In other cases, the one-eighth was established for the first gas produced and a greater share for gas produced at a later date.

This royalty payment does not necessarily all go to the owner of the land where the well is located. Since oil and gas is not confined to property lines, pool areas are established for each well site.

In Pennsylvania, the size of the pool area is normally about 320 Acres. Each landowner shares in the royalty payment according to his or her share of land in the pool. If oil or gas is discovered and there is no pipeline to transport the product, the well may be temporarily capped. In that case a "shut-in" royalty is paid to keep the lease in force.

Another benefit for the landowner according to Macialek is the provision of free gas. Leases may contain provisions for the landowner to use some gas for heating the home or for other uses providing the landowner installs the pipes from the home to the well.

Natural gas contains about 1000 BTU per cubic foot and furnace oil contains 138,500 BTU/gallon. It will, therefore, take 138.5 cubic feet of gas to replace a gallon of oil. If the home uses 1000 gallons of oil per year, it will take 138,500 cubic feet of gas to replace the oil.

Pa. Cattlemen hold field day at Simmental farm

BUTLER — More than 350 enthusiastic Pennsylvania cattle producers turned out recently at Rolling Ridge Farms, located near here, for the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association field day.

The field day, which turned out to be slightly soggy due to the weather, was co-sponsored by the Pennsylvania Simmental Association and held at the 800-acre Simmental farm of Harold and Rose Schneider.

The Schneider farm is a model of how barren stripmine land can be reclaimed and put back into production as a cattle operation.

Penn State's Lester Burdette was on hand for the day's events to discuss proper yield grading of beef. He stressed knowledge of yield grading is important for cattle breeders and also consumers in getting the most and best quality meat available.

There were a few rays at the field day, but not from the sun. Instead, they were the rays emitted by a Sonaray electronic device demonstrated by Robert Kimble, director of the Meat Animal Evaluation Center at State College. This piece of equipment shows the amount of backfat on an animal and helps determine the yield grade through the use of sound waves.

The Pennsylvania Holstein Association displayed a scale model of the proposed Penn State Ag Arena for the field day participants to inspect.

to Grand Champion honors while Amy Rynd, Karns City, showed the Reserve Grand Champ.

Champion Showman of the Junior division was Wayne Stough, Jr., Spring Grove. And Brenda Walter, Airville, took the Senior Showman honors.

Other placings were:

Class 1

Yearling Heifers

1. Jay Stough, Spring Grove; 2. Leroy Bowles, Red Lion; 3. Brenda Walter, Airville; 4. Annette Walter, Airville.

Class 2

Yearling Heifers

1. Joseph Messick, Middletown; 2. Amy Rund, Karns City; 3. Jessica Ferree, Spring Grove; 4. Joseph Messick.

Fire poses threat at harvest time

NEWARK, Del. — Fire has been a valuable tool since the dawn of civilization, yet it also has the power to destroy, says Delaware Extension safety specialist Ronald C. Jester.

"We're often surprisingly casual about the potential dangers of fire. We smoke in bed, let electrical wiring and heating systems run down, handle flammable liquids carelessly, put off developing a fire escape plan and ... fail to equip our combines with fire extinguishers."

Fire is a serious matter at harvest time. A ripe, dry crop catches fire easily and burns rapidly. The personal safety of the operator is at stake, and the combine and crop may be destroyed, stresses Jester.

Proper care and operation of equipment can prevent most combine fires — eliminate the cause of fires by keeping the area around the engine free of chaff, trash, and excess grease. Replace faulty mufflers and exhaust pipes.

Follow maintenance recommendations as to lubrication, adjustments, and engine tune-ups. Fire can be caused by overheating of bearings owing to lack of lubrication, or by overheating of belts owing to too much or too little tension. Keeping the engine properly tuned and tuned will prevent backfiring. Also avoid extended overloading that could result in overheating of components, he recommends.

When refueling, turn off the engine and do not smoke. Avoid fuel spills. During routine maintenance, check the fuel system for loose connections and leaks. Watch for and repair leaks in the fuel lines, carburetors, pumps and filters before a machinery fire has a chance to occur. Be sure smoking materials are out before disposing of them.

Caution during equipment repair is also extremely important. When using flammable materials while overhauling, degreasing or repainting, work only in a well-ventilated area or outdoors. Be careful about welding and other sources of heat or sparks.

Equip your combine with at least two fire extinguishers. Mount one in or just outside the cab, and another where it can be reached from the ground. A good choice would be the 2A-20 B:C rated multi-purpose dry chemical extinguisher, Jester concludes.

6 Junior Angus members get gold awards

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — The first six recipients of the American Angus Association National Junior Recognition Program's most prestigious honor, the gold award, were announced recently and, with a unanimous vote of a three-member panel of judges, Jennifer Platts of Culpeper, Virginia, was named the outstanding applicant.

Additional gold lapel pin winners were: Jodie Wallace, Ripley, West Virginia; Dale Rains, Mercer, Pennsylvania; Greg Kimzey, Elk City, Kansas; Bruce Kroeker, Hutchinson, Kansas; and Danny Knop, Ida Grove, Iowa.

Each of these young leaders had already attained the first two levels of recognition, the bronze and silver awards, for their accomplishments in Angus association activities, showmanship and heifer competition, performance programs, and producing and merchandising Angus. They're all less than 21 years of age, members of the national Angus association and own Angus cattle, and their work in 4-H and FFA projects, A.I. physical facility improvements and forage improvement programs helped earn their gold honors.

More than a dozen applications for the gold honors were reviewed by judges Gilman Stewart, Indianapolis, Indiana, past president of the American Angus Association; John Crouch, director of the Association's performance programs; and John Kiesewetter, Farmington, Illinois, immediate past chairman of the National Junior Angus Association board of directors.

Jennifer Platts

Jennifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Platts, grew up on the family's Turkle Trak Farm near Culpeper, where she is assistant manager of the cow herd. She will graduate next spring from Virginia Polytechnic Institute with a degree in animal science and options in business, marketing, art and design.

Jennifer has been a delegate to the national Angus showmanship contest, and was fourth in the 1978 American Angus Auxiliary scholarship contest. She has been Virginia Angus Queen and secretary-treasurer of the Virginia Junior Angus Association. She was selected as the state's outstanding junior Angus member, and won the 4-H State Outstanding Livestock Exhibitor title.

Jennifer has worked with the Virginia Beef Cattle Improvement Association and was an advertising consultant for a firm at VPI. She's headed for a career in agriculture, probably in the communications field, and hopes some day to have her own farm.

Jodie Wallace

Jodie is a senior in industrial engineering at West Virginia University. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wallace Jr., Jodie is coordinator of the national junior Angus board of directors' Finance Committee. She has been president and director of her state junior Angus association, and was a state Angus queen.

Jodie has worked on her parents' farm, and also spent several summers working at the nearby Kaiser Aluminum plant. Jodie is on the American Institute of Industrial Engineer's Regional Conference Committee, spent a year as an International Rotary Exchange Student, and was a nominee to the U.S. Naval Academy.

Dale Rains

Dale was a member of the National Junior Angus Association board of directors last year, and was the first chairman of the group's Rules Committee. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin C. Rains, Dale has been president and vice president of the Northeastern, Pennsylvania and Western Pennsylvania junior Angus Associations, and was coordinator of the 1979 Eastern Regional Junior Heifer Show.

Dale's Angus herd numbers 45 head. He has worked for several Angus operations, giving him considerable cattle fitting experience, and was a finalist in the 1979 national Angus showmanship contest.

A senior in animal production at Pennsylvania State University, Dale has worked in the college beef barns, was a member of the livestock and meat judging teams, is an active member of the Block and Bridle Club.

Greg Kimzey

A former president, vice president and secretary of the Kansas Junior Angus Association, Greg is a Kansas State University student. He will graduate in 1982 in animal science and industry with a production option, then plans to return to the family farm near Elk City. Greg's parents are David and Patricia Kimzey.

Greg is a member of the Kansas State meat and livestock judging teams, works at the school's purebred beef barn, and is Block and Bridle Club marshal and president of the Little American Royal committee. He's a National Honor Society member and a two-year recipient of the Kansas State Willis-Griffing scholarship.

Bruce Kroeker

Bruce is serving his second term on the National Junior Angus Association board of directors. He's been president of the Kansas Junior Angus Association, placed second in 1978 national Angus showmanship, is a Kansas Angus scholarship recipient, was the 1980 "Junior of the Year" award winner, and spent three years as 4-H beef leader for his county.

A junior in animal science at Kansas State University, Bruce is the son of Eldo and Grace Kroeker, and is a voting member of Kroeker Angus Inc.

Before transferring to Kansas State Bruce attended Hutchinson Junior College, where he was awarded an ag leadership scholarship and was a judging team member. He is a member of Kansas State's Block and Bridle Club and was nominated to the International Achievement of Agriculture.

Danny Knop

Danny is an animal science graduate of Hawkeye Institute of Technology and works with his parents, Eugene and Colleen Knop, on Knop Angus Farm. He also has land, cattle and machinery of his own. Among other responsibilities, Danny is in charge of the farm's A.I. program, and has improved conception rates by 15% in the last two years.

A veteran to the showing, Danny received honorable mention in the 1980 National Showmanship Contest. He also was a member of Iowa's Angus Bowl team that competed in the 1980 national contest. Danny has been president, vice president and director of the Iowa Junior Angus Association, and was an active 4-H and FFA member.

Calif. medfly takes winter vacation

WASHINGTON, D.C. — California growers may have to wait until next year to finish off the Mediterranean fruit fly threatening their crops.

While Florida seems to have gotten the small numbers found there under control, California suffered a series of disappointments in its fight against the "medfly".

When three medflies first appeared in detection traps in Santa Clara county in June, 1980, the California government had hoped that a combination of fruit stripping, sterile flies, bait traps, and ground spraying could eradicate the insect.

However, the infested area was larger than expected, and things took a turn for the worse. No one really knows why the infestation began to grow, but one of the techniques to fight the medfly may have backfired: Some fertile medflies possibly found their way into a shipment of sterile ones.

Just as harmful to eradication efforts, though, were motorists who carried infested fruit out of the quarantined area. The flies spread from the backyard orchards where they first appeared to areas close to the state's commercial crops, including the San Joaquin Valley, where the bulk of the fruits that host the medfly are grown.

Because the biological and genetic control techniques that had worked earlier take time and aren't effective with widespread infestation, there was no alternative but aerial spraying with malathion, in the form of baited droplets, according to a U.S. Dept. of Agriculture spokesman. Even so, some medfly pupae may survive and reappear in the spring, says USDA economist Roger Conway. That's when officials and growers hope to wipe out the survivors.

Only the adult fly is vulnerable to aerial spraying. Once the female has deposited her eggs in a fruit, the developed larvae begins to eat its way out. When the fruit falls, the larva burrows into the ground, becomes a pupa, and emerges as an adult fly 6 to 11 days later.

With the coming of cooler weather, the pupa goes into dormancy in the ground until the spring. This is the most resistant stage in the life cycle, but growers will spray diazinon on the ground around the trees to destroy the larva and the emerging adult fly. They'll resume malathion spraying next spring, if necessary.

Spraying is nothing new to growers, but those in infested areas will have to spend more to combat the medfly. And because of the quarantine, they'll need to build more fumigation chambers for treating the fruit before it can be shipped.

Matters will be complicated by motorists who continue to transport the fruit, and by people who, instead of destroying the infested fruit after stripping it, discard it where the larva can survive. Spraying must be backed up by strict enforcement of the quarantine for maximum effectiveness, says Conway.

Another problem is the possibility that spraying will destroy medfly predators along with the medflies. However, according to Merrill Cleveland of USDA's Agricultural Research Center in Beltsville, Maryland, the baited droplets used to carry the malathion are designed to attract only the medfly, and few other insects should be affected.

While the number of flies being found is small compared with past infestations when as many as a thousand flies were found in a single trap, the stakes are so high that even one medfly worries growers. The farm value of fruits and nuts in California is around $3 billion. Medflies can easily destroy, or at least make more difficult to sell, 25 to 50 percent of a crop. A heavy infestation can wipe out the entire crop.

Economists estimate that if an infestation were to cover the whole state, the loss could reach $413 million—$146 million for added pest control, $207 million from direct crop losses, and $60 million to fumigate.

Unfortunately, California's biggest fruit and vegetable crops are the ones most attractive to the medfly—citrus fruits, peaches, apples, cherries, tomatoes, peppers, avocados, and some nuts—over 50 in all. While the range of fruits, vegetables, and nuts that can host the medfly in large—over 250—the insect is no threat to other major field crops.

Although the infestation has been limited to California and Florida, it could have spread to any of the southern states with climates warm enough to harbor the fly, Cleveland says.

In fact, any state where the host crops are grown could be hit, but in the colder states the medfly would have to be introduced with each growing season, as the climate would be too cold for the pupa to survive the winter. Both the adult and the pupa die within a few days in temperatures below 42 degrees.

In the past only Florida, Texas, and California have had significant medfly infestations. The first, in central Florida in 1929, was the worst, when 6,000 state and federal workers battled the fly for 2 years with arsenical-molasses bait sprays. The infestation covered 188 square miles and cost over $7 million to wipe out. The damage to crops was substantial.

Other infestations have not been as serious, although the second—also in Florida—covered 1,000 square miles. The medflies were controlled somewhat more easily, with malathion spraying and the introduction of sterile flies.

The quarantines imposed to contain this outbreak affect more than shipments within the U.S. In August, Japan indicated it would not accept any produce from quarantined areas and won't accept any from other areas in California that hasn't been fumigated or cold-treated to destroy the larva.

Growers are rushing to build more fumigation centers, but they won't know how many they'll need until the extent of the infestation is clear. Only 33 EPA-approved centers are near the infested areas, plus some temporary structures that must be monitored at every treatment.

Betsy Wallaston, of Toughkenamon, Chester County, stands between her grand and reserve grand champion in the Jersey competition. She's the second member of her family to record double wins at the All-American Junior Dairy Show.

FARM SHOW COMPLEX — Many, many interesting stories unfolded at the All-American Junior Dairy Show at Harrisburg on Monday.

Here are highlights of just a few of them:

—For the first time in a number of years, a single exhibitor, 17-year-old Betsy Wallaston, of Toughkenamon, Chester County, captured both the grand and reserve championships in the Jersey competition. And she's following in the footsteps of her older sister, Carolyn, who pulled off the same double win in 1972 and 1973.

—And there were a number of repeat winners. Wendy Yoder, 19, of Shoemakersville, Berks County, won the Milking Shorthorn grand championship for the sixth straight year. For the fourth straight year, Kennard Henley, of Cochranville, Chester County, took the top Ayshire placing. In 4-H Holstein competition, John Burkett, of East Freedom, Blair County, repeated last year's top placing.

—Incidentally in the Ayrshire competition, it would be easy to confuse the names of the top two winners. While Kennard Henley, of Cochranville, took the grand championship; the reserve grand went to Heather Hernley, of Lebanon (only one letter difference in last names.)

—The State FFA President, Doug Hershberger, of Quarryville, was in the winner's circle with his reserve grand champion Holstein.

—At least one county dairy princess showed and she did it with a broken hand. Cinda Oakes, of Cochranville, Crawford County's Dairy Princess, showed her Holstein calf to the junior FFA championship. Recently, she broke her hand while leading a bred heifer back home.

breeds were pretty well scattered across the state among the more than 600 animals shown by 4-H'ers and FFA'ers. But Lebanon and Chester Counties tied for the most top awards. Lebanon County exhibitors had one grand and two reserve grands and Chester County had two grands and one reserve.

But of these stories, my favorite is that which unfolded in the Jersey competition. To take the top two placings is a rare and distinguished honor. But to have two sisters do it must run against astounding odds.

But when 17-year-old Betsy Wallaston, led her four-year-old and her three-year-old into the winner's circle, she was beaming with joy. The only larger smile was displayed by older sister, Cathy, 24, who knew just how Betsy felt. She did the same thing back in 1972 and 1973.

Betsy is the last of six children of Charles Wallaston, of Maple Lawn Farm, showing in the junior competition.

Next year will be the last year of showing for the Delaware Valley College freshman. And you just know that older sister Cathy will be rooting the loudest and longest for Betsy to become the second member of the family to twice exhibit twin champions.

And rooting more quietly but just as vehemently off to the side will be the proud father, whose family maintains about 100 head of Jerseys, milking some 60 — all home-bred.

A rundown of the top winners by breed:

Milking Shorthorn — Wendy Yoder, Berks County, grand and senior champion; Kim Proper, Venango County, reserve grand and reserve senior; Christine Young, Cumberland County, junior champion.

Brown Swiss — Bryan Urmey, Lehigh County, grand and senior; Gary Mase, Lebanon County, reserve grand and reserve senior; Allen Daubert, Schuylkill County, junior champion.

4-H Holstein — John Burket, Blair County, grand and senior; Terry Branstetter Jr., Huntingdon

County, reserve grand and reserve senior; Cinda Oakes, Crawford County, junior champion.

FFA Holstein — Barry Donmoyer, Lebanon County, grand and senior; Doug Hershberger, reserve grand and reserve senior; Todd Reed, Lancaster County, junior champion.

Guernsey — Renee Fava, Washington County, grand and senior; Gwen Witmer, Northumberland County, reserve grand and reserve senior; Beth Clark, Bedford County, junior champion.

Jersey — Betsy Wallaston, of course; and Stephanie Kocher, Tioga County, junior champion.

Expect unexpected arrivals after hauling

LANCASTER — During fair and show season, dairy cattle are trucked here and there and often return to the farm with a few extra ribbons and banners.

But occasionally, many return home with a calf in tow — a calf which beats the due date by a couple weeks.

Due to truck rides, an early birth is not uncommon at shows and sales, says Penn State Extension veterinarian Lawrence Hutchinson.

Hutchinson explains that hauling pregnant animals can hurry freshening, especially in the last two to three weeks of gestation.

Abortions do occur, but says

Hutchinson, are less common.

Meanwhile, calves born away from the farm do surprisingly well.

"Someone is always in attendance at shows and a newborn tends to get colostrum soon," says Hutchinson. He also attributes the clean bedding and environment to the calf's well-being.

When hauling is necessary, Hutchinson suggests a farmer take as much caution and care in loading and unloading as possible.

If the blessed event should occur while at a show or sale, a bellyful of colostrum and a painted navel get the little one started in the right direction, he concludes.

1982 wheat reduced acreage reminder

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block recently announced his intentions to implement a 15 percent "reduced acreage" program for the 1982 wheat crop to offset the effects of record supplies and depressed wheat prices.

Program operating procedures will be issued after pending farm legislation is enacted into law.

"Wheat supplies in the United States are 14 percent above last year," Block said. "The carryover next June is expected to exceed 1 billion bushels, the highest level since 1977-78. The reduced acreage program will strengthen prices by reducing the 1982-83 marketing year supplies."

Block said the increase in supplies and decrease in prices is the result of two successive record U.S. wheat crops and a record-setting 1981 world harvest.

The program will be voluntary so producers can decide for themselves, based on market conditions, whether they want to participate.

"Soil conservation will be strongly stressed in this program," Block said. "The reduced acreage will have to be devoted to conservation uses."

Surprise! Mama Jersey watches over her brand new baby, born just minutes after she stepped off the auction block at the PA. State Jersey Sale. Although this little fellow made his entrance about two weeks too early, Penn State Extension veterinarian Larry Hutchinson says early births are not uncommon when animals are hauled to and from events. In fact, Hutchinson says these unexpected arrivals do surprisingly well.

Frost nips Brazilian coffee crop in bud

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Recent frosts in major Brazilian coffee growing states could reduce Brazil's total 1982-83 coffee production potential by 40 percent to 45 percent, from 27 to 30.5 million 60-kilogram bags to 15 to 18 million bags, according to a field survey by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

For the 1981-82 crop, Brazil's production currently is estimated at 32 million bags, or about a third of total world production.

The U.S. agricultural counselor in Brasilia reported the frosts in Minas Gerais—Brazil's largest coffee growing state—have reduced that state's 1982-83 coffee production potential by about one-third. This, coupled with previous reports of frost reduced production potentials for the states of Parana and Sao Paulo, form the basis for the latest estimate. According to this survey, next year's coffee crop potential in Minas Gerais has been reduced from an estimated 6.5 to 7.5 million bags to 4.5 to 5 million bags.

For the 1981-82 crop, Minas Gerais is estimated to have harvested a record 10 to 10.5 million bags, accounting for about one-third of Brazil's total production. Owing to the normal biennial cycle of coffee yields, the pre-frost production potential estimate for next year's crop was expected to be down about one-quarter from the excellent yields achieved in 1981-82. Now, next year's crop is expected to be down by about one-half from the preceding year.

The USDA survey in Minas Gerais showed about one-third of the approximately 1 billion coffee trees in the state were damaged by frost that struck the area July 20-22. Frost damage was concentrated in southwestern Minas Gerais where three-fourths of the state's coffee trees are located.

About 45 percent of the 750 million trees in this region were affected by the frost in varying degrees. No frost damage was evident in southeastern Minas Gerais where the remaining one-fourth of the state's coffee tree population is located.

In the frost affected southwest Minas Gerais, 10 percent of the coffee trees were moderately damaged by the freeze. These trees will require about three years to fully recover. Thirty-five percent were lightly damaged and will require two years for full recovery. In contrast to survey results for the states of Parana and Sao Paulo (reported by USDA on Aug. 12 and 19), no trees in Minas Gerais were killed or severely damaged by the frost.

The 1982-83 Brazilian coffee crop will soon enter the critical flowering stage of its development (Sept.-Dec.). Growing conditions during this period could further influence flowering and fruit set and thereby modify the production potential somewhat.

To accurately gauge the crop's development and level of cultural practices, the office of the agricultural counselor in Brasilia will conduct extensive field surveys in January, 1982 after flowering and fruit set and again in April, 1982 before harvest.

Despite the significant losses to the 1982-83 crop's production potential as well as the reduced potential over the next several seasons due to damaged trees, it is evident that Brazil's coffee tree replanting program following the devastating frost of 1975 has better prepared the world's largest coffee economy to cope with frost. Government sponsored replantings over the last several years have focused on a northward shift in coffee production out of Parana and into areas considered relatively frost free.

When the July, 1981 frost struck, Parana accounted for only a quarter of Brazil's total 1981-82 output. In the past, Parana's coffee production represented 50 to 60 percent of annual output. In contrast, Minas Gerais — where the bulk of new plantings have taken place — produced a record crop accounting for about one-third of Brazil's coffee production this year. This compared with only 9 percent in 1975.

Conservation tillage program

PITTSBURGH — A new motion picture produced by PPG Industries shows how Pacific Northwest farmers are using a conservation tillage program to improve the quality of their soil and increase crop yields.

The 20-minute film describes the importance of conserving water and nutrients in the soil, why a conservation tillage program including chemical treatment to control weeds can be beneficial, and how Pacific Northwest growers are using Combine 135 herbicide in a successful conservation tillage program.

Agriculture-oriented groups and educational institutions may borrow the 16-mm film, "Conservation Tillage," free of charge by writing PPG Industries, 10 North, One Gateway Center, Pittsburgh, PA, 15222.

took her home-bred Dorset Lamb to the reserve champion honors.

Troy Ness of Dallastown took his Suffolk Lamb to Championship honors by placing above nearly 100 other market lambs.

Lisa Dobrosky, Glen Rock, was selected by Judge Richard Fowler from the University of Delaware to receive the Reserve Champion honors with her Dorset Market Lamb.

In the pair of lambs competition, a set of Dorset crossbred twins won the competition for Donna Wilson of Glen Rock. The Reserve Champion pair of lambs also came from Glen Rock and were owned by Laurie Dobrosky.

The champion fitting honors went to Troy Ness, Dallastown. The Reserve Champion fitter and the Grand Champion showmanship honors went to Tom Flory of Red Lion. The Reserve Champion Showman was Brian Bankert of Hanover.

Another of the special classes was the Shepherd's Class. This competition is based on the fitting, showmanship ability, and knowledge of the sheep industry possessed by the 4-H'er. Each must also show his own home-bred animals. In the junior division Sarah Lau, Loganville showed her Oxford yearling ewe to the top position. In the senior division Laurie Dobrosky, was named the Champion with her Dorset Market Lamb.

After a hard day of showing the members got a chance to unwind with the lead-line and decorator competitions. The lead-line class is judged on the members' ability to train and have their sheep walk on the halter, and their appearance which must include one article of woolen clothing. The top three winners in this competition were Sonja Shearer, Abbottstown; Sarah Lau, Loganville; Bev Eisenhart, Dover.

The final competition is the decorator class in which both the sheep and the member may dress up and enter in one of three categories. In the prettiest division Leslie King, Airville, came in first. In the funniest and most unusual division, Greg Bankert and Jennifer Jeffres placed on top.

The results are as follows:

American sheep industry cheers New Zealand subsidy code

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — National Wool Growers Association chairman Don Meike said last Thursday he was "delighted" the government of New Zealand has signed an agreement to end many of the subsidies it has provided its producers who export lamb meat to the United States.

"This is a great victory for the American sheep industry," Meike said. "We believe in free trade with foreign nations, but it has to be fair trade. And it is not fair when New Zealand lamb is subsidized by 15 to 20 percent."

New Zealand's action comes as a result of a petition filed in April by NWGA asking the Department of Commerce to assess a duty on imported New Zealand lamb to offset the improper subsidies. Meike cautioned, however, that continued NWGA action may be necessary because, under the agreement, the subsidies will not be entirely phased out until 1985, and the agreement does not address some less significant subsidies cited in NWGA's April petition.

"If there are ways we can further aid our industry, we will pursue them," Meike said. "The New Zealand government has eliminated probably 75 percent of our concern on the subsidies issue. But we would not be serving our industry if we didn't shoot for 100 percent."

Meike indicated that once the subsidy issue was completely resolved that the NWGA would step up its efforts to seek Congressional approval of quantitative limits on imported lamb meat. Legislation to accomplish this has been introduced in both the House and the Senate.

The Champion Showman of the 4-H Sheep division went to Tom Flory, 17, of Red Lion.

Brian Bankert, foreground, was selected as the reserve champion showman.

Iowa Congressman looks into retail, farm beef price disparity

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Shocked by the September Department of Agriculture figures showing a "disturbing disparity" between producer livestock and consumer meat prices, Representative Berkley Bedell (D-Ia.), contacted corporate leaders of the nation's largest grocery store chains to request information on a possible "retailer effort" to increase these price spreads.

Expressing "deep disappointment" over the trend for the past three months indicating a widening of the livestock producer/meat consumer price spread, Bedell quoted to the grocery store heads the USDA figures released September 4.

"I readily understand that the wholesale-to-retail price spread may be moving up over time to reflect inflationary cost increases," Bedell wrote to the food store executives. "However, my figures would indicate that over the past twelve months, the spread on beef has increased by 15.6 percent while the spread on pork has jumped 23.8 percent."

Congressman Bedell, first alerted to the price discrepancy by Iowa cattlemen in January, began his long running correspondence with the grocery store heads when he petitioned these large food stores to restore the producers share of the consumer meat dollar to "reasonable levels."

According to Bedell, following his initial efforts, "we saw an earnest effort by the retail industry to promote beef and pork and the figures from the Department of Agriculture indicated a narrowing of the farm-to-retail price spread."

In separate letters to the nation's six largest food store chains, Bedell told the chief executives that he is concerned that the "retail value of choice beef has increased whereas the net farm value has decreased substantially."

"I am greatly concerned over the failure of retail meat prices to reflect reductions in the prices paid to our beef producers, and while pork prices may have risen slightly, the dramatic increase in retail prices has substantially widened the price disparity," said Congressman Bedell, a member of the House Agriculture Committee.

Experts use weather to control crop pests

COLUMBIA, Mo. — "Timing is everything when it comes to managing pests."

"And the weather-monitoring network we're developing, plus the integrated pest management program, will give us just the one-two punch we need to do the job," said Rodney Ward, University of Missouri-Columbia research entomologist.

So far, the weather network includes 34 stations across Missouri and 24 more stations in nine surrounding states—all gathering whether data to be fed into a computer.

Ultimate goal: Use weather to hit pests, weeds and diseases when and where it hurts.

Wayne Decker, chairman of the UMC Department of Atmospheric Science, and Mitchell Roof, coordinator of the UMC extension Integrated Pest Management Program, are working with Rodney Ward and the National Weather Service to forecast when pest problems are likely and to tell farmers the best time to take action.

"The computerized weather-monitoring network plus pest scouting services by private consultants, agribusiness cooperatives or farm families themselves will really help us stay on top of pests," Ward said.

The network will have two completely automatic university-operated weather collecting stations, one at Linneus and another outside Columbia. These two stations will record hourly and daily soil temperature at the four-inch depth (bare soil), temperature five feet above the ground, wind velocity and direction, rainfall, relative humidity, solar radiation, soil moisture, and leaf wetness.

These and the other stations will be tied into a computer which will have information about the maturity and stages of insects and crop growth phenology (natural phenomena that affect plant and insect life cycles).

"In a year like this one, phenology becomes very important. With the mild winter and warm dry conditions turning to a cool, wet spring, this has been a fantastic year for insects," Ward said.

"In some cases where we depended on natural controls to keep pests in check, the weather got them out of sync and Mother Nature didn't get the job done."

Ward said that insects, just like plants, slow or speed up biological processes, depending on the temperature. So, just spraying according to a calendar isn't enough; weather has to be considered or farmers will apply insecticides too early or late to get best results.

"Our computerized weather network will give farmers the knowhow they need to, apply pesticides of the best kind, both from the standpoint of economics and effectiveness," Ward said.

Just looking at a thermometer isn't enough for drawing conclusions about insect development and control. For example, Ward said the slope of the land may throw the hatching time off by as much as a week.

Southern facing slopes are much warmer than those facing north, so the control of an insect like the alfalfa weevil might have to be managed to take that into account.

Ward is working with the new UMC forage entomologist, Rick Brandenburg, in a special effort to use weather information for more effective control of the alfalfa weevil.

"With this computerized weather base, farmers should be able to kill insects more effectively than ever," Ward said.

Red Polls Show at NAILE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Red Poll cattle from across America will return to Louisville during November as participants in the Kentucky National Red Poll Show and Sale activities. The events are slated to take place during the North American International Livestock Exposition on November 19.

Red Poll participation with a Kentucky National Show and Sale marks the second year the breed has been part of the internationally known NAILE.

The Kentucky National Red Poll show will take place on November 19 at 2 p.m., at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center. The Red Poll sale will be held on the same day, at 7 in the evening.

Noted purebred breeder Joe Bill Meng of Bowling Green, Kentucky, will be the judge for the NAILE Red Poll show.

The Kentucky National Red Poll Show and Sale is jointly sponsored by the Kentucky Council on Agriculture and the Kentucky Red Poll Association. Mike Johnson, president, Kentucky Red Poll Association, has confirmed premiums and awards for the show with total $8,000.

Workshop features dairy feeding program

TOWANDA — Dairy specialists have often said that feeding dairy cattle was an art and science.

Beginning early next month, dairy farmers can learn more about the science by attending a series of workshops in Bradford county.

The five-day program will cover: feeding forages; feeding concentrates; feeding programs and problems; dollars and sense in feeding; developing a feeding program for your herd.

Instructors Jacob Guffey, Bradford County dairy agent and Lehan Power, Regional Farm Management agent will offer the feeding and management school in two locations.

The Troy High School Ag Room will be the site of one program beginning on October 6 and continuing on Oct. 13, 20, 27 and November 5.

Wyalusing High School Ag Room will serve as the second location beginning Oct. 8 and continuing Oct. 15, 22, 29 and Nov. 2. Each session runs from 8 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Participants are required to have a Penn State forage tests on all forages fed which costs $18 per forage. Sampling kits will be available Oct. 6 and 8.

The cost of the program is $3 plus forage testing kits. Pre-registrations, due now at the Bradford County Extension Office, will be limited. Participants are asked to indicate choice of location.

HARRISBURG — Waterfowl hunters are urged to pick up copies of the 1981 regulations governing the taking of migratory game birds which are now available at Pennsylvania post offices.

Regulations list seasons and bag limits, plus a summary of federal and state rules governing harvest of migratory game birds.

In addition to post offices, the regulations are available from Game Commission field division offices, license issuing agents, and county treasurers.

American

Dairy Assoc.

gen'l

manager

dies

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Robert S. Turner, of Horseheads, N.Y., general manager of American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc., Syracuse, died Thursday, September 17, in Syracuse.

Turner worked at the local, state and national levels in milk promotion for the past 20 years.

He served from 1967-1979 as member of the Board of Directors of the national American Dairy Association, serving as president of the national ADA between 1970 and 1977.

Turner was a charter member of the Board of Directors of United Dairy Industry Association founded in 1971 to unite promotion, research and nutrition education for the dairy industry.

He became general manager of the ADA&DC in 1977, directing operations of the farmer funded and directed milk promotion association serving the 22,000 dairy farmers in New York, and parts of New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

He was past president of the New York State Association of Agricultural Societies, a member of the New York State Fair Advisory Board, and also member of the Grange, the Farm Bureau, the Kiwanis and the Masons. Turner was secretary of the Chemung County Fair and served on the Horseheads School Board.

Turner, 58, of Horseheads, N.Y., is survived by his wife, Lucille, Horseheads, and two daughters, Beth, a student at RIT, Rochester and Barbara Noll and son-in-law Stephen Noll of Damascus, Maryland.

Archery deer season opens Oct. 3

HARRISBURG — The first of Pennsylvania's 1981-82 big game hunting seasons gets underway next Saturday, when archers begin hunting whitetail deer one half hour before sunrise.

Almost one fourth of the nation's archery hunters purchase licenses in Pennsylvania. Last year, a record 267,291 archery licenses were sold, an increase of about 15,000 over the preceding year.

During the 1980-81 seasons, archers reported harvesting 5,879 Pennsylvania deer and the Keystone State again has a large herd of whitetails this year.

There will be 24 hunting days during the regular statewide archery deer season which closes on Friday, Oct. 30. An extended 7-day season will run from Dec. 26 through Jan. 2. Hunting hours are from one half hour before sunrise until sunset. Sunday hunting is prohibited.

Use of bow and arrow is also permitted during the regular antlered and antlerless seasons in November and December.

Archers may take one deer of either sex, regardless of size. If a deer is tagged during the archery season, the hunter is not permitted to take another whitetail during the regular gunning season.

In addition to a regular resident or nonresident hunting license, an archery license is required to hunt deer with bow and arrow during the archery seasons. Archery licenses are available, at $2.20, from county treasurers, most issuing agents, or by mail from the Pennsylvania Game Commission, License Section, P.O. Box 1567, Harrisburg, PA 17120.

Archers are reminded by the Game Commission that mechanical bow releases remain unlawful. Arrows must be of a cutting-edge broadhead design for big game and turkey. Deer must be tagged immediately, and the big game report card mailed to the Game Commission within five days after harvest.

FEEDER SALES

"Cattle + Pigs"

We've got a reputation of selling clean, local home raised cattle at these sales. Farmers come here from all over the Tri-State area to buy or sell. Plan to market your cattle in these widely advertised sales.

Demand for pigs is also good at these sales since many farmers who feed cattle also feed pigs.

Let us know one week in advance, and we'll advertise larger consignments on our market report card, free of charge.

Schedule of Special Sales

Wednesdays
Sept. 30	Oct. 28

PURINA'S NEW COMPLETE FEED LINE-UP!

MAKE THE MOST MILK FOR YOUR MONEY

We're proud to announce Purina® Milk Generator™, the latest advancement in our company's long history of new and improved dairy rations.

Purina Milk Generator is the line of complete milking rations formulated to help you make the most milk for the money.

The Purina Milk Generator line was based on a new development which measures the relative total nutritional capabilities between rations. Each ration is rated by Purina's new Total Nutritional Index, or TNI.

TNI is a result of more than 50 years of continuous research by Purina Dairy nutritionists.

The Milk Generator line provides a specific balance of energy, proteins, minerals, and vitamins. This balance increases the capability for higher long-term milk persistency while maintaining high current milk production.

See your Purina Dealer today and ask him.

ALONG WITH SOMETHING NEW, COMES SOMETHING FREE:

The "new" is our Purina Milk Generator line of milking rations and the "free" is our Big Ton get-acquainted offer. For each ton of Milk Generator you buy for delivery from September twenty-eighth through October ninth, we'll add a hundred pounds of free feed to your order. New Purina Milk Generator and the Big Ton special. Two good ways to help you make the most milk for the money.
